THE SECOND MAIDINS TRAGLDY

This is one of the three unpublished plays which escaped the fatal hands of Warburton's cook and is printed from a manuscript book of that gentleman in the lan down Col lection. No title page is prefixed to the manuscript nor is the name of The Second Manden's Tragedy in the same handwriting as the play From the tenor of the beense to get indeed it is probable that this name was given to it by the Master of the Revels; that heense is in the following words This Second Maiden's Travely (for it hath no name inscribed) may with the reformations be publickly acted 31 October 1611 G Bue Why It Is called The Second Maiden's Tragedy does not oppearthere is no trace of any drama hoving the title of The First Maden's Tragedy and it does not hear ony re semblance to the Mand's Tragedy of Beaumont and Fletcher There is reason therefore to beheve that the name hy which it is now known was adopted merely for the pur pose of distinguishing it from other plays licensed to be acted as the words for it liath no name inscribed can hardly be supposed to refer to the want of the author's name which is as difficult to be ascertained as that of his play At the back of the manuscript it is said to be by a person whose name on a close inspection appears to have been William (afterwards altered to Thomas) Goughe This name has been nearly obliterated and that of Corrge Chap man" substituted, which in its turn has been scored through, for the purpose of making room for "Will Shakspear" That it does not belong to Thomas Goff," the anthor of the Raging Turk, is abundantly obvious-he was at the time it was beensed not more than muctcen years of age, and besides was totally incapable of producing anything of the kind nor has Chapman, in our opinion, a better title to it. Many of the scenes are distinguished by a tenderness and pathos which are not to be found in the productions of either of those Authors, but although it possesses merits of no ordinary kind, it cannot be pretended that it approaches the character of the Drimas of Shakspeare, whose name indeed is written in a ninch more The subordinate plot is founded upon the modern hand story of the Curious Impertment in Don Quirote, from which it differs very little, except in the catastrophe Various parts of the play have been struck out, some for the purpose of being omitted in the representation, and others which were probably considered dangerons or offensive to royalty, apparently by Sir George Buc, for example, in the second scene of the last act, the exclamation of the Tyrant, "Your King's poisoned!" is altered to "I am poisoned," the propriety of which reformation is manifest from the answer of Memphonms, viz " The King of Heaven be praised for it " In both cases the original text has been restored in the present publication

THE SECOND MAIDEN'S TRAGED!

Frier the new weaping True To the N Mes This factors. MENricorus Soriionius Heavens with others the right hele Gorianes deposed.

Tyrant Titts high my Lords your powers and constant lores
Have fix d our glories like unmoved stars. That know not what it is to fall or err. We re now the kingdom's lore and it that was Hatter d awhile so stands before us now. Readier for doom than dignity.

Goe: So much.
Can the adulterate friendship of mankind. False fortune's sistery bring to pass in kings. And lay usurpers sunping in their glories. Like adders in warm beams.

Tur There was but one In whom my heart took pleasure amongst women, One in the whole creation, and in her You dar'd to be my rival! Was't not bold? Now we are king she'll leave the lower path And find the way to us-Helvetius! It is thy daughter, happier than a king, And far above him, for she kneels to thee Whom we have kneel'd to, richer in one smile That came from her, than she in all thy blessings, If thou be'st proud thou art to be forgiven, 'Tis no deadly sin in thee, while she lives, High lust is not more natural to youth Than that to thee, be not afraid to die in't, 'Tis but the sign of joy, there is no gladness, But has a pride it lives by,—that's the oil That feeds it into flames, -Let her be sent for, And honorably attended, as beseems Her that we make our queen, my Lord Memphonius, And Sophonirus, take into your care The royal business of my heart; conduct her With a respect equal with that to us, If more, it shall be pardon'd, so still err. You honour us, but ourself honours her.

Memph Strange fortune, does he make his queen of her?

[east Memph]

Soph I have a wife, would she were so prefer'd! I could be but her subject, so I'm now, I allow her her own friend to stop her mouth, And keep her quiet, quit him his table free,

And the huge feeding of his great stone horse On which he rides in nomp about the city Only to speak to gallants la bay windows: Marry his lodging he pays dearly for He gets me all my children there I save by ta Beside I draw my life out by the bargala Some twelve years longer than the times appointed; When my young producal gallant kloks up s hi cls At one-and thirty and has dead and rotten Some five and forty years before I in coffin d Tis the right way to keep a woman honest One friend is baracado to a humirid And keeps 'em out nay more a husband source To have his children all of one man a Letting And he that performs best can have no better I m c en as happy then that save a labour feelt Sophonirus Tur Thy honours with thy daughters love shall rise

Hele O may they be eternal books of pleasure, To show you all delight! Got: The loss of her sits closer to my heart Than that of kingdom or the whorsh pomp Of this world a titles that with flattery swells us And makes us die like beasts fat for elestruction O she s a woman and her eye will stand Upon advancement never weary yonder, But when she turns her head by chance, and see a The fortunes that are my companions

I shall read thy deservings in her eyes

She'll snatch her eyes off and repent the looking

Fur Tis well advls d t we doom thee, Goylanus

To banishment for ever from our kingdom

Govi What could be worse to one whose heart is lock'd Up in another's bosom? Banishment!

And why not death? is that too easy for me?

Tyr But that the world would call our way to dignity A path of blood, it should be the first act in all our reign Govi. She's lost for ever, farewell, virtuous men, Too honest for your greatness! now you're mightier Than when we knew the kingdom, your stile's heavier

3 Nobl How's that, sir?

Than ponderous nobility, farewell!

Govi

O sir 1 is it you?

I knew you one-and-twenty and a lord,
When your destruction suck'd, is't come from nurse yet?
You scorn to be a scholar, you were born better,
You have good lands, that's the best grounds of leanning,
If you can construe but your doctor's bill,
Parse your wife's waiting women, and decline your tenants
'Till they're all beggars, with new fines and rackings,
You're scholar good enough, for a lady's son
That's born to living, if you list to read,
Ride but to th' city and bestow your looks
On the court library, the mercer's books,
They'll quickly furnish you, do but entertain
A tailor for your tutor, to expound
All the hard stuff to you, by what name and title
Soever they be call'd

3 Nobl I thank you, sir

Govi 'Tis happy you have learnt so much manners Since you have so little wit, Fare you well, sir!

Tyr Let him be staid awhile!

4 Nobl Stay!

Gov. He's not so honest sure to change his mind
Revoke his doom hell has more hope on him
Tyr We have not ended yet the worst part's coming
Thy banishment were gentle were that all
But to afflict thy soul before thou goest
Thou shalt behold the hear'n that thou must lose
In her that must he mine
Then to be hamsh d'then to be depriv d
Shews the full torment we provide for thee
Gov. He's n'right tyrant now he will not bate me
Thaffliction of my soul he'll have all parts

Suffer together now I see my loss
I never shall recover't my mind a beggar'd
Tyr Whence rose that cloud' can such a thing be seen
In honour's glorious day the sky so clear'
Why mourn the kingdom a mistress' does she come
To meet advancement in a funeral garment'
Back! [to the Attendants] she forgot herself twas too

Enter the LADY clad in black with Attendunts much joy

That bred this error and we heartily pardon t
Go bring her hither like an illustrious bride
With her best beams about her let her jewels
Be worth ten cities that beseems our mistress
And not a widow's case a suit to weep in Lady I am not to be alter'd

Tyr How!

Lady I have a mind

That must be shifted ere I east off these,

Or I shall wear strange colours,—'tis not titles,

Nor all the bastard honours of this frame

That I am taken with, I come not hither

To please the eye of glory, but of goodness,

And that concern'd not you, sir, you're for greatness,

I dare not deal with you, I have found my match,

And I will never lose hun

Gove If there be man

Above a king in fortunes, read my story,
And you shall find him there, farewell, poor kingdom!
Take it to help thee, thou hast need on't now,
I see thee in distress, more miserable
Than some thou lay'st taxations on, poor subjects!
Thou'rt all beset with storms, more overcast
Than ever any man that brightness flatter'd
'Tis only wretchedness to be there with thee,
And happiness to be here

Tyn Sure some dream crown'd me,

If it were possible to be less than nothing,

I wake the man you seek for,—there's the kingdom

Within you valley fixt, while I stand here

Kissing false hopes upon a frozen mountain

Without the confines I am he that's banish'd

The king walks yonder chose by her affections,

Which is the surer side, for when she goes

Her eye removes the court, what is he here

Can spare a look? they're all employed on her

Helvetius!—Thou art not worth the waking neither
I lose but time in thee go sleep again
Like nold man thou can st do nothing
Thou tak it no pains at all to earn thine honours
Which way shall we be able to pay thee
To thy content when we receive not ours?
The master of the work must needs decay

The master of the work must needs decay
When he wants means and sees his servants play
Helv [To his Diughter] Have I hestow d so many bles sings on thee

Is that the use I ve for them? be not to me A hurden ten times heavier than my years? Thou dst wont to be hind to me and observe What I thought pleasing go entreat the hing!

And do they all return to me in curses?

Lady I will do more for you sir you re my father
I'll liss him too [she hisses Govianus
Hele How am I dealt withol?

Lady Why that the usurper sir this is the king I happen d righter than you thought I had And were all kingdoms of the earth his own As sure as this is not and this dear gentleman As noor as virtue and almost as firendless

I would not change this misery for that aceptre, Wherein I d part with him sir he cheerful Tis not the recling fortune of great state Or low condition that I cast mine eye at

It is the man I seek the rest I lose
As things unworthy to be kept or noted
Fortunes are but the outsides of true worth

It is the mind that sets his master forth

Tyr Have there so many bodies been hewn down
Like trees, in progress to ent out a way
That was more known for us and our affections,
And is our gain so cross'd? There stands the first
Of all her kind that e'er refused greatness!
A woman to set light by sovereignty!
What age can bring her forth, and hide that book!
'Tis their desire most commonly to rule,
More than their part comes to, sometimes their husbands
Helv 'Tis in your pow'r, my lord, to force her to you,
And pluck her from his arms

Tur. Thou tall 'et unlandla

Tyr Thou talk'st unkindly,

That had been done before thy thought begot it, If my affection could be so hard hearted,

To stand upon such payment, it must come

Gently and kindly, like a debt of law,

Or 'tis not worth receiving

[aside to Helvetius

Govi Now, usurper!

I wish no happier freedom than the banishment

That thou last laid upon me

Tyr O' he kills me

At mine own weapon, 'tis I that live in exile Should she forsake the land, I'll fain some cause Far from the grief itself, to call it back—

[aside] [to Govianus

That doom of banishment was but lent to thee
To make a trial of thy factious spirit,
Which flames in thy desire, thou would'st be gone
There is some combination betwiet thee

And foreign plots thou hast some powers to ruise Which to prevent thy banishment we resoke Confine thee to thy house nearest the court And place a guard about thee Lord Memphonius See it effected

Mem With best care my Lord

Gov: Confine me? here s my liberty in mine nrms I wish no better to bring me content Lovers best freedom is imprisonment

[exeunt Lady and Govianus
Tyr Methinks the day een darkens in her ribsence
I stand as in a shade when agreat cloud
Muffles the sun who e beauties shine far off
On tow'rs and mountains but I keep the vallies
The place that is last serv'd

Helt. Your Grace is mild to all but your own bosom They should have both been sent to several prisons And not committed to each other surns There s a hot durance hell ne er wish more freedom

There s a hot durance he'll neer wish more freedom

Tyr Tis true let em be both fore d'back I [to the Officers

Stay' we command you

Thou talk st not like a statesman had my wrath

Took hold of such extremity at first

They d liv d suspectful still warn d by their fears

When now that liberty makes them more secure

Ill take them at my pleasure it gives thee

Freer access to play the father for us

And ply her to our will

Nay, more to vex his soul, give command straight
They be divided into several rooms,
Where he may only have a sight of hei
To his mind's torment, but his arms and hips
Lock'd up, like felons, from her
Helv Now you win me,
I like that cruelty passing well, my Lord
Ty: Give order with all speed
Helv Though I be old,
I need no spur, my Lord,—Honour pricks me
I do beseech your majesty, look cheerful,
You shall not want content, if it be lock'd
In any blood of mine, the key's your own,
You shall command the wards

Tyr Say's thou so, sir?

I were ungrateful then, should I see thee
Want power, that provides content for me

SCENE II

Enter L Anselmus, the deposed King's Brother, with his Friend, Votarius

Vol Pray, sir, confine your thoughts and excuse me, Methinks the depos'd king, your brother's sorrow, Should find you business enough

Ans How, Votarius!
Sorrow for him? weak ignorance talks not like thee,
Why he was never happier

Vot Pray prove that, sir
Ans He's lost the kingdom, but his mind's restor'd,

Which is the larger empire? pr'y thee tell me
Dominions have their limits the whole earth
Is but a prisoner nor the eacher jailor
That with a silver hoop locks in her hody
They're fellow prisoners though the sea looks bigger
Because it is in office—and pride swells him
But the unbounded kingdom of the mind
Is as unlimitable as hear'n that glorious court of spirits for if thou lor'st me turn thine eye to me
And look not after him that needs thee not My brother's well intended peace and pleasure
Are never from his sight—he has his mistress
She brought those servants and bestow'd them on him
But who brings mine?

For Had you not both long since By a kind worthy lady your chaste wife? Ans That s it that I take pains with thee to be sure of What true report can I send to my soul Of that I know not -we must only think Our ladies are good people and so live with ein A fine security for them our own thoughts Make the best fools of us next to them our wires But say she s all chaste yet is that her goodness? What labour is t for woman to keep constant That s never tried or tempted? Where s her fight? The war's within her breast her honest anger Against the impudence of flesh and hell So let me know the lady of my rest Or I shall never sleep well give not me The thing that is thought good but what s approv d so

So wise men choose O what a lazy virtue
Is chastity in a woman, if no sin
Should lay temptation to't'—pr'ythee set to her,
And bring my peace along with thee

Vot You put to me

A business that will do my words more shame Then ever they got honour among women Lascivious courtings among sinful mistresses Come ever seasonable, please best-But let the boldest ruffian touch the ear Of modest ladies with adulterous sounds. Their very looks confound him, and force grace Into that cheek where impudence sets her seal, That work is never undertook with courage, That makes his master blush —However, sir! What profit can return to you by knowing That which you do already, with more toil? Must a man needs, in having a rich diamond. Put it between a hammer and an anvil, And not believing the true worth and value. Break it in pieces to find out the goodness, And in the finding lose it? good sir! think on't, Nor does it taste of wit to try their strengths That are created sickly, nor of manhood We ought not to put blocks in women's ways, For some too often fall upon plain ground Let me dissuade you, sir 1

Ans Have I a friend?

And has my love so little interest in him,

That I must trust some stranger with my heart,

fas de

And go to seek him out?

for `ay hark you sur!

I am a yealous of your weaknes es

That rat ser than you should be prostituted

Before a stranger a trumph. I would venture whole hour's shaming for you

Ans Be worth thy word then

Inter Wirr

#"fe What Voturus!

For Cood morrow virtuous ma lam
#76c Was my Lord

Seen lately here!

for He's newly walk I forth lady

Wife Hon was he attended

for Faith I think with none malam
Wife That sorrow for the king his brother a fortune

Prevails too much with him and leads him strangely From company and delight for How she s legall d in him!

There s no such natural touch search all his bosom [ande That grief's too bold with him Indeed sweet ma lain And draws him from the pleasure of his time But 'tis a business of affection
That must be done—We one a pity, madain,
To all men's misery, but especially,
To those afflictions that claim kindled of its,
We're fore'd to feel 'em, all compassion else
Is but a work of charity, this of nature,
And ties our pity in a bond of blood

Wife Yet there is a date set to all sorrows, Nothing is everlasting in this world Your counsel will prevail, persuade him, good sir, To fall into life's happiness again, And leave the desolate path, I want his company He walks at midnight in thick shady woods, Where searce the moon is starlight, I have watch'd him In silent nights, when all the earth was diest Up like a virgin, in white innocent beams,-Stood in my window, cold and thinly clad, T' observe him through the bounty of the moon, That liberally bestow'd her graces on me, And when the morning dew began to fall, Then was my time to weep, h'as lost his kindness, Forgot the way of wedlock, and become A stranger to the joys and rites of love He's not so good as a lord ought to be Pray tell him so from me—sir Terut Wife

Vot That will I, madam

Now must I dress a strange dish for his honour

Ans Call you this courting? Tife! not one word near it

There was no syllable but was twelve score off

My faith, hot temptation! woman's chastity,

In such a conflict had great need of one To keep the bridge twis dangernus for the time Why what fantastic faiths are in these days Made without substance whom should a man trust In matters about love?

Vot Mass | here he comes too

Enter Anselmu

Ans How now Votarius' what a the news for us?

For You set me to a task air that will find
Ten ages work enough and then unfinish d
Bring sin before her! why it stands more quaking
Than if a judge should frown on t three such fits
Would shake it into goodness and quite beggar
The under kin, dom —Not the art of man
Woman or Devil—

Ans O peace man' prythee peace Fot Can make her fit for lust
Ans Yet again sur?
Where lives that mistress of thine Votarius
That taught thee to dissemble I d fain learn

She makes good scholars

Fot How my lord!

Ans Thou art the son of falsebood prythee leave me How truly constant charitable and helpful Is woman unto woman in affairs That touch affection and the peace of spirit! But man to man how crooked and unkind! I thank my jealousy I heard thee all For I heard nothing now thou it sure I did Vot Now, by this light then, wipe but off this score, Since you're so bent, and if I ever run In debt again to falsehood and dissemblance, For want of better means, tear the remembrance of me From your best thoughts

Ans For thy rows' sake, I pardon thee
Thy oath is now sufficient watch itself
Over thy actions, I discharge my jealousy
I've no more use for't now, to give thee way
I'll have an absence made purposely for thee,
And presently take horse—I'll leave behind me
An opportunity, that shall fear no starting,
Let but thy pains deserve it

Vot I am bound to't

Ans For a small time farewell, then! hark thee!

[Anselmus rehispers to him, and exit

Vot O good sir 1

It will do wond'rous well,—What a wild seed
Suspicion sows in him, and takes small ground for't!
How happy were this lord if he would leave
To tempt his fate, and be resolved he were so!
He would be but too rich—
Man has some enemy still that keeps him back
In all his fortunes, and his mind is his,
And that's a mighty adversary. I had rather Have twenty kings my enemies than that part,
For let me be at war with earth and hell,
So that be friends with me—I've sworn to make A trial of her faith, I must put on A brazen face and do't,

Enter WIFE

Mine own will shame me

Wye This is most strange of all! how one distraction beconds another!

For What's the news sweet madam?

What should I think on t sir > did ever lord Depart so rudely from his lady s presence?

Pot Did he forget your lip?

Wife He forgot all

That nohleness remembers

Pot I m asham d of him

Let me help madam to repair his manners

And mend that unkind fault

Wife Sir! pray forbear!

You forget worse than he

Pot So virtue save me

I have enough already

Wife Tis himself

[aside

Must make amends good sir for his own faults

Vot I would he doot then and neer trouble me in t

[aside

But madam you perceive he takes the cour e To be far off from that he stode from home But his unkindness stays and keeps with you Let who will please his wife he rides his horse That stall the care he takes I pity you madam You we an unpleasing lord would twere not so I should rejonce with you You're young, the very spring's upon you now, The roses on your cheeks are but new blown Take you together, you're a pleasant garden, Where all the sweetness of man's comfort breathes But what is it to be a work of beauty. And want the part that should delight in you You still retain your goodness in yourselt, But then you lose your glory, which is all The grace of every benefit is the use, And 1s't not pity you should want your grace? Look you like one whose lord should walk in groves About the peace of midnight? Alas! Mad im, 'Tis to me wond'rous how you should spare the day From amorous clips, much less the general season When all the world's a gamester That face deserves a friend of heart and spirit, Discourse and motion, indeed such a one That should observe you, madam, without ceasing, And not a weary lord

Wife Sure I was married, sir, In a dear year of love, when searcity And famine of affection vev'd poor ladies, Which makes my heart so needy, it ne'er knew Plenty of comfort yet

Vot Why, that's your folly,

To keep your mind so miserably, madam

Change into better times, I'll lead you to 'em

What bounty shall your friend expect for this '

O you that can be hard to your own heart,

How would you use your friends ' if I thought kindly,

I d be the mao myself should serve your pleasure
Wife How sir!

Vot Nay and ne er miss you too 1 d not come sneaking Like a retainer ouce a week or so To show myself hefore you for my livery

I d follow business like a household servant

Carry my work before me and dispatch Before my lord be up and make no words on t

The sign of a good servant

Wife Tis not friendly done in

To take a lady at advantage thus Set all her wroogs hefore her and then tempt her

Fot I grow fond myself: twas well she wak d me Before the dead sleep of adultery took me

"Twas stealing on me up you honest thoughts, And keep watch for your master! I must bence I do not like my health tas a strange relish Pray hea'n I pluck d mine eyes back time enough

I'll never see her more I prais d the garden But httle thought a bed of snakes lay hid in t

[aside as he is retiring

Stay' for I fear thou rt too far gone already

For I'll see her but once more do thy worst love'

Thou art too young fond boy to master me [uside

VOTARIUS returns

I come to tell you madam sod that plainly
I'll see your face no more take t how you please
Wife 1 ou will not offer violence to me air

In my lord's absence, what does that touch you If I want comfort?

Pot Will you take your answer?

Wife It is not honest in you to tempt woman, When her distresses take away her strength How is she able to withstand her enemy?

Vot I would fain leave your sight, an' I could possibly Wife What is't to you, good sir, if I be pleased

To weep myself away, and run thus violently Into the arms of death, and kiss destruction

Does this concern you now?

Vot Aye marry, does it What serve these arms for, but

What serve these arms for, but to plack you back?

These has but to prevent all other tasters

And keep that cup of nectar for themselves?

I'm beguil'd again, forgive me, heaven!

My lips have been usught with her,

I will be master once and whip the boy Home to his mother's lap, fare, fare thee well!

[crit Volurius

Wife Votarius! Sir! my friend! thank heaven, he's gone

And he shall never come so near again,
I'll have my frailty watch'd ever, henceforward
I'll no more trust it single, it betrays me
Into the hands of folly Where's my woman?

Enter LEONELLA

My trusty Leonella!

Leo Call you, madam?

Wife Call I? I want attendance where are you? Leo Never far from you madam

Or there is ome that will and thank you too Nav perhaps bribe you to be absent from me

I eo Hou madam?

Wife Is that strange to a lady s woman
There are such things i the world many such buyers
And sellers of a woman s name and honour
Though you be young in bribes and never came
To the flesh market yet—beshren your heart
For keeping so long from mel

Leo What ail you madain?

Wife Somewhat commands me and takes all the power Of myself from me

Leo What should that be lady'

If the When did you see Votarius?

Leo Is that next?

Nay then I have your ladyship in the wind I saw him lately madam

[ande

Hefe Whom didst see

Leo Votarius

1Vife What have I to do with him

More than another man? Say he be fair

And has parts proper both of mind and body You praise him but in vain in telling me so

Leo Yes madam are you pratthing in your sleep?
Tis well my lord and you he in two beds
[ande
It for I was no are so all I thank you I have the Wife I was neer so ill I thank you Leonella My negligent woman here you show d your service Leo Have I power or means to stop a shace

At a high water? what would sh'ave me do m't?

Wife I charge thee, while thou his'st with me henceforward,

Use not an hour's absence from my sight [cart Lann Leo By my faith, madam, you shall pardon me, I have a love of mine own to look to, And he must have his breakfast

Enter Billanus, muffled in his cloal

Bel Leonella?

Leo Come forth, and show vourself a gentleman, Although most commonly they hade their heads, As you do there methinks! And why a taffety muffler? Show your face, man! I'm not asham'd on you

Bel I fear the servants

Leo And they fear their inistress, and ne'er think on you,
Their thoughts are upon dinner, and great dishes
If one thing hap, impossible to fail too—
(I can see so far in't) you shall walk boldly, sir,
And openly in view through every room
About the house, and let the proudest meet thee,
I charge you give no way to 'em
Bel How thou talk'st'
Leo I can avoid the fool, and give you reason for't

Leo I can avoid the fool, and give you reason for't

Bel 'Tis more than I should do if I asked more on thee
I pr'ythee tell me how?

Leo With ease, 'ifaith, sir,
My lady's heart is wond'rous busy, sir!

And she and I must bear with one mother Or we shall make but a mad house betweet us Rel I m hold to throw my cloak off at this news Which I ne er durst before and his thee freelier

About the entertainment of a friend too

Lee Faith an indifferent fellow With good long legs -a near friend of my lord s Bel A near friend of my lads a you would say

His name I pr vthee?

What is he sirrah?

Lea One Votarius sir

Bel What say at thou?

Leo He walks under the same title Bel The only enemy that my life can shew me

Leo Your enemy? Let my spleen then alone with him Stay you your anger! I'll confound him for you

Bel As how I prythee?

Leo I'll prevent his venery He shall ne er lie with my lady

Bel Troth I thank you --

Life! that's the way to save him art thou mad?

Whereas the other way he confounds himself And lies more naked to revenge and mischief

Leo Then let him lie with her and the devil go with him He shall have all my furtherance

Bel Why now you pray heartily and speak to purpose [exeunt

ACT II SCENE I

Enter the Lady of Govianus with a Seriant

Lady Who is't would speak with us?

Serv My lord, your father

Lady Pray make haste, he waits too long
Intreat him hither In despight of all [east Servant The tyrant's eruelties, wo have got that friendship E'en of the guard that he has plac'd about us, My lord and I have free necess together,

As much as I would ask of liberty,

They'll trust us largely now, and keep sometimes
Three hours from us, a rare courtesy
In jailors' children, some mild news I hope
Comes with my father

Enter HELVETIUS

No, his looks are sad,
There is some further tyrainy, let it fall!
Our constant sufferings shall amaze it all
Helv Rise!

[she kneels

I will not bless thee,—thy obedience
Is after custom, as most rich men pray,
Whose saint is only fashion and vain glory,
So 'tis with thee in thy dissembled duty,
There's no religion in't, no reverent love,
Only for fashion, and the praise of men
Lady Why should you think so, sir?

Heln Think? I know't and see t I'll sooner give my blessing to a drunkard Whom the ridiculous power of wine makes humble As foolish use makes thee -base spirited girl That can st not think above disgrace and beggary When glory is set for thee and thy seed Advancement for thy father beside joy Able to make a latter spring in me In this my fourscore summer and renew me With a reversion yet of heat and youth But the desection of thy mind and spirit Makes me thy father guilty of a fault That draws thy birth in question and e en wrongs Thy mother in her ashes being at peace With heav a and man had not her life and virtues Been seals unto her faith I should think thee now The work of some hir'd servant some house tailor

And no one part of my endeavour in thee
Had I neglected greatness or not rather Pursu d almost to my eternal hazard
Thou dist neer been a lord's daughter'
Lady Had I been
A shephend's I d heen happier and more peaceful
Helt. Thy very seed will curse thee in thy age
When they shall hear the story of thy weakness—
How in thy youth thy fortunes tender'd thee
A langdom for thy servant which thou left at Basely to serve thyself what dost thou in this

But merely cozen thy posterity Of royalty and succession and thyself Of dignity present?

Lady Sir, your king did well
'Mongst all his nobles to pick out yourself
And send you with these words—his politic grace
Knew what he did, for well he might imagine
None else should have been heard, they'd had their answer
Before the question had been half way through
But, dearest sir! I owe to you a reverence,
A debt which both begins and ends with life,
Never till then discharg'd, 'tis so long lasting,
Yet, could you be more precious than a father,
Which next a husband is the richest treasure
Mortality can show us, you should pardon me
And yet confess too that you found me kind,
To hear your words, though I withstood your mind

Helv Say you so, daughter? troth I thank you kindly, I am in hope to rise well by your incars, Or you to raise yourself, we're both beholding to you Well, since I cannot win you, I commend you,—
I praise your constancy and pardon you
Take Govianus to you, make the most of him,
Pick out your husband there, so you'll but grant me
One light request that follows

Lady Heaven forbid else, sir!

Helv Give me the choosing of your friend, that's all

Lady How, sir? my friend?—a light request indeed!

Somewhat too light, sir, either for my wearing,

Or your own gravity, an' you look on't well!

Helv Pish! talk like a woman, girl, not like a fool! Thou knowest the end of greatness, and hust wit

Above the flight of twenty feather d mistresses That glister in the sun of princes favours Thou hast discourse in thee fit for a king s fellowship A princely carriage and astonishing presence What should a husband do with all this goodness? Alas I one end on this too much for him Nor is it fit a subject should be master Of such a level tis in the hing's power To take it for the forfeit -hut I come To bear thee gently to his bed of honours All force forgotten The king commends him to thee With more than the humility of a servant That since thou wilt not yield to be his queen Be yet his mistress he shall be content With that or nothing he shall ask no more And with what easiness that is perform d Most of you women know having a hasband That kindness costs thee nothing you re that in All over and above to your first bargain And that s a hrave advantage for a woman If she be wise as I suspect not thee And having youth and beauty and a husband Thou st all the wish of woman Take thy time then-Make thy best market

Lady Can you assure me sir Whether my father spake this? or some spirit Of evil wishing that has for a time Hir'd his voice of him to heguile me that way Presuming, on his power and my obednence I d gladly know that I might frame an answer According to the speaker

Helv How now, baggage!

Am I in question with thee? does thy seoin east

So thick an ignorance before thine eyes,

That I'm forgotten too? Who is't speaks to thee,

But I thy father?

Enter Govianus, discharging a pistol

Govi The more monstrous he! [Helvetius falls Art down but with the bare voice of my fury? Up, ancient sinner! thou'rt but mock'd with death, I miss'd thee purposely, thank this dear creature O had'st thou been anything beside her father, I'd made a fearful separation on thee, I would have sent thy soul to a darker prison Than any made of clay, and thy dead body As a token to the lustful king, thy master Art thou struck down so soon with the short sound Of this small earthly instrument, and do'st thou So little fear the eternal noise of hell? What's she? does she not bear thy daughter's name? How stirs thy blood, sir? is there a dead feeling Of all things fatherly and honest in thee? Say thou cou'dst be content for greatness' sake To end the last act of thy life in pandarism, Must it needs follow that unmanly sin Can work upon the weakness of no woman But her, whose name and honour natural love Bids thee preserve more charily than eye-sight,

THE SECOND MAIDEN'S TRAGEDY

Health or thy senses? can promotion s thirst Make such a father? turn a grave old lord To a white headed squire? make him so base To buy his honours with his daughter's soul And the perpetual shaming of his blood? Hast thou the lessure thou forgetful man To think upon advancement at these years? What would st thou do with greatness? dost thou hope To fray death with t? or hast thou that conceit That honour will restore thy youth again? Thou art but mock d old fellow! tis not so Thy hopes abuse thee follow thine own business And list not to the syren of the world Alas! thou had st more need kneel at an altar Than to a chair of state And search thy conscience for thy sias of youth That's work enough for age it needs no greater Thougt call d within thy very eyes look inward To teach thy thoughts the way and thy affections But miserable notes that conscience sings That cannot truly pray for flattering kings

Blessing reward thee! such a wound as mine
Did need a pitiless surgeon—Smart on soul!
Thou it feel the less hereafter sir I thank you
I ever saw myself in a false glass
Until this friendly hour With what fair faces
My sins would look on me! but now truth shows em
How lothesome and how monstrous are their forms!

Helt. This was well search dundeed and without favour

Be you my king and master, still! henceforward My knee shall know no other earthly load Well may I spend this life to do you service, That sets my soul in her eternal path!

Govi Risc, risc, Helictius!

Helv I'll see both your hands
Set to my pardon first

Gor: Mine shall bring her's

Lady Now, sir, I honour you for your goodness chiefly, You're my most worthy father, you speak like him, The first voice was not his, my joy and reverence Strive which should be most seen, let our hands, sir, Raise you from earth thus high, and may it prove

Tthey raise him up

The first ascent of your immortal rising, Never to fall again !

Helv A spring of blessings

Keep ever with thee, and the fruit thy lord's '

Gove Í have lost an enemy, and have found a father

Fexeunt

Enter Votarius, sadly

Vot All's gone, there's nothing but the prodigal left, I have play'd away my soul at one short game, Where e'en the winner loses

Pursuing sin, how often did I shun thee!

How swift art thou a-foot, beyond man's goodness, Which has a lizy pace! so was I catch'd—

A curse upon the cause, man in these days
Is not content to have his lady honest,

And so rest pleas d with her without more toil
But he must have her tryd forworth and tempted
And when she proves a quean then he hes quet
Lake one t rat has a watch of currous making
Thinking to be more cuming than the workman
Never gives over tampering with the wheels
Till either spring be weaken d balance bow d
Or some wrong pin put in and so spoils all
How I could curse myself' most business else
Delight in the dispatch that s the best grace to t
Only this work of blind repented lust
Hangs shame and sadness on his master's cheek
Let wise men take no warning

Nor can I now

Her very sight strikes my repentance backward
It cannot stand again t her—Chamber thoughts
And words that have sport in em they re for ladies!

I the My best and dearest ervant!

I of Worthest mistre s

Madam-

Wife Who sthat? my woman-

Leo Not if you love your honour madam
I came to give you warning my lord s come—
Let How!

Wife My lord?

Leo Alas! poor vessels, how this tempest tosses 'em, They're driven both asunder in a twinkling Down goes the sails here, and the main mast yonder, Here rides a bark with better fortune, yet, I fear no tossing, come what weather will, I have a trick to hold on water still

Vot His very name shoots like a fever through me,
Now hot, now cold which check shall I turn toward him,
For fear he should read guiltiness in my looks?
I would he would keep from hence like a wise man,
"Tis no place for him now, I would not see him
Of any friend alive! it is not fit
We two should come together, we have abus'd
Each other mightily, he us'd me ill,
T'employ me thus, and I have us'd him worse,
I'm too much even with him,—

Enter Anselmus

Yonder's a sight of him

Wife My lov'd and honour'd lord—Most welcome, sir

Leo Oh there's a kiss—methinks my lord might taste

Dissimulation rank in't, if he had wit

He takes but of the breath of his friend's life,

A second kiss is hers, but that she keeps

For her first friend, we women have no cunning

Wife You parted strangely from me

Ans That's forgotten!

Votarius—I make speed to be in thine arms

Fot You never come too soon sir
Ans How goes business?
Fot Pray think upon some other subject sir
What news at court?

Aus Pish! Answer me

Fot Alas sir would you have me work by wonders. To strike five out of ye'y area strange lord sir. Put me to possible things and find em finish d. At your return to me. I can ay no more

Ans I see by this thou didst not try her throughly

Vot How sir not throughly! by this light he lives not

That could make trial of a woman better

Ans I fear thou wast too slack

Vot Good faith you wrong me sir

She never found it so

Ans Then I ve a jewel
And no thing shall be thought too precious for her
I may advance my forehead and boast purely Methinks I see her worth with elear eyes now
O when a man's opinion is at peace
Tris a fine life to marry! no state is like it
My worthy lady freely I conficss
To thy wrong'd heart my passion bad alate
Put rudeness on me which I now put off
I ill no more seem so unfashionable
For pleasure, and the chamber of a lady

Wfe I m glad you re chang d so well str [exeunt Wife and Anselmus

For Thank himself for't Leo This comes like physic when the party's dead Flows kindness now, when 'tis so ill deserv'd'
This is the fortune still well, for this trick
I'll save my husband and his friend a labour
I'll never marry as long as I am honest,
For, commonly, queans have the kindest husbands

[exit Leonella, manet Votarius

Vot I do not like his company now, 'tis 11 ksome, His eye offends me, methinks it is not kindly, We two should live together in one house, And 'tis impossible to remove me hence I must not give way first, she is my mistress, And that's a degree kinder than a wife, Women are always better to their friends, Than to their husbands, and more true to them. Then let the worst give place, whom she's least need on, He that can best be spar'd, and that's her husband I do not like his overboldness with her. He's too familiar with the face I love I fear the sickness of affection. I feel a grudging on't I shall grow jealous E'en of that pleasure which she has by law I shall go so near with her .-

Enter Bellarius, passing over the Stage

Ha! what's he!

'Tis Bellarius, my rank enemy,
Mine eye snatch'd so much sight of him What's his business?

His face half darken'd, stealing through the house, With a whoremaster's pace—I like it not

This lady will be serv'd like a great woman With more attendants. I perceive than one; She has her shift of friends. My enemy one? Do we both shou each other a compan. In all a sembles public at all meeting. And drink to one another in one nu tree.? My very thought s my poison—its high time. To seek for help—Where is our head physician. A doctor of my making and that lecher's? O woman! when thou once leavest to be good. Thou car'st not who stands next their every in. Is a companion for thee. For thy once crack d honesty Is like the breaking of whole mones. It never comes to good but wastessaway.

Fater ANSTONIA

Ane Votarius !

lot ffa!

Ans We miss d you sir within lot I miss d you more without-would you had come

Ans Why what s the busioess?

I of You should have seen a fellow

A common baw dy bouse ferret ooe Bellarius Steal through this room; his whorish barren face Three quarters muffled he is somewhere hid

About the house sir

Ans Which way took the villain

That marriage felon? one that robs the mind Twenty times worse than any highway striker Speak, which way took he?

Vot Marry, my lord, I think,-

Let me see, which way wast now? up you stairs—

Ans The way to chamb'ring, did not I say still All thy temptations were too faint and lazy,

Thou didst not play 'ein home

Vot To tell you true, sir,

I found her yielding, 'ere I left her last,

And wav'ring in her faith

Ans Did not I think so?

Vot That makes me suspect him

Ans Why, partial man,

Couldst thou hide this from me, so dearly sought for,

And rather waste thy pity upon her?

Thou'rt not so kind as my heart prais'd thee to me Hark!

Vot 'Tis his footing, certain

Ans Are you chamber'd?

I'll fetch you from aloft

[crit Anselmus

Vot He takes my work,

And toils to bring me ease—this use I'll make of him, His eare shall watch to keep all strange thieves out,

Whilst I familially go in and rob him,

Like one that knows the house

But how has rashness and my jealousy us'd me

Out of my vengeance to mine enemy,

Confest her yielding I have lock'd myself

From mine own liberty with that key, revenge Does no man good, but to his greater harm,

Suspect and malice, like a mingled cup,

Made me soon drunk, I knew not what I spoke,

Texit Votarius

And that may get me pardon

Enter Anselnius a Da er in Lishand with Leonella

Leo Why my lord!

Ans Confess thou mystical pandaress—run Votarius
To the back gate the guilty slave leap d out
And stap d me so thus striumpet lock d him up

In her own chamber

Leo Hold my lord -I might -

He is my husband sir!

Ans O soul of cunning

Came that arch subtilty from thy lady's counsel

Or thine own sudden craft? confess to me

How oft thou hast been a band to their close actions

Or all thy light goes out?

Leo My lord! believe me-In truth I love a man too well myself

To bring him to my mistress

Ans Leave thy sporting

Or my next offer makes thy heart weep blood

Leo O spare that strength my lord and l ll reveal A secret that cooccurs you for this does not

Ans Back! back my fury then!

It shall oot touch thy breast speak freely what is t?

Leo Votarius and my lady are false gamesters

They u e foul play my lord

Ans Thou lyest

Leo Reward me then for all together if it prove not so I il never bestow time to ask your pity

Ans Votarius and thy lady? twill ask days

'Ere it be settled in belief,—so, rise 'Go, get thee to thy chamber '

[erit

Leo A pox on you!

You hind'red me of better business—thank you He's fray'd a secret from me, would be were whipt! 'Faith, from a woman a thing's quickly slipt [cant

Enter the Tyrant with Somoninus, Mimmonius, and other Nobles

A Flourish

Tyr My joys have all false parts, there's nothing true to me,

That's either kind or pleasant I'm hardly dealt withal, I must not miss her, I wanther sight too long Where's this old fellow?

Soph Here's one, my lord, of threescore and seventeen

Tyr Pish! that old limber ass puts in his head still —

Helvetius! where is he?

Mem Not yet return'd, my lord

Tyr Your lordship hes,

Here comes the kingdom's father—who amongst you
Dares say, this worthy man has not made speed?

I would fain hear that fellow

Soph I'll not be he,
I like the standing of my head too well

To have it mended

Tyr Thy sight quickens me

I find a better health when thou art pre ent Than all times else can bring me —is the ans ver As pleasing as thy elf?

Hele Of what my lord?

Tyr Of what? fre now he did not say so did he? Soph O no my lord not he he spoke no such word

I il say as he would have t for I d be loath To have my hody used like hutchers meat.

Tir When comes she to our hed?

Hele Who my lord?

Tyr Hark! You heard that plain amonest you?

Soph O my lord as plain as my wife a tongue That drowns a sauce bell

Let me alone to lay about for honour

I li shift for one

Tyr When comes the lady sir That Govianus keeps?

Hele Why that smy daughter!

Tyr Oh i is it so! Have you unlock d your memory?

What says she to us?

Helv Nothing !

Tyr How thou tempt st us !

What didst thou say to her being sent from us?

Helv More than v as honest yet it was but little

Tyr How erucily thou work at upon our patience baying advantage—cause thou art her father!

But be not bold too far if duties leave thee

Respect will fall from us

Helt Have I kept life

Solong till it looks white upon my head

Been threeseore years a courtier, and a flatterer Not above threescore hours, which time's repented Amongst my greatest follies, and am I at these days Fit for no place, but bawd to mine own flesh? You'll prefer all your old courtiers to good services If your lust keep but hot some twenty winters, We are like to have a virtuous world of wives, Daughters and sisters, besides kinswomen And cousin germans remov'd up and down, Where'er you please to have 'ein! Are white hairs A colour fit for pandars and flesh brokers, Which are the honour'd ornaments of age, To which e'en kings one reverence, as they're men, And greater in their goodness, than their greatness? And must I take my pay all in base money? I was a lord born, set by all court grace! And am I thrust now to a squire's place?

Typ How comes the moon to change so in this manner, That was in full, but now, of all performance, And swifter than our wishes, I beshrew that virtue That busied herself with him, she might have found Some other work, the man was fit for me, Before she spoil'd him —She has wrong'd my heart m't, And marr'd me a good workman —Now his art fails him, What makes the man at court? This is no place For fellows of no parts, he lives not here That puts himself from action when we need him I take off all thy honours, and bestow 'em On any of this rank that will deserve 'em Soph My lord, that's I trouble your grace no further!

I'll undertake to bring her to your bed
With some ten words marry they re special charms—
No lady can withstand em a witch taught me em
If you doubt me I'll leave my wife m pawn
For my true loyalty and your myesty
May pass away the time till I return
I have a eare in all things

Tyr That may thrive best

Which the least hope looks after but however Force shall help nature I II be so sure now

Thy willingness may be fortunate—we employ thee

Soph Then I II go fetch my wife and take my journey

Tyr Stay I we require no pledge we think thee honest

Soph Troth the worse luck for me we had both been made by t

It was the way to make my wrie great too

Tyr [to Helvetius] I ll teach thee to be wide and strange to me—

Ill not leave thee

A title to put on but the bare name That man must call thee by and know thee miserable

Helv I is miscrable king to be of thy making And leave a better workman of thy honours Only keep life in baseness take em to thee

And give them to the hungry—there s one gapes

Soph—One that will swallow you sir—for that jest—a

And all your titles after

Helv The devil follow them

There s room enough for him too—Leave me thou king As poor as Truth the mistress I now serve And never will forsake her for her planness, That shall not alter me

Tyr No! Our guard within theic!

Enter GUARD

Guard My lord 1

Typ Bear that old fellow to our castle, prisoner, Give charge he be kept close

Helv Close prisoner 1

Why, my heart thanks thee, I shall have more time And liberty to virtue in one hour,
Than all those threescore years I was a courtier
So, by imprisonment I sustain great loss,
Heav'n opens to that man the world keeps close

[eart, with Guard

Soph But I'll not go to prison to try that, Give me the open world, there's a good air

Tyn I would fain send death after him, but I dare not, He knows I dare not, that would give just eause Of her unkindness everlasting to me His life may thank his daughter —Sophonirus! Here, take this jewel, bear it as a token To our heart's saint, 'twill do thy words no harm, Speech may do much, but wealth's a greater charm Than any made of words, and, to be sure, If one or both should fail, I provide faither Call forth those resolute fellows, whom our elemency Sav'd from a death of shame in time of war For field offences, give them charge from us They arm themselves with speed, beset the house

Of Govianus round—that if thou fail st Or stay st beyond the time thou leas at with their They may with violeoct break in themselves And seize her for our use

[exeunt -manet Sophonirus

Soph They re not so savage
To seize her for their own I hope
As there are many Lnaves will begin first
And bring their lords the bottom I have been serv'd so
A hundred tim s myself by a seury, page
That I kept once but my wife lov d him
And I could oot help it

[exit

ACT III SCENE I

Enter GOVIANUS with his LADY and a Servant

A Flou ish

Gots What is he?

Serv An old lord come from the court

Goss He should be wase hy s years he will not dare To come about such husiness tis not man s work Art sure he desir'd to speak with thy lady

Sert Sure sir

Gov: Faith thou rt mistook tis with me certain Let s do the man no wroog go know it truly sir ! Serv This is a strange humour, we must know things twice [cit

Gov There's no man is so dull, but he will weigh The work he undertakes, and set about it E'en in the best sobriety of his judgment, With all his senses watchful, then his guilt Does equal his for whom 'tis undertaken

Enter STRVANT

What says he now?

Serv E'en as he said at first, sir He's business with my lady from the king

Govi Still from the king, he will not come near, will he?

Serv Yes, when he knows he shall, sir

Govi I cannot think it

Let him be tried!

Serv Small trial will serve him, I warrant you, sir

Govi Sure honesty has left man, has fear forsook him?

Yes, faith, there is no fear, where there's no grace

Lady What way shall I devise to giv'm his answer? Denial is not strong enough to serve, sir

Govi No, 'tmust have other helps -

Enter Sophoniaus

I see he dares!

O patience, I shall lose a friend of thee!

Soph I bring thee, precious lady, this dear stone,
And commendations from the king my master

Gota I set before thee panderous lord this steel

And much good do t thy heart fall to and spare not!

[he stabs Sophonirus

Lady Las' what have you done my lord'

Got: Why sent a band

Home to his lodging nothing else sweet heart

Soph Well' you have kill dime sir and there s an end But you'll get nothing by the hand my lord

When all your eards are counted there be gamesters

Not far of will set upon the winner

And make a poor lord of you ere th ve left you I m fetch d in like a fool to pay the reckoning

Yet you'll save nothing by t

Got: What riddles this?

Soph There she stands by thee now who yet ere mid

Must he hy the king s side !

Got: Who speaks that he?

Soph One hour will make it true she cannot scape
No more than I from death you we a great game on t
An you look well about you that s my comfort
The house is round beset with armed men
That know their time when to hreak in and seize her

Lady My lord !

Got: Tis boldly done to trouble me
When I ve such business to dispatch —within there!

Enter SERVANT

Sera My Lord

Got: Look out and tell me what thou see st?

Soph How quickly now my death will be reveng'd 'Before the king's first sleep—I depart laughing

To think upon the deed

Govi 'Tis thy banquet,
Down, villain, to thy everlasting weeping,
That canst rejoice so in the rape of viitue,
And sing light tunes in tempests, when near shipwreck'd,
And have no plank to save us!—

Now, sii-quickly

Serv Which way so er I cast mine eye, my lord, Out of all parts o' th' house, I may see fellows, Gather'd in companies, and all whispering, Like men for treachery busy

Lady 'Tis confirm'd

Serv Their eyes still fix d upon the doors and windows Govi I think thou'st never done, thou lov'st to talk on't,

'Tis fine discourse, pr'ythee find other business

Serv Nay, I am gone, I'm a man quickly sneap'd [exit

Govi He's flatter'd me with safety for this hour

Lady Have you lessure to stand idle? why, my lord, It is for me they come

Govi For thee, my glory!

The riches of my youth, it is for thee!

Lady Then is your care so cold? will you be robb'd And have such warning of the thieves? Come on, sir! Fall to your business, lay your hands about you Do not think scorn to work, a resolute captain

Will rather fing the treasure of his bark.

Into whales throats than pirates should be gorg d with t.

Be not less man than he thou art masteryet.

And alls at thy disposing take thy time.

Prevent mine enemy away with me.

Let me no more be seen. I m like that treasure.

Dangerous to him that keeps it rid thy hands on t.

Govi. I cannot lose thee so.

Lady Shall I be taken
And lost the cruellest way? then would st thou curse
That love that sent forth pity to my life!
Too late thou wouldst!

Got: Oh this extremity?
Hast thou no way to scape them but in son!?
Mus I meet peace in thy destruction
Or will it neer come at me?
Tis a most miserable way to get it?
I had rather he content to live without it

Than pay so dear for t and yet lose it too

Lady Sir you do nothing there s no valour in you?

You re the worst friend to a lady in affliction

You re the worst friend to a lady in affliction.
That ever love made his companion.
For hooor's sake dispatch me' thy own thoughts
Should stir thee to this act more than my weakness.
The sufferer should not do t I speak thy part
Dull and forgetful man and all to help thee!

Is it thy miod to have me seized opon And borne with violence to the tyrant's bed? There forc'd unto the lost of all his days

Got: Oh no thou he st no longer now I think on t

I take thee at all hazard

Lady Ostay, hold, sir !

Goit Lady, what had you made me done now? You never cease 'till you prepare me cruel 'gainst my heart, And then you turn't upon my hand and mock me

Lady Cowardly flesh!

Thou show'st thy faintness still, I felt thee shake
E'en when the storm came near thee, thou'rt the same
But 'twas not for thy fear I put death by,
I had forgot a chief and worthy business,
Whose strange neglect—would have made me forgotten

[she lineels in prayer

Govi O poor lady!

Why might not she expire now in that prayer,
Since she must die, and never try worse ways,
'Tis not so happy, for we often see
Condemn'd men sick to death, yet 'tis their fortune
To recover to their execution,
And rise again in health to set in shame
What, if I steal a death unseen of her now,
And close up all my miseries, with mine eyes! Oh, fy,
And leave her here alone! that were immanly

Lady My lord, be now as sudden as you please, sir! I am ready for your hand

Gove But that's not ready
"Tis the hardest work that ever man was put to,
I know not which way to begin to come to't
Beheve me, I shall never kill thee well
I shall but shame myself, it were but folly,
Dear soul, to boast of more than I can perform,

I shall not have the power to do thee right in t
Thou desers at death with speed a quick dispatch
The pain but of a twinkling, and so sleep
If I do t I shall make thee live too long.
And so spoil all that way I prythee excu e me
Lady I should not be do turb do an you did well sir
I have prepar'd my elf for rest and silence
And took my leave of words. I am like one
Removing from her house that locks up all
And rather than the would displace her good
Makes shift with any thing for the time she stays
Theu look not for more speech the extremity speaks Enough to serve us both had we no tongues—

[Inoching within

Within Lord Sophonicus'
Gov: Which hand shall I take?
Lady Art thou yet ignorant? There is no way
But through my bosom

Gor: Must I lose thee then?

Lady They re but thine enemies that tell thee so His lust may part me from thee but death never Thou can st not lose me then for dying thine Thou dost enjoy me still—kings cannot rob thee

[knocking

Within Do you hear my lord?

I ady Is it yet time, or no?

Honour remember thee!

Gov: I must—come! prepare thyse![]—

Lady Never more dearly welcome —

[He runs at her, and falls by the way in a swoon
Alas, Sn!

My lord, my love!—O thou poor spirited man!
He's gone before me, did I trust to thee,
And hast thou serv'd me so? left all the work
Upon my hand, and stole away so smoothly?

There was not equal suffering shown in this,
And yet I cannot blame thee, every man
Would seek his rest, eternal peace sleep with thee!

Thou art my servant now, come thou hast lost
A fearful master, but art now prefer'd
Unto the service of a resolute lady,
One that knows how to employ thee, and scorns death
As much as some men fear it—Where's hell's ministers,
The tyrant's watch and guard? 'tis of much worth,
When with this key the prisoner can ship forth—

[hills herself, -knocking

She tales up the sword of Gornanus

Govi How now! What noise is this? I heard doors beaten [a great knocking again

Where are my servants? let men knock so loud Their master cannot sleep!

Within The time's expir'd And we'll break in, my lord !

Govi Ha! where's my sword?

I had forgot my business —O, 'tis done,
And never was beholding to my hand!

Was I so hard to thee? so respectless of thee,

To put all this to thee? why it was more Than I was able to perform myself With all the courage that I could take to me It tir'd me I was fain to fall and rest And hast thou vabant woman overcome Thy honour's enemies with thine own white hand Where virgin victory sits all without help? Eternal praise go with thee !- Spare not now Make all the haste you can-I Il plant this band Against the door the fittest place for him That when with ungovern d weapons they rush in Blinded with fury they may take his death Into the number of their deeds And wipe it off from mine -Eknocking teithin

How now forbear

My lord s at hand !

Within My lord and ten lords more-I hope the king s officers are above them all

Enter the FELLOWS well recaponed

Got: Lafe! what do you do take heed!-bless the old man l-

My lord All ass my lord he s gone! lst Offcer Farewell he then

We have no eyes to pierce thorough inch boards "Iwas his own folly the king must be serv d And shall the best is we shall ne er be hang d for t There s such a number guilty

Gott Poor my lord I

He went some twice embassador, and behavid himself

So wittily in all his actions

2nd Officer My lord! what's she?

Gove Let me see!

What should she be? Now I remember her,—

O, she was a worthy creature,

Before destruction grew so inward with her !

1st Officer Well, for her worthmess, that's no work of ours,

You have a lady, sn, the king commands her

To court with speed, and we must force her thither

Gove Alas! she'll never strive with you, she was born

E'en with the spirit of meekness, is't for the king?

1st Officer For his own royal and most gracious lust,

Gove Take her then !

2nd Officer Spoke like an honest subject, by my troth!
I'd do the like myself to serve my prince

Where is she, sir?

Govi Look but upon yon face,

Then do but tell me where you think she is?

2nd Officer She's not here

Govi She's yonder

1st Officer 'Faith, she's gone

Where we shall ne'er come at her, I see that

Govi No, nor thy master, neither, now I praise

Her resolution, 'tis a triumph to me,

When I see those about her

2nd Officer How came this, sir?

The king must know

Govi From you old fellows prattling

All your intents he reveal dirigely to her
And she was troubled with a foolish pride
To stand upon her honour and so dy d

It Officer We have done the king good service to kill hum

More than we were aware of but this news
Will make a mad court twill be a hard office
To be a flatterer now his grace will run
Iato so roany moods there il be no finding of him
As good seek a wild hare without a hound now
A vengeance of your babbing these old fellows
Will hearken after ecrets as their lives
But keep em in e en as they keep their wives

Gozz What a comfort tis To see em gone without her faith she told me Her everlasting sleep would bring me joy Yet I was still unwill ag to believe her Her life was so sweet to me like some man In time of sickness that would rather with (To please his fearful flesh) his former health Restor'd to him than death, when after trial If it were possible ten thousand worlds Could not entice him to return again And walk upon the earth from whence he flew So stood my wish 10v d in her life and breath Now gone there is no hear n but after death Come thou delicious treasure of mankind To him that koows what virtuous woman is

And can discreetly love her! the whole world Yields not a jewel like her, iansaek looks. And eaves beneath the deep. O thou fair spring Of honest and religious desires, Fountain of weeping honour, I will kiss thee After death's maible hip! thou'rt cold enough. To he entomb'd now by my father's side, Without offence in kindred, there I'll place thee With one I lov'd the dearest next to thee, Help me to mourn, all that love chastity

ACT IV SCENE I

Enter Votarius, with Anselmus's Lady

Vot Pray, forgive me, madam, come, thou shalt !
Wife I'faith 'twas strangely done, sin
Vot I confess it

Wife Is that enough to help it, sir? 'tis easy To draw a lady's honour in suspicion, But not so soon recover'd and confirm'd To the first faith again from whence you brought it Your wit was fetch'd out about other business, Or such forgetfulness had never seiz'd you

Vot 'Twas but an overflowing, a spring tide
In my affection, rais'd by too much love,
And that's the worst words you can give it, madain
Wife Jealous of me?

For You'd ve sworn yourself madam Had you been in my body and chang'd cases To see a fellow with a guilty pace

Glide through the room his face three quarters nighted As if n deed of darkness had hung on him

Hell take her impudence

For Why I have done madam

Fige You've done too late sir who shall do the rest

Vot \ mnn cannot cozen you of the sin of weakness

Wife I tell you twice twas my bold wommi s friend

now? Confest me yielding ' was thy wny too free? Why didst thou long to be restrain d? pray speak sir'

Or borrow it of a woman for one hour But how he s wonder'd at! when search your lives We shall no er fiad it from you we can suffer you

To play away your days in idleness
And hide your imperfections with our loves
Or the most part of you would inpear strange creatures;
And now its but our chance to make an offer

And snatch at folly running yet to see How carnest you re against us as if we d robb d you Of the best gift your antural mother left you

Were there not one more left for my lord s supper

And now sir I ve bethought myself

Vot That s bappy !

Wife You say were weak but the best wits of you all
Are glad of our advice for ought I see
And hardly thrive without us

Fot I'll say so too,

To give you encouragement, and advance your virtues Tis not good always to keep down a woman

Wife Well, sir, since you've begin to make my lord A doubtful man of me, keep on that course, And ply his faith still with that poor behef. That I'm inclining unto wantonness, Take heed you pass no further now.

Vot Why, do'st think
I'll be twice mad together in one moon?
That were too much for any freeman's son,
After his father's finneral

Wye Well then thus, so
Upholding still the same, as being embolden'd
By some loose glance of mine, you shall attempt,
After you've plac'd my lord in some near closet,
To thrust yourself into my chamber indely,
As if the game went forward to your thinking,
Then leave the rest to me—I'll so reward thee
With bitteiness of words, but, pr'ythee, pardon mi,
My lord shall swear me into honesty
Enough to serve his mind all his life after,
Nay, for a reed, I'll draw some rapier forth,
That shall come near my hand as 'twere by chance,
And set a lively face upon my rage,
But fear thou nothing, I too dearly love thee
To let harm touch thee

Vot O, it likes me rarely,

I'll chuse a precious time for it [ent Votarius Wife Go thy ways, I'm glad I had it for thee

Fater I FONELLA

I co Madam my lord entrents your company
II ye Psha ye!
Lea P ha ye! My lord entreats your company

Lee P na ye . My ford entreats tour company ife What now?

Are ye so short heel d

Leo I am as my betters are then

If fe How came you by such impudence alate minion?
You're not content to entertain your play fellow
In your own chamber closely, which I think

Is large allowance for a lady a woman

There a many a good man a daughter is in service

And cannot get such favour of her mistress
But what she has by stealth—she and the chamber mate

Are glad of one between them and must you Give such bold freedom to your long nos d fellow

Give such bold friedom to your long nos il fello That every room must take a taste of him?

Leo Does that offend your ladyship?
Wife How think you for sooth?

Lee Then he shall do t again

Il ife What?

Leo And again madam

So often till it please your ladyship

And when you like it he shall do t uo more

H ife What's this?

Leo I know no difference virtuous madam

But in love all have privilege alike

Wife You're a bold quean

Leo And are not you my mistress?

If ife This is well, i'faith

Leo You space not your own flesh no more than I,

Hell take me, an' I spare you

Wye O the wrongs

That ladies do their honors, when they make
Their slaves familiar with their weaknesses,
They're ever this rewarded for that deed,
They stand in fear e'en of the grooms they feed
I must be forc'd to speak my woman fair now,
And be first friends with her, nay, all too little,
She may undo me at her pleasure else,
She knows the way so well, myself not better,
My wanton folly made a key for her
To all the private treasure of my heart,
She may do what she list [aside], come, Leonella!
I am not angry with thee

Leo Pish!

Wife 'Faith, I ain not

Leo Why, what care I, an' you be?

Wife Prythee, forgive me?

Leo I have nothing to say to you

Wife Come, thou shalt wear this jewel for my sake,

A kiss and friends, we'll never quarrel more

Leo Nay, chuse you, 'faith, the best is an' you do, You know who'll have the worst on't

Wyfe True, myself

Leo Little thinks she, I have set her forth already,
I please my lord, yet keep her in awe too fuside

Wife One thing I had forgot, I pr'y thee, wench, Steal to Votarius closely, and remember him

To wear some privy armour then about him That I may feign a fury without fear Lea Armourt when madam? Hafe See now I child thee When I least thought upon thee thou rt my hest hand I cannot be without thee -Thus then surrah! To heat away suspicion from the thoughts Of uader list min, servants bout the house I have novis d Votarius at fit time Boldly to force his way into my chamber The admittance being denied him and the passage Kept strict by thee my necessary woman (La ! there I should have mist thy help a_ain) At which attempt I il take occasion To dissemble such an anger that the world Shall ever after swear us to their thoughts As clear and free from any ficship knowledge As nearest kindred are or ought to be Or what can more express it if that faild

Leo You know I mal vays at your service madam But why some prity armour? If fe Marry sweet heart The best is yet forgotten thou shalt have

A weapon in some corner of the chamber Yonder or there

Leo Or any where why a faith madam
Do you think I m to learn now to hang a neapon
As much as I m menapable of what follows?

I mall your mind without hook short to do not

I mall your mind without book think it done inadam fe Thanks my good wench, I li never call thee worse

[exit # fe

Leo Faith, von'te like to hav't again, an' you do, madain

Luter Britarius

Bel What, art alone?

Leo Curse me, what makes you here, sir? You're a bold long-nos'd fellow

Bel How!

Leo So my lady says

'Faith, she and I have had a bout for you, sir But she got nothing by't

Bel Did not I say still, thou would'st be too adventu-

Leo Ne'er a whit, sir I made her glad to seek my friendship first

Bel By my faith that shew'd well, if you come off So brave a conqueress, to't again and spare not, I know not which way you should get more honour

Leo She trusts me now to cast a mist, for sooth,
Before the servants' eyes—I must remember
Votarius to come once with privy armour
Into her chamber, when with a fam'd fury,
And rapier drawn, which I must lay a-purpose
Ready for her dissemblance, she will seem
T' act wonders for her juggling houesty

Bel I wish no riper vengeance t can'st conceive me? Votatius is my enemy!

Leo That's stale news, sir

Bel Mark what I say to thee forget of purpose That privy armour, do not bless his soul With so much warning, nor his hated body

With such sure safety—here express thy love Lay some empoisoned weapon next her hand That in that play he may he lost for ever Id have him kept no longer—awiy with him One touch will set him flying—let him go

Leo Bribe me but with a ki s it shall be so [execunt

Typ Her own fair hand so ernel! Did she chuse Destruction before me? was I no better? How much am I exalted to my face, And when I would be grae'd how little worthy! There's few kings know how rich they are in goodness, Or what estate they have in grace and virtue There is so much deceit in glosers' tongues, The truth is taken from us. we know nothing But what is for their purpose, that's our stint, We are allow'd no more O, wretched greatness! I'll eause a sessions for my flatterers, And have them all hang'd up -'Tis done too late O she's destroy'd, married to death and silence, Which nothing ean divorce, riches, nor laws, Nor all the violence that this frame can raise I've lost the comfort of her sight for ever, I cannot call this life that flames within me, But everlasting torment lighted up, To shew my soul her beggary -A new joy Is come to visit me in spite of death! It takes me of that sudden, I'm asham'd Of my provision, but a friend will bear -Within there!

Enter SOLDIERS

lst Sol Sir? 2nd Sol My lord!

Tyr The men I wish'd for, for seeresy and employment Go, give order that Govianus be releas'd

4th Sol Releas'd, sin?

Tyr Set free and then I trust he will fly the kingdom And never know my purpose—Ruo sir! [evit 4th Soldier you

Bring me the keys of the cathedral

1st Sol Are you so holy now do you curse all day
And go to pray at midnight? [aside and exit

Tyr Provide you sirs close lanthorns and a pickave Away be speedy!

2nd Sol Lanthorns and a pickaxe?

Does he mean to bury himself alive too?

[exeunt 2nd and 3rd Soldiers

Tyr Death nor the marble prison my lore sleeps in Shall keep her body lock d up from mine arms. I must not be a cozen d though her life. Was like a widow's state made oer in policy. To defeat me and my too confident heart. "I was a most cruel wisdom to herself. As much to me that lor'd her—What return d?

Enter 1st Soldier

lst Sol There be the keys my lord
Tyr I thank thy speed
Here comes the rest full furnish d follow me
And wealth shall follow you

[exit

Enter 2nd and 3rd Solniers

1st Sol Wealth! by this light
We go to rob a church I holo my life
The money will ne er thrive that s a sure saw
What's got from grace is ever spent in law

2nd Sold What strange fits grow upon him here alate! His soul has got a very dreadful leader What should he make in the cathedral now, The hour so deep in night? all his intents Are contrary to man, in spirit or blood. He waxes heavy in his noble mind, His moods are such they cannot bear the weight, Nor will not long if there be truth in whispers! The honorable father of the state, Noble Helvetius, all the lords agree By some close policy shortly to set free [caeunt

SCENE III

Enter the Terrant and Solden us at a farther door, which opened, brings them to the Tomb where the Lady lies burned. The Tomb is discovered richly set forth

Tyr Softly, softly!

Let's give this place the peace that it requires,

The vaults e'en chide our steps with murmuring sounds,

For making bold so late,—it must be done

lst Sold I fear nothing but the whorish ghost of a quean I kept once, she swore she would so haunt me, I should never pray in quet for her, and I have kept myself from church these fifteen years to prevent her

Tyr The monument woos me, I must run and kiss it Now trust me if the tears do not e'en stand Upon the marble what slow springs have I' 'Twas weeping to itself before I came, How pity strikes e'en through insensible things,

And makes them shame our dulness Thou house of silence and the calms of rest. After tempestuous life I claim of thee A mistress one of the most benuteous sleepers That ever lay so cold not yet due to thee By natural death but cruelly fore d hither Many n year before the world could spare her? We miss her amongst the glories of our court When they be number'd up All thy still strength Thou grey ey d monument shall not keep her from us ! btrike villain! the the echo rail us all Into ridiculous deafness pierce the laws Of this cold nonderous creature 2nd Sal Sur!

Tur Why strik at thou not?

2 of Sol I shall not hold the axe fast I m ufraid sir Tur O shame of men a soldier and so fearful?

2nd Sol Tis out of my element to be in a church air Give me the open field and tara me loose sir

Tur True thou then hast room enough to run away Take thou the use from him

lat Sol I beseech your grace-

Twill come to a worse hand You II find us all Of one mind for the church I can assure you sir

Tur Northon

3rd Sol I love not to disquet ghosts Of any people living

Tyr O slaves of one opinion give met from thee Thou man made out of fear

2nd Sol By my faith 1 m glad I m rid on t-

I that was ne'er before in a cathedral,
And have the battering of a lady's toinh,
Lies hard upon my conscience at first coming,
I should get much by that, it shall be a warning to me,
I'll ne'er come here again

Tyr No-wilt not yield?

Strikes at the tomb

Art thou so loth to part from her?

1st Sol What means he?

Has he no feeling with him? By this light, if I be not afraid to stay any longer, very fear will go night to turn me of some religion or other, and so make me forfeit my heutenantship

Tyr O, have we got the mastery? help, you vassals, Freeze you in idleness, and can see us sweat

2nd Sol We sweat with fear as much as work can make us

Tyr Remove the stone that I may see my mistress! Set to your hands, you villains, and that nimbly, Or the same are shall make you all fly open!

All O, good my lord!

Tyr I must not be delay'd

1st Sol This is ten thousand times worse than entering on a breach

'Tis the first stone that ever I took off From any lady, marry, I have brought 'em many, Fair diamonds, sapphires, rubics

Tyr O blest object '
I never shall be weary to behold thee,
I could eternally stand thus and see thee
Why, 'tis not possible, death should look so fair
Life is not more illustrious when health smiles on't,

She's only pale the colour of the court And most attractive mistresses most strice for a And their lascinious servants most affect it Lay to your hands again !

All My lord?

Tyr Take up her body!

Tur Her body

1st Sol She s dead my lord

Tur True if she were alive

Such slaves as you should not come near to touch her

Do t and with all best reverence place her here let Sol Not only sir with reverence but with fear

You shall have more than your own asking once

I am afraid of nothing but she'll rise
At the first jog and save us all a labour

At the first jog and save us all a labour

2nd Sol Then we were best take her up and never touch her

let Sol How can that he? does fear make thee mad? I ve took many a woman in my days But never with less pleasure I profest Tyr O the moon rises! what reflection

Is thrown about this sanctified building E en in a twinkling! How the monuments glister As if death's palaces were all massy silver

And scorn d the name of marble! Art thou cold? I have no faith in t yet I believe none.

Madam I tis I sweet lady pryther speak

Tis thy love calls on thee thy king thy servant No! not a word all prisoners to pale silence I'll prove a kiss

2d Sol Here's fine chill venery, 'Twould make a pandar's heels ache, I'll be sworn, All my teeth chatter in my head to see't Tur Thou'rt cold indeed, beshrew thee for't, Unkind to thine own blood, hard hearted lady 1 What mury hast thou offer'd to the youth And pleasure of thy days? refuse the court, And steal to this hard lodging was that wisdom? Oh I could chide thee with mine eye brim full, And weep out my forgiveness when I've done! Nothing hurt thee but want of woman's counsel, Hadst thon but ask'd th' opinion of most lathes, Thou'dst never come to this! they would have told thee How dear a treasure life and youth had been, 'Tis that they fear to lose the very name Can make more gaudy tremblers in a minute, Than heaven, or sin, or hell, these are last thought on, And where got'st thou such boldness from the rest Of all thy timorous sex, to do a deed here Upon thyself, would plunge the world's best soldier, And make him twice bethink him, and again, And yet give over Since thy life has left me, I'll clasp the body for the spirit that dwelt in it. And love the house still for the mistress' sake Thou art mine now, spite of destruction, And Govianus, and I will possess thee I once read of a Herod, whose affection Pursued a virgin's love, as I did thine, Who, for the hate she owed him, killed herself,

As thou too rashly didst without all pity
Yet he presery d her hody dead in honey
And kept her long after her funeral
But I ll unlock the treasure house of art
With keys of gold and bestow all on thee
Here slaves' receive her humbly from our arms
Upon your knees you villains! all s too little
If you should sweep the pavement with your lips let Sol What strange brooms he invents!

Int So' reverently!

Bear her hefore us gently to the palace
Place you the stone again where first we found it

1st Sol Must this on now to deceive nil comers
And cover emptiness? tis for all the world
Lake a great city pie hrought to a table
Where there be many hand that lay ahout
The lid s shut close when all the meat spick d out
Yet stands to make a show and cozen people

No sooner stood hefore it hut a tear
Ran swiftly from me to express her duty
Temple of honour! I sainte thee early
The time that my griefs rise chamber of peace!
Where wounded virtue sleeps lock d from the world

I bring to be acquainted with thy silence
Sorrows that love no noise, they dwell all inward,
Where truth and love in every man should dwell
Be ready, boy! give me the strain again,
'Twill show well here, whilst, in my grief's devotion,
At every rest mine eye lets fall a bead,
To keep the number perfect

THE SONG

If ever pity were well plac'd
On true desert and virtuous honor,
It could ne'er be better grac'd,
Freely then bestow't upon her
Never lady earn'd her fame
In virtue's war with greater strife,
To preserve her constant name,
She gave up beauty, youth, and life
There she sleeps,

And here he weeps,

The lord unto so rare a wife

Weep, weep, and mourn! lament,

You virgins that pass by her!

For if praise come by death again,

I doubt few will he nigh her

Govi Thou art an honest boy, 'tis like one That has a feeling of his master's passions, And the unmatch'd worth of his dead mistress Thy better years shall find me good to thee, When understanding ripens in thy soul, Which truly makes the man and not long time Prythee withdraw a little and attend me

At the closster door

Gov: Eternal maid of bonour whose chaste body
Lies here like virtue's close and hidden seed

To spring forth glorious to etermity At the everlasting harvest!

A Voice within-I am not here

Goer What's that? who is not here? Im forced to ques

Some idle sounds the beaten vaults send forth

[The tombstone suddenly fites open amidst a noise like rush ing wind and a light appears in the midst of the tomb the thost of his Lady stands before him in white covered with jewels and having a crucifix on her breast

Gor! Mercy look to me — Faith I fly to thee! Keep a strong watch about me I now thy friendship! O never came astonishment and fear

So pleasing to mankind I take delight To have my breast shake and my hair stand stiff

If this be sorrow let it never die '
Came all the pains of hell in that shape to me

I should endure them smiling! keep me still

In terror I beseech thee ' I d not change This fever for felicity of man

Or all the pleasures of ten thousand nges

Ghost Dear lord I come to tell you all my wrongs Gov! Welcome! Who wrongs the spirit of my love? Thou art above the injuries of blood,
They cannot reach thee now, what dares offend thee?
No life that has the weight of flesh upon't,
And treads as I do, can now wrong my mistress

Ghost The peace that death allows me is not mine, The monument is robb'd—behold! I'm gone, My body taken up

Govi "Tis gone, indeed
What villain dares so fearfully run in debt
To black eternity?

Ghost He that dares do more, the tyrant
Gove All the miseries below
Reward his boldness!

Ghost I am now at court
In his own private chamber—there he woos me,
And plies his suit to me with as serious pains,
As if the short flame of mortality
Were lighted up again in my cold breast,
Folds me within his arms, and often sets
A sinful kiss upon my senseless lip,
Weeps when he sees the paleness of my check,
And will send privately for a hand of art,
That may dissemble life upon my face,
To please his lustful eye

Gove O piteous wrongs!

Inhuman injuries, without grace or mercy

Ghost. I leave them to the thought decre

Ghost I leave them to thy thought, dearest of men 'My rest is lost, thou must restore't again

Govi O, fly me not so soon!

Ghost Farewell—true lord

[the Ghost disappears

Goet I cannot spare thee yet I III make myself
Over to death too and we'll walk together
Luke loving spirits. I pray thee let's do so
She's snatch'd away by fate and I talk sickly
I must dispatch this business upon earth
Before I take that journey I'll to my brother for his oid or counsel
So wrong d'O hearen put armont on my spirit!
Her body I will place in her first nest
Or in the ottempt lock death into my breast

Though I undo her by t your friendship sir
Is the sweet mistress that I only serve
I prize the roughness of a man sembrace
Before the soft lips of a hundred ladies

Ans And that s an honest mind of thee

Vet Lock yourself sir
Into that closet and be sure none see you
Trust not a creature we'll have all round clear
E en as the heart affords it

Ans Tis a match sir

[evit

Vot Troth, he says true then, 'tis a match indeed He does not know the strength of his own words, For, if he did, there'd be no mastering of him He's cleft the pin in two with a blind man's eyes, Though I shoot wide, I'll cozen him of the game [exit

Leo Dost thou see thine enemy walk?

Bel I would I did not

Leo Pr'ythee rest quiet, man, I have feed one for him, A trusty catchpole too that will be sure of him, Thou know'st this gallery, well, 'tis at thy use now, 'T'as been at mine full often, thou may'st sit Like a most private gallant in yon corner, For all the play, and ne'er be seen thyself

Bel Therefore I chose it

Leo Thou shalt see my lady
Play her part naturally, more to the life
Than she's aware on

Bel Then must I be pleased,
Thou'rt one of the actors, thou'lt be miss'd anon
Leo Alas! a woman's action's always ready,
Yet I'll down now I think on't

Bel Do, 'tis time, 1 faith

[Leonella descends

Ans I know not yet where I should plant belief, I am so strangely tost between two tales, I'm told by my wife's woman the deed's done, And in Votarius' tongue 'tis yet to come The castle is but upon yielding yet, 'Tis not deliver'd up well, we shall find

The mystery shortly I will entertain The patience of n prisoner 1 th mean time

[locks himself in

Enter Wife with LEAVELLA

Wife Is all set ready wench?

Leo Peace madam! all

Wife Tell not me so she hees not for a lady

That has less peace than I

Lee Nay good sweet madnm

You would not think how much this passion alters you It drinks up all the beauty of your cheek

I promise you madam you have lost much blood

Wife Let it draw death upon me for till then I shall be mistress of no true content

Who could endure hourly temptation

And bear it as I do?

Leo Nay that s most certain

Unless it were myself again I can do t I suffer the like daily you should complain madain

Wife Which way were that wisdom? prythec wench

Leo To him that makes all whole again my lord To one that if he be a kind good husband

Will let you bear no more than you are able

Wife Thou knowst not what thou speakest why my lords he

That gives him the house s freedom all his boldness—
Keeps him o purpose here to war with me
Leo Now I hold wiser of my lord than so

He knows the world, he would not be so idle

Wife I speak sad truth to thee, I am not private In mine own chamber, such his impudence is Nay my repenting time is searce blest from him,
He will offend my prayers

Les Out upon him

I believe, madam, he's of no religion

Wife He serves my lord, and that's enough for him And preys upon poor ladies like myself, There's all the gentleman's devotion

Leo Marry, the devil of hell give him his blessing!

Wife Pray, watch the door, and suffer none to trouble us,
Unless it be my lord

Leo 'Twas finely spoke that!

My lord indeed is the most trouble to her

Now must I show a piece of service here,

How do I spend my days—shall I never Get higher than a lady's door keeper?

I must be married as my lady is, first,

And then, my maid may do as much for me

Faside

Wyfe O miserable time! except my lord
Do wake in honourable pity to me,
And rid this vicious gamester from his house,
Whom I have check'd so often here I vow
I'll imitate my noble sister's fate,
Late mistress to the worthy Govianus,
And east away my life as he did hers

Enter Votarius, to the door within

Leo Back, you're too forward, sir! there's no coming for you

Vot How mistress Len my lady s smock woman Am I no farther in your duty yet?

Leo Duty! look for t of them you keep under sir

Vot You'll let me in

Lee Who would you speak withal?

Pot Why the best lady you make curtesy to

Lea She will not speak with you Vot Have you her mind?

I scorn to take her answer of her broker

Lea Madam?

Wife What's there? How now sir what's your business?
We see your holdness plain

Vot I came to see you madam

If ife Farewell then I though twas impudence too much When I was private hen I was private

Wife He was born

To beggar all my patience

Fot Im bold

Still to prefer my love your woman hears me not

Wife Where's modesty and honour? Have I not thrace Answer'd thy lust?

Leo Byrlady I think oft ner [aside

Wife And darest thou yet look with temptation on us?
Since nothing will prevail come death come vengeance—

I will forget the weakness of my kind

And force thee from my chamber

[she thrusts at Votarius with the sword

Vot How now lady!
Uds life you prick me madam!

Wife Pr'ythee, peace!

I will not hurt thee, will you yet begone, sir?

Leo He's upon going, I think

Vot Madam, you deal false with me, O I feel it,

You're a most treacherous lady! this thy glory!

My breast is all a-fire-Oh-

dies

Leo Ha, ha, ha!

Ans Ha! I believe her constancy too late,

Confirm'd e'en in the blood of my best friend,

Take thou my vengeance, thou bold permicious strumpet,

Thills Leonella

At the same instant, Bellarius enters

That durst accuse thy virtuous lady falsely!

Bel O deadly poison, after a sweet banquet!

What make I here? I had forgot my heart,

I am an actor too, and never thought on't,

The blackness of this season cannot miss me

. Sırrah—you—lord 1

Wife Is he there 'welcome, run'

Bel There is a life due to me in that bosom For this poor gentlewoman

Ans And art thou then receiver!

I'll pay thee largely, slave, for thy last 'scape

[they make a dangerous pass at one another, the Lady purposely runs between them, and is killed

Wife I come, Votarius!

Ans Hold, if manhood guide thee!

O what has fury done now?

Bel What has it done now?

Why killed an honourab e whore that s all

Ans Villain I I'll seal that he upon thy heart
A constant lady!

[he kneels at his Hife a side

Bel To the devil as could be
Must I prick you forward; either up
Or sir I ll take my chance thou could st kill her
Without repenuing that deserv'd more pity;
And spends thy time and tears upon n quean
Ans Slave!

Bel That was deceir d once in her own deceit

[they fight both are mortally recounded

Upon that weapon for nune enemy s bosom
Is bold to take acquantance of my blood too
And serves us both to make up death withal
Ans I ask no more of destmy but to fall
Close by the claste side of my struous inistress
If all the treasure of my weeping strength
Be left so wealthy but to purchase that I base the dear wish of a great man s spirit bet favour me O yet—I thank thee fate
I expire ch erfully and give death a smile

As I nm now the poison I prepar'd

[Anselmus funts

Bel O rage 1 I pity now mine enemy s flesh

Faler GOVIANES with Servants

Gov: Where should he be?

1st Serv. My lady sir will tell you.

She sin her chamber here.

2d Serv O! my Lord!

Gove Peace—my honourable brother, madam, all,—So many dreadful deeds, and not one tongue

Left to proclaim 'em

Bel Yes, here, if a voice Some initiates long may satisfy your ear, I've that time allowed it

Govi 'Tis enough,

Bestow it quickly, ere death snatch it from thee

Bel That lord, your brother, made his friend Votarius To tempt his lady, she was won to lust,

The act reveal'd here by her serving woman,

But that wise close adultress, stor'd with art

To prey upon the weakness of that lord,

Dissembled a great rage upon her love,

And indeed kill'd him, which so won her husband,

He slew this right discoverer in his fury,

Who, being my mistress, I was mov'd in haste

To take some pains with him, and he's paid me for it

As for the cunning lady, I commend her,

She perform'd that which never woman tried.

She ran upon our weapons and so died

Now you have all, I hope I shall sleep quiet

[dics

Ans O thunder! that awakes me e'en from death, And makes me eurse my confidence with cold lips, I feel his words in flames about my soul,

He's more than kill'd me

Govi Brother

Ans I repent the smile

That I bestow'd on destiny? O whore!

I fling thee thus from my believing breast With all the strength I have my rage is great Although my veins grow beggars now I sue To die far from thee may we never meet Were my soul hid to joy a eternal banquet And were assurd to find thee there a guest I d sup with torments and refuse that feast O thou beguiler of man a easy trust. The serpent a wisdom is in women a lust.

Gor: Is death so long a coming to mankind It must be met balf way? O cruel speed! There s few men pay their debts before their day : If they be rendy at their time tis well And but a few that are so what strange haste Was made among these people ! My heart weeps for t Go bear those bodies to a place more comely Brother I came for hyadrice but I Find thee so ill a counsellor to thyself That I repent my pains and depart sighing The body of my love is still at court I am not well to think on t the poor spirit Was with me once again about it troth; And I can put it off no more for shame Though I desire to have it haunt me still And never to give over tis so pleasing I must to court I ve plighted my faith to t T as open d me the way to the revenge Tyrant I'll run thee on a dangerous shelf Though I be fored to fly this land myself

Enter TYRANT, with Attendants

Affection will be mistress here on earth,
The house is hers, the soul is but a tenant
I have task'd myself but with the abstinence
Of one poor hour, yet cannot conquer that I cannot keep from sight of her so long,
I starve mine eye too much go, bring her forth
As we have caus'd her body to be deck'd
In all the glorious riches of our palace,
Our mind has felt a famine for the time,
All comfort has been dear and scarce with us
The times are alter'd since strike on, sweet harmony!

Enter Soldiers, with the LADY

[music playing

A braver world comes towards us

[They bring the body in a chair, dressed up in black velvet, which sets out the paleness of the hands and face, and a fair chain of pearl across the breast, and the crucifix above it, he stands silent awhile, letting the music play, beckoning the soldiers that bring her in to make obeisance to her, and he himself makes a low honour to the body, and hisses the hand

A Song

O what is beauty that's so much adored? A flattering glass that cozens her beholders, One night of death makes it look pale and horrid, The dainty presers d flesh how soon it moulders

To love it living it bewitcheth many

But after life is seldoin heard of any

Itt Sol By this hand mere idolatry I looke courtesy
To my damnation. I have learnt so much
Though I could never know the meaning yet
Of all my Latin prayers nor neer sought for't
Tyr How pleasing art thou to us even in death!
I love thee yet above all women living
I can see nothing, but be mended in thee
But the too constant paleness of thy check
I d give the kingdom but to purchase there

The breadth of a red rose in natural colours And think it the best bargain that ever king made yet But fate s my hindraoce

And I must only rest content with art
And that I II have in spite on t is be come sir?

2nd Sol Who my lord?

Tur Dull—the fellow that we sent

For a picture drawer

A lady s forenoon tutor is he come sir's lst Sol Not yet return d my lord Tyr The fool helike

Makes his choice carefully for so we charged him To fit our close deeds with some private hand It is no shame for thee most silent mistress To stand in need of art when youth And all thy warm friends have forsook thee! Women alive are glad to seek her friendship To make up the fan number of their graces, Or else the reekoning would fall short sometimes, And servants would look out for better wages

Enter 3rd Soldier, with Govinnus disguised

2nd Sol He's come, my lord

Tyr Depart then is that he?

3rd Sol The privatest I could get, my lord

Govi [aside] O Heaven! marry patience to my spirit!

Give me a sober fury I beseech thee,

A rage that may not overcharge my blood,

And do myself most hurt! 'tis strange to me

To see thee here at court, and gone from hence

Didst thou make haste to leave the world for this?

O who dares play with destiny but he

That wears security so thick upon him,

The thought of death and hell cannot pierce through!

Tyr 'Twas circumspectly earned leave is, go!

Tyr 'Twas circumspectly earried leave us, go' Be nearer, sir, thou'rt much commended to us

Gove It is the hand, my lord, commends the workman

Tyr Thou speak'st both modesty and truth in that We need that art that thou art master of

Govi My king is master both of that and me

Ty: Look on you face, and tell me what it wants

Govi Which? that, sir

Tyr That! what wants it?

Gove Troth, my lord,

Some thousand years' sleep, and a marble pillow

Tyr What's that? observe it still all the best arts

Have the most fools and drunkards to their master.
Thy apprehension has too gross a film.
To be cuployed at court—what colour wants she?
Gov: By my troth all sir—I see none she has.
Nor none she cares for

Tyr I am over match d here

Gor: A lower chamber with less noise were kindlier For her poor woman whatso r she was

Tyr But how if we he pleas d to have it thus And thou well hired to do what we command?

Is not your work for money?

Gou Yes my lord

I would not trust but few an I could chuse

Tyr Let but thy art hide death upon her face

That now looks fearfully on us and struct To give our eye delight in that pale part Which draws so many pities from these springs And thy reward for't shall outlast thy end

And reach to thy friend s fortunes and his friend

Got: Say you so my lord I'll work out my heart then But I il shew art enough

Iur Ahout it then

I never wish d so seriously for health After long sickness

Govi [ande] A religious tremhling shakes me by the

And bids me put hy such nnhallow d business But revenge calls for t and it must go forward "Its time the spirit of my love took rest Poor soul! tis weary much abus d and toil d

[Govianus paints the face of the body

Tur Could I now send for one to renew heat Within her bosom, that were a fine workman I should but too much lave him, but, alas I Tis as impossible for living fire To take hald there, as for dead ashes to burn back again Into those hard tough bodies whence they fell Life is removed from her now, as the warmth Of the bright sun from us, when it makes winter, And kills with unkind coldness, so is't vonder An everlasting frost hangs now upon her, And as in such a season men will force A heat into their bloods with exercise. In smite of extreme weather, so shall we By art force heanty on you lady's face, Though death sit frowning on't a storm of hail, To heat it off our pleasure shall prevail Gov My lord 1

Tyr Hast done so soon

Govi That's as your grace

Gives approbation

Tyr O, she have again!

She'll presently speak to me, keep her up!

I'll have her swoon no more, there's treachery in't,

Does she not feel warmer to thee?

Govi Very little, sir

Tyr The heat wants cherishing then, our arms and hips Shall labour life into her, wake, sweet mistress! 'Tis I that call thee at the door of life [Lisses the body] Ha! I talk so long to death, I'm sick myself Methinks an evil scent still follows me

Gors May be tis nothing but the colour sir

That I laid on Tur Is that so strong?

Core Yes faith sir

Twas the best poison I could get for money [threes off / 18
Tyr Govianus! [disguise

Goer O thou sacrilegious villain !

Thou thicf of rest robber of monuments I Cannot the body after funeral

Sleep in the grave for thee? must it be rais d

Only to please the wickedness of thine eye?

Do all things end with death and not the lust?

Hast thou desis d a new way to damnation

More dreadful than the soul of any sin

Did ever pass yet between earth and hell? Dost strive to be particularly plagu d

Above all ghosts beside? Thou scorn at a partner in the torments too

Tyr What fury gave thee boldness to attempt This deed for which I ll doom thee with a death

Beyond the extremest tortures?

Gove I smile at thee Draw all the deaths that ever mankind suffer'd

Unto one head to help thine own invention

And make my end as rare as this thy sin And full as fearful to the eyes of women

My spirit shall fly singing to his lodging.

In midst of that rough weather Dooin me tyrant!

Had I fear'd death I d never appear'd noble To seal this act upon me which e en honours me Unto my mistress' spirit,—it loves me for't I told my heart 'twould prove destruction to't, Who hearing 'twas for her, charg'd me to do't

Later the Guost, in the same form as the Body in the chair

Tyr Thy glories shall be shortened, who's within there?

[he sees the Ghost.

I call'd not thee, thou enemy to firmness, Mortahty's earthquake !

Gon Welcome to mine eyes,
As is the day-spring from the morning's womb.
Unto that wretch whose mights are techous!
As liberty to captives, health to labourers,
And life still to old people, never wenry on't,
So welcome art thou to me! the deed's done,
Thou queen of spirits! he has his end upon him
Thy body shall return to rise again,
For thy abuser falls, and has no power.
To yex thee farther

Ghost My truest love!

Live ever honoured here, and blest above

Tyr Oh, if there be a hell for flesh and spirit,

'Tis built within this bosom—

Enter Noblis

My lords, treason!

Govi Now, death, I'm for thee, welcome 1

Tyi Your king's poisoned 1

Mem The King of heaven be prais'd for it 1

Tyi Lay hold on him,

On Governus 1

Mem E en with the best loves And truest hearts that ever subjects oned Tur How's that? I charge you all lay hands on him Mem Look you my lord your will shall be obey d Here comes another we'll have his hand too

Hele You shall have both mine if that work go forward Beside my voice and knee

Tur Helsetius I then my destruction was confirm d amongst em

Premeditation wrought it O my torments !

All Live Govianus long our virtuous king' [flourish

Tur That thunder strikes me dead Got, I cannot better

Reward my joys than with astonish disilence For all the wealth of words is not of power To make up thanks for you my honoured lords I m like a man pluck d up from many waters That never look d for help and am here placed Upon this cheerful mountain where prosperity

Shoots forth her richest beam Mem Long injured lord! The tyranny of his actions grew so weighty His life so vicious-

Heli To which this is witness Monster in sin! this the disquieted body Of my too resolute child in honour's war Mem That he became as hateful to our minds

Helv As death's unwelcome to a house of riches,
Or what can more express it?
Govi Well, he's gone,
And all the kingdom's evils perish with him!
And since the body of that virtuous lady
Is taken from her rest, in memory
Of her admired mistress, 'tis our will,
It receive honour dead, as it took part
With us in all afflictions when it lived,
Here place her in this throne, crown her our queen,*
The first and last that ever we make ours
Her constancy strikes so much firmness in us,
That honour done, let her be solemnly borne
Unto the house of peace, from whence she came,
As queen of silence

[the Spirit here enters again, and stays to go out with the body, as it were attending it

O welcome, blest spirit!

Thou needst not mistrust me, I have a care
As jealous as thine own we'll see it doile,
And not believe report, our zeal is such,
We cannot reverence chastity too much
Lead on I would, those ladies that fill honour's rooms
Might all be borne so virtuous to their tombs!

[solemn music plays them out

A MAN MAY CHUSE A GOOD WIFE FROM A BAD

This play agrees perfectly with the description given of it in the title it is certainly a most pleasant conceited co medy rich in humour and written altogether in a right merry vein. The humour is broad and strongly marked and at the same time of the most diverting kind the characters are excellent and admirably discriminated the comic parts of the play are written with most exquisite drollery and the serious with great truth and feeling. It is as cribed in Garrick's collection in manuscript to Joshua Cooke probably says the Biographia Dramatica John Cooke the author of Green's Tu quoque There does not however appear to be any authority for attributing these two plays to the same author and the resemblance between them in style and character is not sufficiently strong to warrant that conclusion independently of other evidence Of the present piece there were five editions * within a short period with all of which the present reprint has been care fully collated and is now for the first time divided into ncts and scenes

HOW A MAN MAY CHUSE A GOOD WIFE FROM A BAD

ACT I SCENE I

The Exchange

Enter Young Master Arthur and Young Master Lusam

Y Art I TELL you true sir but to every man I would not be so lavish of my speech Ooly to you my dear and private friend Although my wrie in every eye he held Of beauty and of grace sufficient Of bonest birth and good behaviour Able to win the strongest thoughts to her let in my mind I hold her the most hated And loathed object that the world can yield

Y Lus Oh, Master Arthur, bear a better thought Of your chaste wife, whose modesty hath wou The good opinion and report of all By heaven I you wrong her beauty, she is fair

Y Art Not in inine eye

Y Lus O you are cloy'd with dainties, Master Arthur, And too nuch sweetness glutted hath your taste, And makes you loath them, at the first You did admire her heanty, prais'd her face, Were proud to have her follow at your heels. Through the broad streets, when all consuming tongues. Found themselves busied, as she past along, 'T' extol her in the hearing of you both. Tell me, I pray you, and dissemble not, Have you not, in the time of your first-love, Hugg'd such new popular and vulgar talk, And gloried still to see her hravely deck'd? But now, a kind of loathing hath quite chang'd Your shape of love into a form of liste?

Y Art My reason is my mind, my ground my will, I will not love her if you ask me why I cannot love her, let that answer you

Y Lus Be judge, all eyes, her face deserves it not, Then on what root grows this high branch of hate? Is she not loyal, constant, loving, chaste, Obedient, apt to please, loth to displease, Careful to hive, chary of her good name, And jealous of your reputation? Is she not viituous, wise, religious?

How should you wrong her to deny all this Good Ma ter Arthur let me argue with you

[they walk aside

Finter Master Ansply and Master Fuller

Ful Oh Master Anselm grown a lover fie ! What might she be on whom your hopes rely? Ans What fools they are that seem most wise in love How wise they are that are but fools in love Before I was a lover I had reason To judge of matters censure of all sorts Nav I had wit to call a lover fool And look into his folly with bright eyes But now intruding love dwells in my brain And frantickly hath shoulder'd reason thence I am not old and yet alas! I doat I have not lost my sight and yet am blind No bondman vet have lost my liberty No natural fool and yet I want my wit What am I then? let me define myself A dotard young a blind man that can see A witty fool a bond man that is free Ful Good aged youth blind seer and wise fool

Loose your free bonds and set your thoughts to school

Enter OLD MASTER ARTHUR and OLD MA TER LUSAY

O Art 'Tis told me Master Lusam that my son
And your chas e daughter whom we match d together
Wrangle and fall at odds and brawl and chude
O Jus Nay I think so I never look d for hetter

This 'tis to marry children when they are young I said as much at first, that such young brats Would 'gree together even like dogs and eats

O Art Nay, pray you, Master Lusam, say not so, There was great hope, though they were match'd but young, Their virtues would have made them sympathize, And live together like two quiet saints

- O Lus You say true, there was great hope, indeed, They would have hv'd like saints, but where's the fault?
 - O Art If fame be true, the most fault's in my son
 - O Lus You say true, Master Arthur, 'tis so indeed
 - O Art Nay, sir, I do not altogether exense

Your daughter, many lay the blame on her

- O Lus Ah! say you so? by the mass, 'tis like enough, For, from her childhood, she hath been a shrew
 - O Art A shrew? you wrong her, all the town admires her

For mildness, chasteness, and humility

- O Lus 'Fore God, you say well, she is so indeed, The city doth admire her for these virtues
- O Art O, sir, you praise your child too palpably, She's mild and chaste, but not admir'd so much
 - O Lus Aye, so I say, I did not mean admir'd
- O Art Yes, if a man do well consider her, Your daughter is the wonder of her sex
- O Lus Are you advis'd of that? I cannot tell What 'tis you call the wonder of her sex, But she is, is she, aye, indeed, she is
 - O Art What is she?
 - O Lus Even what you will, you know best what she is

Ans You is her husband let us leave this walk.
How full are bad thoughts of suspiciou
I love but loath myself for loving so
Yet cannot change my disposition

Ful Medice cura teipsum

Ans Heu mihi ' quod nullis amor est medicabilis herbis

Vexcunt Anselm and Fuller

Y Art All your persuasions are to no effect Never allege her virtues nor her beauty My settled unkindness hath begot

A resolution to be unkind still My ranging pleasures love variety

Y Lus Oh too unkind unto so kind a wife Too virtueless to one so virtuous And too unchaste unto so chaste a matron

I Art But soft sir see where my two fathers are Busily talking let us shrink aside For if they see me they are bent to chide

[execut 1 Arthur and 1 Lusam
O Art I think its best to go straight to the house
And make them friends again what think you sir?

O Lus I think so too
O Art Now I remember too that s not so good
For divers reasons I think best stay here

And leave them to their wrangling what think you?

O Lus I think so too

O Art Nay we will go that s certain

O Lus Aye tis best its best in sooth there s no way

O Art 1 et if our Loing should breed more unrest

More discord, more dissension, more debate, More wrangling, where there is enough already, 'Twere better stay than go

O Lus 'Fore God, 'tis time,
Our going may, perhaps, breed more debate,
And then we may, too late, wish we had staid,
And, therefore, if you will be rul'd by me,
We will not go, that's flat may, if we love
Our credits, or our quiets, let's not go

O Art But if we love their credits or their quiets, we must go

And reconcile them to their former love,
Where there is strife betwint a man and wife 'tis hell,
And mutual love may be compar'd to heaven,
For then their souls and spirits are at peace
Come, Master Lusam, now 'tis dinner time,
When we have din'd, the first work we will make
Is to decide their jars for pity's sake

O Lus Well fare a good heart! yet are you advis'd?
Go, said you, Master Arthur? I will run
To end these broils that discord hath begun

Young Arthur's House

Enter MISTRESS ARTHUR, and PIPKIN

Mis Art Come hither, Pipkin, how chance you tread so softly?

Pup For fear of breaking, mistress
Mis Art Art thou afraid of breaking, how so?

Pup Can you blame me mastress? I am crack d already

Mis Art Crack d Pipkin how? bath any crack d your crown?

Ptp No mistress I thank God my crown is current but-

Mis Art But what?

Pip The maid have me not my supper yesterm, bit so that indeed my helly wambled and standing near the great sea coal fire in the hall and not being full on the sudden I crack d and you know mistres a pipkin is soon broken.

Mis Art Sirrah! run to the Exchange and if you there can find my husband pray him to come home

Tell him I will not eat a hit of bread

Until I see him pr'ythee Pipkin run

Pip By r lady maistress if I should tell him so it may be he would not come were it for no other cause but to save charges. If I rather tell him if he come not quickly you will eat up all the meat in the house and then if he be of my stomach, he will run every foot and make the more haste to dianer.

Mis Art Aye thou may st jest my heart is not so hight It can digest the least concert of joy

Entreat him fairly though I think he loves

All places worse that he beholds me in

Wilt thou begone?

Pip Whither mistress to the Change?

Mis Art Ave to the Change

Pip I will mistress hoping my master will go so oft to the Change, that at length he will change his mind, and use you more kindly. O, it were brave if my master could meet with a merchant of ill-ventures, to bargain with him for all his bad conditions, and he sell them outright, you should have a quieter heart, and we all a quieter house but hoping, mistress, you will pass over all these jars and squabbles in good health, as my master was at the making thereof, I commit you

Mis Art Make haste again, I prythee [east Pipkin] 'Till I see him,

My heart will never be at rest within me
My husband hath of late so much estrang'd
His words, his deeds, his heart from me,
That I can seldom have his company,
And even that seldom with such discontent,
Such frowns, such chidings, such impatience,
That did not truth and virtue arm my thoughts,
They would confound me with despair aid hate,
And make me run into extremities
Had I deserv'd the least bad look from him,
I should account myself too bad to live,
But honoring him in love and chastity,
All judgements censure freely of my wrongs

Enter Young Master Arthur, Young Master Lusam, and Piphin

Y Art Pipkin, what said she when she sent for me?

Pip 'Faith, master, she said little, but she thought more,
For she was very melancholy

Y Art Did I not tell you she was inelancholy?

For nothing else but that she sent for me And fearing I would come to dine with her

Y Lus O you mistake her even upon my soul

I durst affirm you wrong her chastity

See where she doth attend your coming home

Mis Art Come Master Arthur shall we in to dinner? Sirrah he gone and see it served in

Y Lus Will you not speak unto her?

Y Art No not I will you go in sir?

Mis Art Not speak to me ' nor once look towards me '
It is my duty to herin I know

And I will break this ice of curtesy

You are welcome home sir

Y Art Hark Master Lusam if she mock me not? You are welcome home six am I welcome home?

Good faith! I care not if I he or no

Y Lus Thus you misconstrue all things Master Arthur Look if her true love melt not into tears

Y Art She weeps but why? that I am come so soon

To hinder her of some appointed guests That in my absence revel in my house

She weeps to see me in her company

And were I absent she would laugh with joy

She weeps to make me weary of the house

knowing my heart cannot away with grief

Mis Art hasw I that murth would make you love my hed

I would enforce my heart to he more merry

Y Art Do you not hear? she would enforce her heart
All mirth is fored that she can make with me

Y Lus O misconcert, how bitter is thy taste! Sweet Master Arthur, Mistress Arthur too, Let me entreat you reconcile these jars, Odious to heaven, and most abhorr'd of men Mis Ait You are a stranger, sir, but by your words You do appear an honest gentleman If you profess to be my husband's friend, Persist in these persuasions, and be judge With all indifference in these discontents Sweet husband, if I be not fair enough To please your eye, range where you list abroad, Only, at coming home, speak me but fair If you delight to change, change when you please, So that you will not change your love to me If you delight to see me drudge and toil, I'll be your drudge, because 'tis your delight Or if you think me unworthy of the name Of your chaste wife, I will become your maid, Your slave, your servant, any thing you will, If for that name of servant, and of slave, You will but smile upon me now and then Or if, as I well think, you cannot love me, Love where you list, only but say you love me I'll feed on shadows, let the substance go Will you deny me such a small request? What, will you neither love nor flatter me? O, then, I see your hate here doth but wound me, And with that hate it is your flowns confound me Y Lus Wonder of women! why, hark you, Master Arthm 1

What is your wife a woman or a aint? \[\text{Vife or some bright angel come from here n? \]
Are you not moved at this strange spectfule?
This day I have beheld a miracle
When I attempt this sacred nuptial life.
I begof heaven to find me such a wife.
\[\text{Y Art I ha ha I a miracle a produgy!} \]
To ce a woman ween is as mirch wity.

The Main an intractive a prompy?

To ce a woman weep is as much puty. As to see foxes digg d out of their holes. If thou will pleasure me let me see thee less. Grieve much—they asy grief often shortens life. Come not too near me—till I call thee wife. And that will be but seldom—I will tell thee. How thou shalt win my heart—the suddenly. And I il become a lusty widower. The longer thy life lasts the more my hate. And loathing still increaseth towards thee. When I come home and find thee cold as earth. Then will I love thee—thus thou knows tmy mind. Come Master Lusam Let us in to dine.

3 Lus O sir you too much affect this evil
Foor saint' why wer t thou you d thus with a devil' fusile [execut) Art and) I us

Mis Art If thou wilt win my heart die suddenly t But that my soul was bought at such a rate At such a high price as my Saviour's blood I would not stick to lose it with a stab But virtue banish all such fantasies He is my husband and I love him well Next to my own soul's health I taider him And would give all the pleasures of the world, To buy his love if I might purchase it I'll follow him, and like a servant wait, And strive by all means to prevent his hate

Enter OLD MASTER ARTHUR and OLD MASTER LUSAM

- O Att This is my son's house, were it best go in, How say you, Master Lusam?
 - O Lus How, go in, how say you, sir?
 - O Art I say 'tis best
 - O Lus Aye, sir, say you so? so say I too
- O Art Nay, nay, it is not best, I'll tell you why Haply the fire of hate is quite extinct. From the dead embers, now to rake them up, Should the least spark of discontent appear, To make the flame of hatred burn afresh, The heat of this dissension might scoreh us, Which, in his own cold ashes smother'd up, May die in silence, and revive no more And therefore tell me, is it best or no?
 - O Lus How say you, sir?
 - O Art I say it is not best
 - O Lus. Mass, you say well, sii, and so say I too
- O Art But shall we lose our labour to come hither, And, without sight of our two children, Go back again? nay, we will in, that's sure
- O Lus In, quotha, do you make a doubt of that, Shall we come thus far, and in such post haste, And have our children here, and both within, And not behold them e'er our back-neturn?

. 45 .

It were unfriendly and unfatherly Come Master Arthur pray you follow me

- O Art Nay but hark you sir will you not knock?
- O Luz Is t best to knock?

O Art Aye knock in any case

- O Lus 'Twas well you put it in my mind to knock I had forgotten it else I promise you
 - O Art Tush I is t not my sons and your daughters

And shall we two stand knocking? Lead the way

O Lus Anock at our cluidren's doors! that were a jest Are we such fools to make ourselres an strange Where we should still be boldest? In for shame!

We will not stand upon such ceremnnes

The Street

Fater ANSELM and FULLER

Ful Speak in whatene sir do you find your heart Now thou hast slept a little on thy love? Ans Like one that strives to shun a little plash Of shallow water and svoiding it

Plunges into a river past his depth Like one that from a small spark steps aside And falls in headlong to a greater flame

Ful But in such fires corch not thyself for shame! If she be fire thou art so far from burning. That thou hast scarce yet warm d thee at her face. But list to me. I'll turn thy heart from love.

And make thee loath all of the feminine sex. They that have known ine, knew me once of name. To be a perfect wencher. I have tried. All sorts, all seets, all states, and find them still Inconstant, fickle, always variable. Attend me, man! I will prescribe a method. How thou shalt win her without all peradventure.

How thou shalt win her without all peradventure

Ans That would I gladly hear

Ful I was once like thee,
A sigher, melancholy, humourist,
Crosser of arms, a goer without garters,
A hatband-hater, and a busk-point* wearer,
One that did use much bracelets made of hair,
Rings on my fingers, jewels in mine ears,
And, now and then, a wench's earkanet,
That had two letters for her name in pearl
Searfs, garters, bands, wrought waistcoats, gold-stitch'd eaps,

A thousand of those female fooleries,
But when I look'd into the glass of reason, straight I began
To loath that female bravery, and henceforth Study to cry peccavi to the world

Ans I pray you, to your former argument
Preseribe a means to win my best nelov'd
Ful First, be not bashful, bar all blushing tricks,
Be not too apish female, do not come

^{*} Busk-point, the lace with its tig which secured the end of the busk, a piece of wood or whilebone worn by women in froit of the stays to I cep them straight

With foolish sonnets to present her with With legs with curtises congees and such like Nor with penn d speeches or too far fetch d sigh! I hate such antique quaint formulity

Ans Oh but I cannot watch occusion She dashes every proffer with a frown

Ful A frown a fool art thou afraid of frowns?
He that will leave occasion for a frown

Were I his judge (all you his case bemean)

Were I his juago (all you his case bemoat His doom should be ever to he alone

Ans I cannot chuse but when a wench says nay

To take her at her word and leave my sunt Ful Continue that opinion and be sure To die a virgin chaste u maiden pure

It was my chance once in my wanton days
To court a wench hark and I li tell thee how

I came unto my love and she look d co;

I spake unto my love she turn d uside I touch d my love and gan with her to toy

But she sat mute for anger or for pride I striv d and hiss d my love she cry d —away

Thou would st have left her thus I made her stay
I catch d my love and wrung her by the hand

I took my love and set her on my knee

And pull d her to me oh you spoil my band You hurt me sir pray let me go quoth she

I m glad quoth I that you have found your tongue And still my love I by the finger wrung

I ask d her if she lov d me she said no

I bad her swear she straight call for a book

Nay then, thought I, 'tis time to let her go,
I eas'd my knee, and from her cast a look
She leaves me wond'ring at these strange affairs,
And like the wind she trips me up the stairs
I left the room below, and up I went,
Finding her thrown upon her wanton bed
I ask'd the cause of her sad discontent,
Further she hes, and, making room, she said,
Now, sweeting, kiss me, having time and place;
So chings me to her with a sweet embrace

Ans Is't possible? I had not thought till now That women could dissemble Master Fuller, Here dwells the sacred mistress of my heart, Before her door I'll frame a fru'lous walk, And, spying her, with her devise some talk

Enter Young Master Arthur, Mistress Arthur, Old Master Arthur, Old Master Lusam, Young Master Lusam, and Pilkin

Ful What stir is this? let's step but out the way, And hear the utmost what these people say

O Art Thou art a knave, although thou be my son Have I with care and trouble brought thee up,
To be a staff and comfort to my age,
A pillar to support me, and a crutch
To lean on, in my second infancy,
And dost thou use me thus? Thou art a knave

O Lus A knave, aye, marry, and an arrant knave, And, sırrah, by old Master Arthur's leave, Though I be weak and old, I'll prove thee one

1 Art Sir though it be my father's pleasure thus To wrong me with the scorned name of knave I will not have you so familiar Nor so presume upon my patience

- O Lus Speak Master Arthur is he not a knave?
- O Art I say he is a knave
- O Luz Then so may I

Y Art My father may command my patience.
But you sir that are but my father in law
Shall not so mock my reputation
Sir you shall find I am an honest man
O Iut An honest man

- I Art Aye sir so I say
- O Lus Nay if you say so I Il not be against it But sir you might have us d my daughter better Than to have beat her spurn d her rail d at her Before our faces
- O Art hye therein son Arthur
 Thou shew dat thyself no better than a knave
 O Lus Aye marry did he I will stand to it
 To use my honest daughter in such sort
 He shew d humself no better than a knave
- 1 Art I say agam 1 am an honest man He wrongs me that shall say the contrary
- O Lus I grant sir that you are an honest man
 Nor will I say unto the contrary
 But wherefore do you use my daughter thus?
 Can you accuse her of unchastity
 Of loose demeanour disobedience or disloyalty?
 Speak what canst thou olycet hanst my daughter?

O Art Accuse her here she stands, spit in her face If she be guilty, in the least, of these

Mis Art O, father, be more patient, if you wrong My honest husband, all the blame be mine, Because you do it only for my sake I am his handmaid, since it is his pleasure To use me thus, I am content therewith, And bear his cheeks and crosses patiently

Y Art If, in mine own house, I can have no peace, I'll seek it elsewhere, and frequent it less Tather, I'm now past one and twenty years, I'm past my father's pamp'ring, I suck not, Nor am I dandled on my mother's knee Then, if you were my father twenty times, You shall not chuse, but let me be myself Do I come home so seldom, and that seldom Am I thus baited? Wife, remember this! Father, farewell! and, father-in-law, adicu! Your son had rather fast, than feast with you

O Art Well, go to, wild oats! spendthrift! prodigal!
I'll cross thy name quite from my reck'ning book
For these accounts, 'faith, it shall scathe thee somewhat,
I will not say what somewhat it shall be

Terit

O Lus And it shall scathe him somewhat of my purse And, daughter, I will take thee home again,
Since thus he hates thy fellowship,
Be such an eye-sore to his sight no more!
I tell thee, thou no more shall trouble him

Mis Art Will you divorce whom God hath tied toge-

Or break that knot the sacred hand of heaven Made fast betweet us? Have you never rend What a great curse was land upon his head That heads the hole bond of many area.

That breaks the holy band of marriage Divorcing husbands from their chosen wives?

Father I will not leave my Arthur so Not all my friends can make me prove his foe

- O Art I could say somewhat in my son s reproof
- O Lus Faith so could I
- O Art But till I meet him I will let it pass
- O Lut Faith so will I
- O Art Daughter farewell! with weeping eyes I part Witness these tears thy grief sits near my heart
 - O I us Weeps Master Arthur? nay then let me cry

Mis Art Fathers farewell' spend not a tear for me But for my husband's sake let these woes be For when I weep tis not for my own care But fear lest folly bring him to despair

[excunt O Art and O Lus

Y Let Sweet sant! continue still this patience.
For time will bring him to true penitence.
Mirror of virtue! thanks for my good cheer.
A thousand thanks

Mis Art It is so much too dear
But you are welcome for my husband's sake
His guests shall have best welcome I can make

Y Lus Than marriage nothing in the world more com

Nothing more rare than such a virtuous woman [exit
Mis Art My husband in this humour well I know

Plays but the unthrift, therefore, it behaves me To be the hetter housewife here at home, To save and get, whilst he doth haugh and spend Though for himself he riots it at large, My needle shall defray my household's charge

Tshe sits down to work in front of the house

Ful Now, Master Anselm, to her, step not back, Bustle yourself, see where she sits at work, Be not afraid, man, she's but a woman, And women the most cowards seldom feir Think but upon my former principles, And, twenty pound to a dream, you speed

Ans Aye, say you so?

Ful Beware of blushing, sirrah,
Of fear and too much cloquence!
Rail on her husband, his misusing her,
And make that serve thee as an argument,
That she may sooner yield to do him wrong
Were it my case, my love and I to plead,
I hav't at fingers' ends who could miss the clout
Having so fair a white, such steady aim,
This is the upshot, now bid for the game [Anselmadrances

Ans Fair mistress, God save you

Ful What a circumstance doth he begin with, what an ass is he

To tell her at the first that she was fair,
The only means to make her to be coy!
He should have rather told her she was foul,
And brought her out of love quite with herself,
And, being so, she would the less have car'd
Upon whose scerets she had laid her love

He hath almost marr'd all with that word fair

Ans Mistress God save you?

Ful What a block is that

To say God save you! is the fellow mad? Once to name God in his ungodly suit

Mis Art You are welcome sir Come you to speak

Or with my husband? pray you what s your will?

Ful She enswers to the purpose what s your will?

O zounds that I were there to answer her

Ans Mistress my wdl is not so oon exprest

Without your special favour and the promise Of love and pardon if I speak amiss

Ful O ass! O dunce! O blockhead! that hath left The plain broad high way and the readiest path

To travel round about hy circumstance He might have told his meaning in a word And now hath lost his opportunity

Never was such a truant in love s school
I am asham d that e er I was his tutor

Mis Art Sir you may freely speak whate er it be So that your speech suiteth with modesty

Ful To this now could I answer passing well

Ans Mistress I pitying that so fair a creature—

Ful Still fair and yet I warn d the contrary

Ans Should by n villain be so foully us d as you have been—

Ful Aye that was well put in

If time and place were both convenient

Ans Have made this bold intrusion to present

My love and service to your sacred self

Ful Indifferent, that was not much amiss

Mis Art Sir, what you mean by service and by love

I will not know, but what you mean by villain,

I fain would know

Ans That villain is your husband,
Whose wrongs towards you are bruited through the land
O, can you suffer at a peasant's hands,
Unworthy once to touch this silken skin,
To be so rudely beat and buffeted?
Can you endure from such infectious breath,
Able to blast your beauty, to have names
Of such impoison'd hate fluing in your face?

End. O, that we good, nothing was good but that

Ful O, that was good, nothing was good but that, That was the lesson that I taught him last

Ans O, can you hear your never tainted fame
Wounded with words of shame and infamy?
O, can you see your pleasures dealt away,
And you to be debarr'd all part of them,
And bury it in deep oblivion?
Shall your true right be still contributed
'Mongst hungry bawds, insatiate courtezans?
And can you love that villain, by whose deed
Your soul doth sigh, and your distress'd heart bleed?

Ful All this as well as I could wish myself

Mis Art Sir, I have heard thus long with patience,
If it be me you term a villain's wife,
In sooth, you have mistook me all this while,
And neither know my husband nor myself,
Or else you know not man and wife is one

If he be call d a villan what is she Whose heart and love and soul 13 one with hun? Tis pity that so fair a gentlem in Should fall into such villains company O sir take heed if you regard your life Meddle not with a villain or his wife [exit Ful O that same word villain both marr d all Ans Now where is your instruction? where s the wench? Where are my hopes? where your directions? Ful Why man in that word villain you marr'd all To come unto an honest wife and call Her husband villain! were she ne er so bad. Thou might st well think she would not brook that name For her own credit though no love to him But leave not thus but try some other mean; Let not one way thy hopes make frustrate cleau Ans I must persist my love against my will He that knows all things knows I prove this all Texeunt

A School

Frier AMINADAB will a rod in his land and Boxs, with their books

Amin Come boys come boys rehearse your parts
And thea ad prandum jam jam inexpe!

1st Boy Forsooth my lessons torn out of my book
Amin Quæ caceris chartis described dece!

Torn from your book 1 I'll tear it from your hre ch

How say you, Mistress Virga, will you suffer

His lessons, leaves, and lectures from his book?

1st Boy Truly, forsooth, I laid it in my seat,

While Robin Glade and I went into campis,

And when I came again, my book was torn

Amin O, mus, n mouse, was ever heard the like?

1st Boy O, domus, a house, master, I could not mend it

2nd Boy O, pediculus, a louse, I knew not how it came

Amin All toward boys, good scholars of their times.

The least of these is past his accidence,

Some at qui mihi, here's not a boy

But he can construe all the grammar rules

Sed ubs sunt sodales? not yet come?

Those tarde venientes shall be whipt

Ubs est Pipkin? where's that lazy knave?

He plays the truant every Saturday,

But Mistress Virga, Lady Willowhy,

Shall teach him that diluculo surgere

Est saluberrimum here comes the knave

Lnter Pipkin

1st Boy Tarde, tarde, tarde
2nd Boy Tarde, tarde, tarde
Amin Hue ades, Pipkin, reach a better rod,
Cur tam tarde venis? speak, where have you been?
Is this a time of day to come to school?
Ubi fuisti? speak, where hast thou been?
Pip Magister, quomodo vales?
Amin Is that responsio fitting my demand?

Pip Etiam certe you ask me where I have been and I say quomodo tales as much as to say come out of the ale house

Anin Untruss untruss 'nay help him help him'
Pip Queeso preceptor queeso for God's sake do not whip me

Quid est grammatica?

Amin Not whip you quid est grammatics what s that?

Pip Grammatica est that if I untruss d you must needs whip me upon them quid est grammatica

Amin Why then die milit speak where hast thou heen?

P_{IP} Forsooth my mistress sent me of an errand to fetch my master from the Exchange we had strangers at home at dinner and but for them I had not come tarde questo preceptor

Amn Construe your lesson parse it ad unguem et con demnato too I il pardon thee

Pin That I will master an if you'll give me leave

Amin Propria quæ maribus tribuuntur mascula dicas expone expone

Pip Construct master I will diess they say pro pris the proper man quæ maribus that loves marrow bones muscula miscall d me

Amin A pretty quaint and new construction

Psp I warrant you muster if there be marrow bones in my lesson I am an old dog at them. How construe you this master rostra discretis anat?

Amin Disertus a desert amat dath love rostra roast

Abeundum est milu

Pup A good construction on an empty stomach Master, now I have construed my lesson, my mistress would pray you to let me come home to go of an errand

Amin Your tres sequentur, and away
Pup Canis a liog, runa a dog, porcus a frog,

Cart

Amin Yours, sirrah, too, and then ad prandium 1st Boy Apis a bed, genu a knee, Vulcanus, Doctor Dee Viginti minus usus est mihi

Amin By Juno's hip and Saturn's thumb It was bonus, bona, bonum

2nd Boy Vitrum, glass, spica, grass, tu es asinus, you are an ass Precor tibi felicem noctem

Amm Claudite jam libros, pueri, sat prate bibistis, Look, when you come again, you tell me ubi fuistis He that minds trish-trash, and will not have care of his 10dia,

Him I will be-lish-lash, and have a fling at his poduv [excunt Boys

Enter Young Master Arthur

Y Art A pretty wench, a passing pretty wench, A sweeter duck all London cannot yield, She east a glance on me as I pass'd by, Not Helen had so ravishing an eye Here is the pedant, Sir Aminadab, I will enquire of him if he can tell, By any circumstance, whose wife she is Such fellows commonly have intercourse, Without suspicion, where we are debarr'd

God save you gentle Sir Aminadab!

Amin Salec to quoque! would you speak with me?

you are I take it and let me not lie

For as you know mentire non est meum young Master Arthur quid is what will you?

Art You are a man I much rely upon

There is a pretty wench dwells in this street

There is a pretty weach dwells in this street.

That keeps no shop nor is not public known.

At the two posts next turning of the lane I saw her from a window looking out

O could you tell me how to come nequanted

With that sweet lass you should command me sir Even to the utmost of my life and power

Amin Du boni boni ' tis my lote he means But I will keep it from this gentleman And so I hope make trial of my lote

I Art If I obtain her thou shalt win thereby More than at this time I will promise thee

Amin Quindo venus aput I shall have two horns on my

Y Art What if her husband come and find one there?
Amin Aunequam time never fear

Amin Aunequam time never feat She is numarried I swear

But if I help you to the deed

Tu vis nurrare how you speed

I Art Tell how I speed? are sir I will to you Then presently about it Many thanks

For this great kindness Sir Aminadab

Amin If my puella prote a drab

Shall die ' by what? for ego I Have never handled, I thank God,
Other weapon than a rod,
I dare not fight for all my speeches
Scd cave, if I take him thus,
Ego sum capers at untruss

A Room in Justice Reason's House

Enter Justice Reason, Old Master Arthur, Old Master Lusam, Mistress Arthur, Young Master Lusam, and Hugh

- O. Art We, master Justice Reason, come about A senous matter that concerns us near
- O Lus Aye, marry, doth it, sir, concern us near, Would God, sir, you would take some order for it
 - O Art Why, look ye, Master Lusam, you are such another,

You will be talking what concerns us near, And know not why we come to Master Justice

- O Lus How, know not I?
- O Art No, sir, not you
- O Lus Well, I knowsomewhat, though I know not that, Then on, I pray you

Justice Forward, I pray, yet the case is plain

- O Art Why, sir, as yet you do not know the case
- O Lus Well, he knows somewhat, forward, Master
 Arthur
- O Art And, as I told you, my unruly son Once having bid his wife home to my house,

There took occasion to be much aggree d About ome household matters of his own and in plain terms they fell in controversy

O Lus 'Tis true sir I was there the self-same time And I remember many of the words

O Art Lord what n man are you! you were not there.
That time as I remember you were rid

Down to the North to see some friends of yours

O Lus Well I was somewhere forward Master Arthur

Justice All this is well no fault is to be found In either of the parties pray say on

O Art Why sir I have not named the parties yet Nor touch d the fault that is complained upon

O Lus Well you touch d somewhat forward Master

O Art And as I said they fell in controversy
My son not like a husband gave her words
Of great reproof despite and contumely
Which she poor soul digested patiently
This was the first time of their falling out
As I remember at the self same time
One Thomas the Earl of Surrey's gentleman
Dind at my table

O Lus O I knew him well

O Art You are the strangest man this gentleman That I speak of I am sure you never saw

He came but lately from beyond the sea

O Lus Im sure I know one Thomas —forward sir Justice And is this all? make me a mittimus

O Art First know the offender, how began the strife Betwixt this gentlewoman and my son,
Since when, sir, he hath us'd her not like one
That should partake his bed, but like a slave
My coming was, that you, being in office

And in authority, should call before you
My unthrift son, to give him some advice,
Which he will take better from you than ine,

And send the offender straightways to the jail

That am his father Here's the gentlewoman, Wife to my son, and daughter to this man,

Whom I perforee compell'd to live with us

Justice All this is well, here is your son, you say, But she that is his wife you cannot find

Y Lus You do mistake, sir, here's the gentlewoman, It is her husband that will not be found

Justice Well, all is one, for man and wife are one, But is this all?

Y Lus Aye, all that you can say,
And much more than you can well put off

Justice Nay, if the case appear thus evident,
Give me a cup of wine What! man and wife
To disagree! I pr'ythee, fill my cup,
I could say somewhat tut, tut, by this wine,
I promise you 'tis good canary sack

Mis Art Fathers, you do me open violence, To bring my name in question, and produce This gentleman and others here to witness My husband's shame in open audience, What may my husband think when he shall know

But Master Justice here more wise than you Says little to the matter knowing well. His office is no whit concern d herein. Therefore with favor I will take my lease.

I went unto the Justice to complain

Justice The woman saith but reason Master Arthur And therefore give her licence to depart

O Lus Here is dry justice not to bid us drink Hark thee my friend I prytheelend thy cup Now Master Justice hear me but one word You think this woman hath had little wrong But by this wose which I intend to drink—

Justice Nay save your oath I pray you do not swear Or if you swear take not too deep an oath

O Lus Content you I may take a lawful oath Before a Justice therefore by this wine-

- 1 Lus A profound oath well sworn and deeply took. The better thus than swearing on a book
 - O Lus My daughter hath been wrong'd exceedingly Justice O sir I would have credited these words

Without this oath but bring your daughter hither That I may give her counsel ere you go

O Lus Marry God s blessing nn your heart for that!

Daughter give ear to Justice Reason's words

Justice Good woman or good wife nr inistress if you have done amiss it should seem you have done a fault and making a fault there's no question but you have done amiss but if you walk upro, billy and neither lead to the right hand nor the left no question but you have neither led to the right hand nor the left but as a man should say, walked uprightly, but it should appear by these plaintiffs, that you have had some wrong if you love your sponse entirely, it should seem you affect him fervently, and if he hate you monstrously, it should seem he loaths you most exceedingly, and there's the point at which I will leave, for the time passes away—therefore, to conclude, this is my best counsel, look that thy husband so fall in, that hereafter you never fall out

O Lus Good counsel, passing good instruction, Followit, daughter Now, I promise you, I have not heard such an oration This many a day What remains to do?

Y Lus Sir, I was call'd as witness to this matter, I may be gone for ought that I can see

Justice Nay, stay, my friend, we must examine you What can you say concerning this debate
Betwixt young Master Arthur and his wife?

Y Lus 'Faith, just as much, I think, as you can say, And that's just nothing

Justice How, nothing? Come, depose him, take his oath, Swear him, I say, take his confession

O Art What can you say, sir, in this doubtful case? Y Lus Why, nothing, sir

Justice We cannot take him in contrary tales, For he says nothing still, and that same nothing Is that which we have stood on all this while, He hath confest even all, for all is nothing This is your witness, he hath witness'd nothing Since nothing, then, so plainly is confess'd, And we, by cunning answers and by wit,

Have wrought him to confess nothing to us Write his confession

O Art Why what should we write? Justice Why nothing heard you not as well as I What he confess d? I say write nothing down Mistress we have dismiss door love your husband Which whilst you do you shall not hate your husband Bring him before me I will urge him with This gentleman s express confession Against you send him to me Ill not ful To keep just nothing in my memory And sir now that we have examin d you We likewise here discharge you with good leave Now Master Arthur and Master Lusain too Come in with me unless the man were here Whom most especially the cause concerns We cannot end this quarrel but come near And we will taste a glass of our March beer [exeunt

SCENE HI

4 Room a Mistress Mary & House

Enter MISTRE S MARY MISTRESS SPLAY and BRARO

Mis Ma I prother tell me Brabo what planet think st thou govern d at my conception that I live thus openly to the world?

Bra Two planets reign dat once Venus that s you And Mars that s I were in conjunction

Mis Splay Prythee prythee in faith that conjunction copulative is that fart of speech that I live by

Bia Ha, ha! to see the world! we swaggereis, That live by oaths and big-mouth'd menaees, Are now reputed for the tallest men He that hath now a black mustachio Reaching from ear to ear, or turning up, Puncto reverso, bristling towards the eye, He that can hang two handsome tools at his side, Go in disguis'd attire, wear iron enough, Is held a tall man, and a soldier He that, with greatest grace, can swear gogs-zounds 1 Or, in a tayern, make a drunken fray, Can eheat at diee, swagger in bawdy houses, Wear velvet on his face, and, with a grace, Can face it out with,—as I am a soldier! He that can clap his sword upon the board, He's a brave man, and such a man am I Mis Mu She that with kisses can both kill and cure, That lives by love, that'swears by nothing else

Mis Ma She that with kisses can both kill and cure, That lives by love, that'swears by nothing else But by a kiss, which is no common oath, That lives by lying, and yet oft tells truth, That takes most pleasure when she takes most pains, She's a good wench, my boy, and so am I

Mis Splay She that is past it, and prays for them that may—

Bia Is an old bawd, as you are, Mistress Splay

Mis Splay O, do not name that name, do you not know
That I could ne'er endure to hear that name?
But, if your man would leave us, I would read
The lesson that last night I promis'd you

Mis Ma I pr'ythee, leave us, we would be alone

Bra And will and must if you had me begone,
I will withdraw and draw on only he
That in the world a wide round dare cope with me
Mistress, farewell 1 to none I never speak
So kind a word My salutations ore—
Farewell and be hand d or in the devil a name!
What they have been my many frays can tell
You cannot fight therefore to you farewell! [cant Mit M: O this same swaggerer is the bulwork of my reputation.

But Mistress Splay now to your lecture that you promis d me

Mis Splay Daughter oftend for I will tell thee now

What in my young days I invisely have tried Be rul d by me and I will make thee rich You God he prais d ore fair and as they say Full of good parts you have been often try d To be a woman of good carriage Which in my mind is very commendable Mis Ma It is indeed forward good Mother Splay Mis Splay And as I told you being fair I wish Sweet daughter you were as fortunote When any suitor comes to ask thy love Look not into his words, but into his sleeve If thou canst learn what language his purse speaks Be rul d by that that s golden eloquence Mouey can make a slavering tongue speak plain If he that loves thee be deform d and rich Accept his love gold hides deformity Gold can make hmping Vulcan walk upright

Make squint eyes straight, a crabbed face look smooth, Gilds copper noses, makes them look like gold, Fills age's wrinkles up, and makes a face, As old as Nestor's, look as young as Cupid's If thou wilt arm thyself against all shifts, Regard all men according to their gifts This, if thou practice, thou, when I am dead, Wilt say, Old Mother Splay soft laid thy head

Mis Ma Soft, who comes here? begone, good Mistress Splay,

Of thy rules' practice this is my first day

Mis Splay God, for thy passion! what a beast am I, To seare the bird that to the net would fly! [evil

Y Art By your leave, mistiess

Mis Ma What to do, master?

Y Art To give me leave to love you

Mis Ma I had rather afford you some love to leave me Y At I would you would as soon love me, as I could leave you

Mis Ma I pray you, what are you, sin?

Y Art A man, I'll assure you

Mis Ma How should I know that?

Y Art Try me, by my word, for I say I am a man, Or, by my deed, I'll prove myself a man

Mis Ma Are you not Master Arthur?

Y Ant Not Master Arthur, but Arthur, and your servant, sweet Mistress Mary.

Mis Ua Not Mistress Mary but Mary and your hand

Y Art That I love you let my face tell you that I love you more than orthoardy let this kiss testify and that I love you ferrently and entirely ask this gift and see what it will answer you. Myself my purse and all being wholly at your service

Mis Ma That I take your love in good part my thanks shall speak for me that I am pleased with your kiss this interest of another shall certify you and that I accept your gift my prostrate service and self shall witness with me My love my lips and sweet self are at your service wilt please you to come near sir?

1 Art O that my wife were deadl here would I make My second choice would she were buried! From out her grave this margold should grow Which in my nuptials I would wear with pride Die shall she I have doom d her destury

Mis Ma Tis news Master Arthur to see you in such a

How doth your wife?

Y Art Tath Mistress Mary at the point of death And long she cannot live she shall not live To trouble me in this my second choice

Enter AMINAOAB with a bill and head piece

Mis Ma I pray forbear sir for here comes my love Good sir for this time leave me by this kiss You cannot ask the question at my hand I will deny you pray you get you gone Y Art Farewell, sweet Mistress Mary!
Mis Ma Sweet, adieu!

[eart

Amin Stand to me, bill and, head-piece, sit thou close hear my love, my wench, my duck, my dear, Is sought by many suitors, but, with this, I'll keep the door, and enter he that dare! Viiga, be gone, thy twigs I'll turn to steel, These fingers, that were expert in the jerk, Instead of lashing of the trembling podex, Must learn pash and knock, and beat and mall, Cleave pates, and caputs, he that enters here Comes on his death! more mortis he shall taste

The hides himself

Mis Ma Alas, poor fool! the pedant's mad for love! Thinks me more mad that I would marry him He's come to watch me with a justy bill, To keep my friends away by force of arms I will not see him, but stand still aside, And here observe him what he means to do Amin O, utinam, that he that loves her best, Durst offer but to touch her in this place! Per Jovem et Junonem! hoc Shall pash his coxcomb such a knock, As that his soul his course shall take To Limbo, and Avernus' lake In vain I watch in this dark hole, Would any living durst my manhood try, And offer to come up the stairs this way ' Mis Ma O, we should see you make a goodly fray Amin The wench I here watch with my bill,

Amo amus amus till

Qui audet—let him come that dare!

Death hell and himbo be his share!

Enter Brand with his a cord on his hand

Bru Where s Mistress Mary? never a post here A bar of iron gainst which to try my sword? Now by my beard a dainty piece of steel

Amin O Jove what a qualm is this I feel!

Bra Come hither Mail is none here but we two? When didst thou see the starveling school master? that rat that shrimp that spindle shank that wen that sheep biter that lean chitty face that famine that lean envy that all bones that hare anatomy that Jack a-Lent that ghost that shadow that moon in the wane

Amin I wail in woe I plunge in pain
Bra When next I find him here I II hang him up
Like a dried sausage in the chimney s top
That stock fish that poor John that gut of nien!

Anun O that I were at home again t Bra When he comes next turn him into the streets Now come let's dance the shaking of the sheets

[exeunt Mistress Mary and Brabo
Amin Qui quæ quod hence boist rous bill! come gen

Had not grimalkin stamp d and star'd Aminadab had little car d Or if instead of this brown bill I had kept my mistress Virga still And he upon another's back His points untruss'd, his breeches slack, My countenance he should not dash, For I am expert in the lash. But my sweet lass my love doth fly, Which shall make me by poison die Per fidem, I will rid my life, Lither by poison, sword, or knife.

A Room in Young Arthur's House

Later Mistri's Author and Pipkis

Mis Art Sirrah! when saw you your master?

Pip 'Faith, mistress, when I last look'd upon him

Mis Ait And when was that?

Pip When I beheld him

Mis Ail And when was that?

Pip Marry, when he was in my sight, and that was vesterday, since when I saw not my master, nor look'd on my master, nor beheld my master, nor had any sight of my master

Mis Art Was he not at my father-in-law's?

Pup Yes, marry, was he

Mis Art Didst thou not entreat him to come home?

Pip How should I, mistress? he came not there to-day

Mis Ait Didst thou not say lie was there?

Pup True, mistress, he was there, but I did not tell ye when, he hath been there divers times, but not of late

Mit Act About your husiness! here I it and wait
His coming home the it beine er so late
Now once again go look him at the Change
Or at the church with hir Aminalah
'Tis told me they use often conference;
When that is done get you to school again

Pip I had rather play the truant at home than go seek my master at chool let me see what age am I? some four and twenty and how have I profited? I was five years learning to crish cross from great 1 and fire years longer coming to I there I stuck some three years I efort I could come to Q and so in proce sof time I came to e persee and com per se and tittle then I got to a e I o ur ofter to our father and in the exteenth year of my age and the fifteenth of my going to school I am in good time gotten to a noun by the same token there my hose went down then I got to a verb there I began first to have a beard then I came to use usta usual there my master whipp d me till he fetch d the blood and so forth so that now I am become the greatest scholar in the school for I am bigger than two or three of them. But I ain gone fare well nustress! Czit

Ful Love none at oll they will forswear themselves and when you urge them with it their replies

Cl lit-cross th lphabet.

Are, that Jove laughs at lovers' perjuries Ans You told me of a jest concerning that, I pr'ythee, let me liear it Ful That thou shalt My mistress in a humour had protested, That above all the world slie lov'd me best, Saying, with sintors she was oft molested, And she had loag'd her heart within my breast, And sware (but me) both by her mask and fan, She never would so much as name a man Not name a man? quoth I, yet be advis'd, Not love a man but me i let it be so You shall not think, quoth she, my thought's disguis'd In flattering language, or dissembling show, I say again, and I know what I do, I will not name a man alive but you Into her house I came at unaware. Her back was to me, and I was not seen, I stole behind her 'till I had her fair, Then with my hands I closed both her een, She, blinded thus, beginneth to bethink her Which of her loves it was that did hoodwink her First she begins to guess and name a man That I well knew, but she had known far better, The next I never did suspect till then Still of my name I could not hear a letter. Then mad, she did name Robin, and then James, 'Till she had reekon'd up some twenty names, At length, when she had counted up a score, As one among the rest, she lut on me,

I a k d her if she could not reckon more
And pluck d away my hands to let her see
But when she look d back and taw me behind her
She blush d and ask d if it were I did hlind her?
And since I sware hoth ly her inask and fan
To trist no she tongue that can name a man

Ans Your great oath hath some exceptions
But to our former purpo c; yon Is Mistress Arthur
We will attempt another kind of wooing
And make her hate her husband if we can ful But not a word of passion or of fore;

Enter Mistacas Anniun

God save you mistress !

Mu Art You are welcome six

Ful I pray you where s your husband?

Mit Art Not within

Have at her now to try her patience

Ans Who Master Arthur? him I saw even no v

Mu Art Wrong not my husband s reputation so I neither can nor will believe you sir Ful Poor gentlewoman! how much I pity you

Ful Poor gentlewoman! how much I pitv you
Your husband is become her only guest
He lodges there and daily diets there
He riots revels and doth all things
Nay he is held the Master of Misrule
Vongst a most loathed and nbhorred erew
And can you being a woman suffer this?
Miss Art. Sir sir! I understand you well enough

Admit my husband doth frequent that house Of such dishonest usage, I suppose He doth it but in zeal to bring them home, By his good counsel, from that course of sin, And, like a Christian, seeing them astray In the broad path that to damnation leads, He useth thither to direct their feet Into the narrow way that gindes to heaven

Ans Was ever woman gull'd so palpably! But, Mistress Arthur, think you as you say?

Mis Art Sir, what I think, I think, and what I say I would I could enjoin you to believe

Ans 'Faith, Mistress Arthur, I am sorry for you, And, in good sooth I wish it lay in me
To remedy the least part of these wrongs
Your unkind husband daily proffers you

Mis Art You are deceived, he is not unkind, Although he bear an ontward face of hate, His heart and soul are both assured mine

Ans Fie, Mistress Arthur! take a better spirit, Be not so timorous to rehearse your wrongs. I say, your husband haunts bad company, Swaggerers, cheaters, wanton comtezans, There he defiles his body, stains his soul, Consumes his wealth, undoes himself and you, In danger of diseases, whose vile names. Are not for any honest months to speak, Nor any chaste ears to receive and hear. O he will bring that face, admir'd for heauty, To be more loathed than a lep'rous skin!

Serit

Dirarce vourself now whilst the clouds gro v black Prepare yourself a shelter for the storm; Abandon his most loathed fellowship You are young mistress will you lo e your youth? Mis Art Tempt no more devill the deformity Hath chang d it elf into an angel s shane But yet I know thee by thy course of speech Thou get st an apple to betray poor I ve Whose outside bears a show of plea ant fruit; But the vile branch on which this apple grew Was that which drew poor I've from I armine The Syren's song could make me drown myself But I am tied unto the ma t of truth Admit my husband be melin d to vice My virtues may in time recall him home But if we both should desprate run to ain We should abide certain destruction But he s like one that over a sweet face Puts a deformed vizard r for his soul Is free from any such intents of ill Only to try my patience he puts on An ugly shape of black intemperance Therefore this blot of shaine which he now wears I with my prayers will purge wash with my tears Ans Fuller 1

Ful Anselm !

I like it us the thing I most do loath
What wilt thou do? for shame, persist no more
In this extremity of frivolous love
I see, my doctrine moves no precise ears
But such as are profess'd mamoratos
Ans O, I shall the!
Ful Tush! live to laugh a little
Here's the best subject that thy love affords,
Listen awhile and hear this ho, boy! speak

Enter Aminadab

Amin Attend me, sir,—I have a simple house,
But, as the learned Diogenes saith
In his epistle to Tertullian,
It is extremely troubled with great rats,
I have no mus puss, nor grey-ey'd eat,
To hunt them out O, could your learned at the Shew me a means how I might poison them,
Thus dum suus, Sir Aminadab
Ful With all my heart, I am no rat catcher,
But, if you need a poison, here is that

But, if you need a poison, here is that
Will pepper both your dogs, and rats, and eats
Nay, spare your purse, I give this in good will,
And, as it proves, I pray you send to me,
And let me know would you aught else with me?

Anun Minime anidem, here's that you say will to

Amin Minime quidem, here's that you say will take them,

A thousand thanks, sweet sn, I say to you,

As Tully in his Æsop's Fables said,

Ago tibi gratias, so farewell vale for the Ful Adieu Come, let us go, I long to see

What the event of this new jest will be

Enter Young Arthur

Y Ant Good morrow, gentlemen, saw you not this way,

As you were walking, Sir Aminadab?

Ans Master Arthur as I take it

Ans Sir I desire your more familiar love Would I could bid myself unto your house For I have wish d for your acquaintance ling

Y Art Sweet Master Anselm I desire yours too Will you come dine with me at home to-morrow? You shall be welcome I assure you sir

Ans I fear sir I shall prove too hold a guest

Y Art You shall be welcome if you bring your friend Ful O Lord sir we shall be too troublesome

Y Art Nay now I will enforce a promise from you Shall I expect you?

Ful Yes with all my heart

Ans A thousand thanks \ \ \ \text{I onder's the schoolmaster} \ \ \text{So} \ \ \text{till to-morrow twenty times farewell} \ \end{aligned}

Y Art I double all your farewells twenty fold
Ant O this acquaintance was well scrap d of me
By this my love to morrow I shall see

[exeunt Anselm and Fuller

Enter Amenadan

Amin This poison shall by force expel
Amorem love infernum hell
Per hoc venenum ego I
For my sweet lovely lass will die

1 Art. What do I hear of pmson? which sweet means Must make me a brave frolie widower
It seems the doating fool heing farlorn
Hath got some compound mixture in despair

To end his desperate fortines and his life,
I'll get it from him, and with this make way
To my wife's night and to my love's fair day

Amin In nomine domini, friends, farewell!
I know death comes, here's such a smell!

Pater et mater, father and mother,

Frater et soror, sister and brother,
And my sweet Mary, not these drigs
Do send me to the infernal bigs,
But thy unkindness, so, adien!
Hob-goblins, now I come to you

Y Art Hold, man, I say! what will the madman do? [takes away the supposed poison

Taside

Aye, have I got thee? thou shalt go with me No more of that, fie, Sir Minadab, Destroy yourself! If I but hear hereafter You practice such revenge upon yourself, All your friends shall know that for a wench, A paltry wench, you would have kill'd yourself Amin O tace, quæso, do not name This frantic deed of mine, for shame My sweet magister, not a word, I'll neither drown me in a ford. Nor give my neck such a scope, T' embrace it with a hempen rope, I'll die no way 'till nature will me, And death come with his dart and kill me, If what is past you will conceal, And nothing to the world reveal, Nay, as Quintillian said of vore.

I ll strive to kill myself no more

1 Art On that condition I II conceal this deed To-morrow pray come and dine with me; For I have many strangers monget the rest Some are desirous of your company You will not fail me?

Amin No in south

Ill try the sharpness of my tooth
Instead of poison I will cat
Rabbits capons and such meat
And so as Pythagoras says
With wholesome fare prolong my dnys
But sir will mistress Mall be there t

Y Art She shall she shall man never fear Amin Then my spirit becomes stronger And I will live and stretch longer:

For Oad said and did not lie

That poison d men do often die But poison henceforth I ll not eat

Whilst I can other victuals get To-morrow if you make n feast

Be sure sir I will be your guest

But keep my counsel rale tu t

And till to-morrow sir adieu t

At your table I will prove

If I can eat nway my love

Y Art O I am glad I have thee naw decise

A way how to bestow it cunningly It shall be thus to morrow I'll pretend A reconcilement twist my wife and me [exit

And, to that end, I will invite thus many —
First, Justice Reason, as the chief man there,
My father Arthur, Old Lusam, Young Lusam, Master
Fuller,

And Master Anselm, I have bid already, Then will I have my lovely Mary too, Be it but to spite my wife before she die, For die she shall before to-morrow night The operation of this poison is Not suddenly to kill, they that take it Fall in a sleep, and then 'tis past recure, And this will I put in her cup to-morrow

Enter Pipkin, running

Pip This 'tis to have such a master! I have sought him at the 'Change, at the school, at every place, but I cannot find him no where O, cry mercy! my mistress would intreat you to come home

Y Art I cannot come to-night, some urgent business Will all this night employ me otherwise

Pup I believe, my mistiess would eon you as much thank to do that business at home as abroad

Y Art Here, take my purse, and bid my wife provide Good cheer against to-morrow, there will be Two or three strangers of my late acquaintance Sirrah, go you to Justice Reason's house, Invite him first with all solemnity, Go to my father's, and my father-in-law's, Here, take this note

The rest that come I will invite myself

About it with what quick dispatch thou can st

Ptp I warrant you master III dispatch this business with more honesty than you II dispatch yours. But master will the gentlewoman be there?

I Art What gentlewoman?

Pip The gentlewoman of the old house that is as well known by the colour she lays on her cheeks as an ale house by the painting is laid on his lattice—she that is like homo common to all men—she that is heholden to no trade but lives of herself

I Art Sirrah begone or I will send you hence

Psp I II go but by this band I II tell my mistress as soon as I come home that mistress hoth heels comes to dinnel to morrow [exit

I Art Sweet Mistress Mary III invite myself
And there III frohe sup and spend the night
My plot is current here its in my hand
Will make me happy in my second choice
And I may freely challence as mine own
What I am now enfore d to seek by stealth
Love is not much unlike ambition
For in them both all lets must be remov d
Twirt evry crown and him that would aspire
And be that will attempt to win the same
Must plunge up to the depth o er head and ears
And hazard drowning in that purple sea
So he that loves must needs through blood and fire
And do all things to compass his desire

A Room in Young Arthur's House

Enter Mistrlss Arthur and her Maid

Mis Art Come, spread the table, is the hall well rubb'd?

The cushions in the windows neatly laid?

The cupboard of plate set out? the casements stuck

With rosemary and flowers? the earpets brush'd?

Maid Aye, for sooth, mistress

Mis Art Look to the kitchen-maid, and bid the cook take down the oven stone, the pies be burn'd here, take my keys, and give him out more spice

Maid Yes, forsooth, mistress

Mis Art Where's that knave Pipkin; bid Imm spread the cloth,

Fetch the clean diaper naphins from my elest, Set out the gilded salt, and bid the fellow Make himself handsome, get him a clean band

Maid Indeed, forsooth, mistress, he is such a sloven, That nothing will sit handsome about him, He had a pound of soap to seour his face,

And yet his brow looks like the chimney stock

Mis Art He'll be a sloven still maid, take this aprou, And bring me one of linen, quickly, maid

Maid I go, forsooth

Mis Art There was a curt'sy, let me see't again, Aye, that was well — [eart Maid] I fear my guests will come

Ere we be ready What a spite is this

Within Mistress *

Mis Art What's the matter?

Within Mistress I pray take Pipkin from the fire We cannot keep his fingers from the roast

Mis Art Bid him come hither what a knave is that! Fie fie never out of the kitchen! Still broiling by the fire!

Enter PIPLIN

Pip I hope you will not take Pipkin from the fire Till the broth be enough

Enter MAID with an apron

Mis Art Well sırrah get a naplın and a trencher And wait to-day So let me see my apron

P.p Mistress I can tell ye one thing my master's

Will come home to-day to dinner

Enter Justice Reason and his man Hurt

Mis Art She shall be welcome if she he his guest But here s some of our guests are come already A chair for Justice Reason sirrah!

Justice Good morrow Mistress Arthur' you are like a good housewife

At your request I am come home What a chair!
Thus age seeks ease Where is your husband mistress?
What a cushion too!

Pip I pray you, ease your tail, sir

Justice Marry, and will, good fellow, twenty thanks

Pip Master Hugh, as welcome as heart can tell, or tongue can think

Hugh I thank you, Master Pipkin, I have got many a good dish of broth by your means

Pip According to the ancient courtesy you are welcome, according to the time and place you are heartily welcome when they are busied at the board, we will find ourselves busied in the buttery, and so, sweet Hugh, according to our scholars' phrase, gratulor adventum tuum

Hugh I will answer you with the like, sweet Pipkin, gratias

Pip As much grace as you will, but as little of it as you can, good Hugh But here comes more guests

Enter OLD MASTER ARTHUR, and OLD MASTER LUSAM

Mis Art More stools and cushions for these gentlemen O Art What, Master Justice Reason, are you here?

Who would have thought to have met you in this place?

O Lus What say mine eyes, is Justice Reason here? Mountains may meet, and so, I see, may we

Justice Well! when men meet, they meet, And when they part they oft leave one another's company, So we, being met, are met

O Lus Truly, you say true, And Master Justice Reason speaks but reason To hear how wisely men of law will speak!

Enter ANSELM and FULLER

Ans Cood morrow gentlemen!

Mis Art What! are you there?

Ans Good morrow matress and good morrow all!

Justice If I may be so bold in a strange place
I say good morrow and as much to you
I pray gentlemen will you sit down?

We have been young like you and if you live

Unto our age you will be old like us

Ful Be rul d by reason but who s here?

Frier AMINADAB

Amin Saliete omnes' and good day
To all at once as I may say
First Master Justice next Old Arthur
That gives me pension by the quarter
To my good mistress and the rest
That are the founders of this feast
In brief I speak to omnes all
That to their meat intend to fall

Justice Welcome Sir Aminadab O my son Hath profited exceeding well with you Sit down at down by Mistress Arthur's leave

Finter Young Master Arthur Young Master Lusam and Mistress Mary

I Art Gentlemen welcome all whilst I deliver Their private welcomes wife be it your charge To give this wentlewoman entertainment Mis Art Hushand, I will Oh, this is she usurps
The precious interest of my husband's love,
Though, as I am a woman, I could well
Thrust such a lewd companion out of doors,
Yet, as I am a true obedient wife,
I'd kiss her feet to do my husband's will
You are entirely welcome, gentlewoman,
Indeed, you are, pray do not doubt of it

Mis Ma I thank you, Mistress Arthur, now, by my little honesty,

It much repents me to wrong so chaste a woman [aside Y Art Gentles, put o'er your legs, first, Master Justice,

Here you shall sit

Justice And here shall Mistress Mary sit by me
Y Art Pardou me, sir, she shall have my wife's place
Mis Art Indeed, you shall, for he will have it so Mis Ma If you will needs, but I shall do you wrong to take your place

O Lus Aye, by my faith, you should

Mis Art That is no wrong which we impute no wrong!

I pray you, sit

Y Art Gentlemen all, I pray you, seat yourselves What, Sir Aminadab, I know where your heart is Amin Mum, not a word, pai vobis, peace Come, gentles, I'll be of this mess

Y Art So, who gives thanks? Amin Sir, that will I

Y Art I pray you to it by and by where's Pipkin? Wait at the board, let Master Reason's man

O Art Daughter, methinks you are exceeding sad
 O Lus 'Faith, daughter, so thou art exceeding sad
 Mis Art 'Tis but my countenance, for my heart is merry

Mistress, were you as merry as you are welcome, You should not sit so sadly as you do

Mis Ma 'Tis but because I am scated in your place, Which is frequented seldom with true mith

Mis Art The fault is neither in the place nor me Amin How say you, lady, to him you last did lie by? All this is no more, præbibo tibi

Mis Ma I thank you, sir Mistiess, this diaught shall be,

To him that loves I oth you and me

Mis Art I know your meaning

Ans Now to me

If she have either love or charity

Mu Art. Here Master Justice this to your grave yearA mournful draught. God wor half wine half tears. [ande.
Justice. Let come my wench here youngsters to you...

You are silent here s that will make you talk Wenches methinks you sit like puritans Never a jest abroad to make them laugh?

Ful Sir since you move speech of a puritan If you will give me audience I will tell ye

As good a jest as ever you did hear

O Art A jest? that s excellent?

O Art A jest t that a excellent:
Justice Before hand let's prepare ourselves to lauvil
A jest is nothing if it be not grae d
Now now I pray you when begins this jest?

Ful I came unto a puritan to woo her
And roughly did salute her with a liss
Away! quoth she and rudely push d me from her Brother by yea and may I like not this
And still with amorous talk she was saluted
My artless speech with Scripture was confuted
O Lus Good good indeed the best that e er I heard

O Art I promise you it was exceeding good Ful Oft I frequented her abode by might And courted her and spake her wond rous fair But ever somewhat did offend her sight Either my double ruff or my long hair.

My scarf was vain, my garments hung too low, My Spanish shoe was cut too broad at toe

All Ha, ha! the best that ever I heard
Ful I parted for that time, and came again,
Seeming to be conform'd in look and speech,
My shoes were sharp-toed, and my band was plain,
Close to my thigh my metamorphos'd breech,
My cloak was narrow cap'd, my hair cut shorter,

All Ha, ha! was ever heard the like?

Off went my searf, thus march'd I to the porter

Ful The porter, spying me, did lead me in, Where his fair mistress sate reading of a chapter, Peace to this house, quoth I, and those within, Which holy speech with admiration wrapt her, And ever as I spake, and came her nigh, Seeming divine, turn'd up the white of eye

Justice So, so, what then?

O Lus Forward, I pray, forward, sir

Ful I spake divincly, and I call'd her sister,
And by this means we were acquainted well
By yea and nay, I will, quoth I, and kiss'd her,
She blush'd, and said, that long-tongu'd men would tell,
I seem'd to be as secret as the night,

And said, on sooth, I would put out the light

O Art In sooth he would, a passing, passing jest Ful O, do not swear, quoth she, yet put it out, Because I would not have you break your oath I felt a bed there, as I grop'd about, In troth, quoth I, here will we rest us both Swear you, in troth, quoth she? had you not swoin,

I had not don't but took it in foul scorn
Then you will come quoth I? though I he loath
Ill come quoth she be t but to keep your oath
Justee This very pretty; but now when s the jest?
O Art O forward to the jest in any case
O Lus I would not for an angel lose the jest
Ful Here's right the dunghill cock that finds a pearl
To talk of wit to these is as a man
Should cast out jewels to a herd of swine
Why in the last words? he had!
It was an excellent admir'd jest

Enter Young Master Anthon with two crys of wine

To them that understood it

Justice It was indeed I must for fashion's sake Say as they say but otherwise O God! [aside Good Master Arthur thanks for our good cheer Y Art Gentlemen welcome all now hear me speak—

One special cause that moved me lead you hither Is for an ancient grudge that hath long since Continued twixt my modest wife and me
The wrongs that I have done her I recant
In either hand I hold a sev'ral cup
This in the right hand wife I drink to thee
This in the left hand pledge me in this draught
Burying all former hatred so have to thee [he drinks
Mis Art The welcom st pledge that yet I ever took Were this wine poison or did taste like gall
The honey sweet condition of your draught

Would make it drink like neetar I will pledge you, Weie it the last that I should ever drink

Y Art Make that account thus, gentlemen, you see Our late discord brought to a unity

Amın Ecce, quam bonum et quam jucundum Est habitare frati es in unum

O Art My heart doth taste the sweetness of your pledge, And I am glad to see this sweet accord

O Lus Glad, quotha, there's not one amongst us, But may be exceeding glad

Justice I am, aye, marry, am I, that I am
Y Lus The best accord that could betide their loves
Ans The worst accord that could betide my love
[all about to rise]

Amm What, rising, gentles? keep your place, I'll close up your stomachs with a grace, O Domme et chare Pater,
That giv'st us wine instead of water,
And from the pond and river clear,
Mak'st nappy ale, and good March beer,
That send'st us sundry sorts of meat,
And every thing we drink or eat,
To maids, to wives, to boys, to men,
Laus Deo sancto, Amen

Y Art So, much good do ye all, and, gentlemen, Accept your welcomes better than your cheer O Lus Nay, so we do, I'll give you thanks for all Come, Master Justice, you do walk our way, And Master Arthur, and old Hugh your man, We'll be the first will strain cuitesy

ACT IV SCENE I

The Street

Enter Anselm

Ans What frantic humour doth thus haunt my sense,
Striving to breed destruction in my spirit?
When I would sleep, the ghost of my sweet love Appears unto me in an angel's shape
When I'm awake, my fantasy presents,
As in a glass, the shadow of my love
When I would speak, her name intrudes itself
Into the perfect echoes of my speech
And though my thought beget some other word,
Yet will my tongue speak nothing but her name
If I do meditate, it is on her,
If dream of her, or if discourse of her,
I think her ghost doth haunt me, as in times
Of former darkness old wives' tales report

My coming is with no intent of sin.

Or to defile the body of the dead, But rather take my last farewell of her, Or languishing and dying by her side, My airy soul post after her's to heaven

[comes to Mistress Athur's tomb

First, with this latest kiss I seal my love
Her hips are warm, and I ain much decen'd
If that she stir not O, this Golgotha,
This place of dead men's bones, is terrible,
Presenting fearful apparitions!
It is some spirit that in the coffin lies,
And makes my hair start up on end with fear!
Come to thyself, faint heart,—she sits upright!
O, I would hide me, but I know not where Tush, if it be a spirit, 'tis a good spirit,
For, with her body living, ill she knew not,
And, with her body dead, ill cannot meddle

Mis Art Who am I? or, where am I?

Ans O, she speaks, and, by her language, now I know she hies

Mis Art O, who can tell me where I am become? For, in this darkness, I have lost myself, I am not dead, for I have sense and life How come I then in this coffin buried?

Ans Anselm, be bold, she lives, and destiny Hath train'd thee hither to redeem her life

Mis Art Lives any 'mongst these dead' none but my-self

Ans O, yes, a man whose heart till now was dead, Lives and survives at your return to life

Nay start not I am Anselm one who long Hath doted on your fair perfection And losing you incretion became me well Was bither sent by some strange providence To bring you from these hollow vaults below To be a liver in the world again

Y Att What, Mistress Mary?

Mis Ma O good Master Arthur, where have you been this week, this month, this year?

This year, said I? where have you been this age?
Unto a lover, ev'ry initiate seems time out of initid
How should I think you love me, that can endure to stay so long from me?

Y Art I'faith, sweetheart, I saw thee yesternight
Mis Ma Aye, true, you did, but since you saw me not,
At twelve o'clock you parted from my house,
And now 'tis morning, and new strucken seven,
Seven hours thou staid'st from me, why didst thou so'
They are my seven years' 'prenticeship of woe

Y Att I pr'ythee, be patient, I had some occasion That did enforce me from thee yesternight

Mis Ma Aye, you are soon enfore'd, fool that I am, To doat on one that nought respecteth me ''Tis but my fortune, I am boin to bear it, And ev'ry one shall have their destiny

Y Art Nay, weep not, wench, thou wound'st me with thy tears

Mis Ma I am a fool, and so you make me too, These tears were better kept than spent in waste On one that neither tenders them nor me, What remedy? but if I chance to die, Or to miscarry with that I go withal, I'll take my oath* that thou art cause thereof, You told me, that when your wife was dead,

^{*} Printed death in all the editions

You would forsake all others and take me

Art I told thee so and I will keep my word And for that end I came thus early to thee I have procur'd a licence ond this night We will be married in a lawless church

Ans Tis true as I relate the circumstance And she is with my mother safe at home

But yet, for all the hate I can allege Against her husband, nor for all the love That on my own part I can urge her to, Will she be won to gratify my love.

Ful All things are full of ambiguity,
And I admire this wond'rous accident
But, Anselm, Arthur's about a new wife, a bona roba,
How will she take it when she hears this news?

Ans I think, even as a virtuous matron should, It may be, that report may, from thy mouth, Beget some pity from her flinty heart, And I will urge her with it presently

Ful Unless report be false, they are link'd already, They are fast as words can tie them. I will tell thee How I, by chance, did meet him the last night -One said to me, this Arthur did intend To have a wife, and presently to marry, Amidst the street I met him as my friend, And to his love a present he did carry, It was some ring, some stomacher, or toy, I spake to him, and bade God give him joy God give me joy, quoth he, of what, I pray? Marry, quoth I, your wedding that is toward 'Tis false, quoth he, and would have gone his way Come, come, quotin I, so near it and so froward I urg'd him hard by our familiar loves, Pray'd him, withal, not to forget my gloves Then he began -your kindness hath been great, Your courtesy great, and your love not common, Yet so much favor pray let me entreat,

To be excus d from marrying ony woman I knew the neach that is become his bride And smil d to think how deeply he hod hed For first he swore he did not court a maid A wife he could not she was elsewhere tied And as for such as widows were he said And deeply swore none such should be his bride Widow nor wife nor maid I osk d no more knowing he was betroth d unto a whore

Ans Is it not Mistress Mary that you mean? She that did dine with us of Arthur's house?

Enter MISTRESS ARTHUR

Ful The same the some -here comes the gentle

Oh Mistress Arthur I om of your counsel

Ans Mistress this gentleman hath news to tell ye

And as you like of it so think of me

Ful Your husband hath already got a wife A huffing wench 1 faith whose ruffling silks

Make with their motion music unto love And you are quite forgotten

Ans I ve sivorn to move this my unchaste demand no

Ful When doth your colour change?
When do your eyes sparkle with fire to revenge these wrongs?

When doth your tongue break into rage and wrath Against that seum of manhood your yile husband?

He first misus'd you

Ans And yet can you love him?

Ful He left your chaste bed, to defile the bed

Of sacred marriage with a courteran

Ans Yet can you love him?

Ful And not content with this,

Abus'd your honest name with sland'rous words,

And fill'd your hush'd house with unquietness

Ans And can you love him yet?

Ful Nay, did he not, with his rude fingers, dash you on the face,

And double-dye your coral lips with blood?
Hath he not torn those gold wires from your head,
Wherewith Apollo would have string his harp,
And kept them to play music to the gods?
Hath he not beat you, and with his rude fists
Upon that crimson temperature of your cheeks,
Laid a lead colour with his boist'rous blows?

Ans And can you love him yet?

Ful Then did he not,

Either by poison, or some other plot, Send you to death, where, by his providence, God hath preserved you by wond'rous miraele? Nay, after death, hath he not scandahz'd Your place with an immodest courtezan?

Ans And can you love him yet?

Mis Art And yet, and yet, and still, and ever whilst I breathe this air

Nay, after death, my unsubstantial soul, Like a good angel, shall attend on him, And keep him from all harm
But is he married? much good do his heart
Pray God she may content him better far
Flian I have done long may they live in peace
Till I disturb their solace—but because I fear some mischief doth hang o er his head
I II weep my eyes dry with my present care
And for their healths make hoarse my tonguo with prayer

[cent

Ful Art sure sho 1 a woman? If she be
She is create of nature s purity

Ans O yes I too well know she is o woman
Henceforth my virtue shall my love withstand
And of my striving thoughts get the upper land

Y Art Where art thou, patience?
Nay, rather, where's become my former spleen?
I had a wife would not have us'd me so

Mis Ma Why, you Jacksauce ' you cuckold ' you what not '

What, am I not of age sufficient
To go and come still when my pleasure serves,
But must I have you, sir, to question me?
Not have my will 'yes, I will have my will

Y Art I had a wife would not have us'd me so, But she is dead

Bra Not have her will, sir! she shall have her will she says she will, and, sir, I say she shall Not have her will! that were a jest indeed, Who says she shall not? if I be dispos'd To man her forth, who shall find fault with it? What's he that dare say black's her eye? Though you be married, sir, yet you must know, That she was ever born to have her will!

Mis Splay Not have her will! God's passion! I say

A woman's nobody that wants her will.

still.

Y Art Where is my spirit? what, shall I maintain A strumpet with a Brabo and her bawd,
To beard me out of my authority?
What, am I from a master made a slave?

Mis Ma A slave? may, worse, dost thou maintain my man,

And this my maid? 'tis I maintain them both I am thy wife, I will not be drest so

While thy gold lasts but then most willingly I will bequeath thee to flat beggary
I do already hate thee do thy worst

Pip Who, me? Turn me out of doors? Is this all the wages I shall have at the year's end, to be turned out of doors? You, mistress! you are a

Mis Splay A what? speak, a what? touch her and touch me, taint her and taint me, speak, speak, a what?

Pip Marry, a woman that is kin to the frost

Mis Splay How do you mean that?

Pip And you are a-kin to the Latin word, to understand Mis Splay And what's that?

Pip Subaudi, subaudi, and, sir, do you not use to pink doublets?

Mis Splay And why?

Pip I took you for a cutter, you are of a great kindred, you are a common cozener, every body calls you cousin, besides, they say you are a very good warrener, you have been an old concy catcher but, if I be turn'd a begging, as I know not what I am born to, and that you ever come to the said trade, as nothing is unpossible, I'll set all the commonwealth of beggars on your back, and all the congregation of vermin shall be put to your keeping, and then, if you be not more bitten than all the company of beggars besides, I'll not have my will zounds! turn'd out of doors! I'll go and set up my trade, a dish to drink in, that I have within a wallet that III make of an old shirt then my speech for the Lords sake I I esceeh your worship then I must have alsone leg. I II go to foot! all and break my shins and I am provided for that

Bea What! stands the viliain prating t hence you slave! [exit Pipkin

1 Art Art thou yet pleas d? Vis Va When I have had my humour

2 Act Good friends for manners sake awhile withdraw

Bra It is our pleasure six to stand aside
[Miltress Splay and Bra's stand aside

I Art Mary what cause hast thou to use me thus? From nothing I have rais d thee to much wealth; Twas more than I did one thee many a pound Not many a hundred pound I spent on thee In my wife s time; and once but ly my means Thou hadst been in much danger but in all things My purse and credit ever bare thee out I did not owe thee this I had a wife That would have laid berself beneath my feet To do me service; her I set at naught For the entire affection I I are thee To show that I have loved thee have I not Above all women made chief choice of thee? An argument sufficient of my love: What reason then hast thou to wrom me thus? Mis Ma It is my humour

It is ny humour

Act O but such humours honest wises should purke

I'll show thee a far greater instance yet. Of the true love that I have borne to thee Thom knew'st my wife was she not fair?

Mis Ma 50, 50

Y Art But more than fair, was she not virtuous? Endued with the heauty of the mind?

Mrs Ma Taith, so they said

I' Art Hark, in thine ear! Pll trust thre with my life, Than which what greater instance of my lave. Than knew'st full well how suddenly she died.—
T'enjoy thy love, even then I noison'd her.

Mis Ma Haw 1 paison'd her? accursed murderer! I'll ring this fatal 'larum in all cars,

Than which what greater instance of my hate?

Y Art Wilt thou not keep my counsel?

Mis Ma Villam, not thou'lt poison me, as thou hast poison'd her

Y Art Dost thon reward me thus for all my lave?
Then, Arthur, fly, and seek to save the life!
O, difference 'twist a chaste and unchaste wife!

Mis Ma Pursue the mard'rer, apprehend him straight
Bra Why, what's the matter, mistress?
Mis Ma This villam Arthur poison'd his first wife,
Which he, in secret, buth canfess'd to me,
Go and fetch warrants from the justices
T' attach the mard'rer; he once hang'd and dead,
His wealth is mine—pursue the slave that's fled

Bia Mistress, I will, he shall not pass this land, But I will bring him bound with this strong hand

SCENL II

The Street b fore the House of Anselm's Mother

Enter MISTRESS ARTHUR

He Art O what are the vain pleasures of the world That in their actions we affect them so? Had I been born a seriant my low life. Had steady stood from all these miseries. The waring reeds stand free from every gust. When the tall oaks are reat up by the roots. What is vain beauty but an idle breath? Why are we proud of that which so soon changes? But rather wish the beauty of the mind. Which neither time can alter aickness change. Violence deface nor the black hand of envy. Smudge and disgrace or spoil or make deform it. O had my riotous husband borne this mind. He had been happy. I had been more blest. And peace had brought our quiet souls to rest.

Enter Young MASTER ARTHUI

I Art O whither shall I fly to save my life.
When murder and despair dogs at my heels?
O misery! thou never found at a friend
All friends forsake men in adversity
My brother hath denied to succour me
Upbraiding me with name of murderer
My uncle double bar their doors a, unit me

My father hath denied to shelter me, And eurs'd me worse than Adam did vile Eve I that, within these two days, had more friends Than I could number with arithmetic. Have now no more than one poor expher is, And that poor cypher I supply myself All that I durst commit my fortunes to, I have tried, and find none to relieve my wants My sudden flight, and fear of future shaine, Left me unfurnish'd of all necessaries, And these three days I have not tasted food Mis Art It is my husband; O, how just is heaven!

Poorly disguis'd, and almost lunger-starv'd! How comes this change?

Y Art Doth no man follow me? O how suspicious guilty murder is 1 I starve for hunger, and I die for thirst Had I a kingdom I would sell my crown For a small bit of bread I shame to beg, And yet, perforce, I must or beg or starve This house, belike, 'longs to some gentlewoman, And here's a woman, I will beg of her, Good mistress, look upon a poor man's wants Whom do I see; tush! Arthur, she is dead But that I saw her dead and buried, I would have sworn it had been Arthur's wife, But I will leave her, shame forbids inc beg Of one so much resembles her

Mis Art Come hither, fellow! wherefore dost thou tın n

Thy guilty looks and blushian, face aside? It seems thou hust not been brought up to the 1 Art You say true mistress then for charity And for her sake whom you resemble most Pity my present want and misery.

Mis Art It seems thou bast been in some better plicht, Sit down I prythe men though they be poor Should not be seem d to ease thy hunger first Eat these conserves and now I prythee tell me What thou hast been thy fortunes thy estate

And what she was that I resemble most

1 Art First look that no man see or overbear us I think that shape was born to do me good

Mis Art Hast thou known one that did resemble me?
Y Art We mistress I cannot chuse but weep

To call to mad the fortunes of her youth

Mis Art Tell me of what estate or birth was she

Y Art Born of good parents and as well brought up

Most fair but not so fair as virtuous

Happy in all things but her marriage

Her riotous husband which I weep to think By his lead life made them both miscarry

Mis Art Why dost thou grieve at their adversities?
Y Art O blame me not that man my kinsman was,

Nearer to me a kinsman could not be As near allied was that chaste woman too

Nearer was never husband to his wife

He whom I term d my friend no friend of mille

Proving both inine and his own enemy

Poison d his wife O the time he did so

Joyed at her death, inhuman slave to do so!

Exchang'd her love for a base strumpet's list,

Foul wretch! accursed villain! to exchange so

Mis. Art You are wise, and blest, and happy, to repent

But what became of him and his new wife?

Y Art O hear the justice of the highest heaven
This strumpet, in reward of all his love,
Pursues him for the death of his first wife,
And now the woeful husband languisheth,
Flies upon, pursu'd by her fierce hate,
And now, too late, he doth repent his sin,
Ready to perish in his own despair,
Having no means but death to rid his care

Mis Art I can endure no more, but I must weep,
My blabbing tears cannot my counsel keep

[uside]

Y At Why weep you, mistress? If you had the heart Of her whom you resemble in your face,—
But she is dead, and, for her death,
The spunge of either eye
Shall weep red tears 'till every vein is diy
Mis Art Why weep you, friend? your rainy diops pray keep.

Repentance wipes away the drops of sin Yet tell me, friend, he did exceeding ill, A wife, that lov'd and honor'd him, to kill Yet say, one like her, far more chaste than fair, Bids him be of good comfort, not despair Her soul's appeas'd with his repentant tears, Wishing he may shrive her many years

Fam would I give him money to supply His present wants but fearing he should fly and getting over to some foreign shore These rainy eyes should never see him more My heart is full I can no longer stry But what I am my love must needs hewras Tuside Farewell good fellow and take this to spend; Say one like her commends her to your friend Texit I Art No friend of mine I was my own soul's for To murder my chaste wife that loy d me so ! In life she loy d me dearer than her life What husband here but would wish such a wife? I hear the officers with hue and er, She say'd my life but now and now I die And welcome death I will not stir from hence

Enter Brabo with Officers Mistress Splay and Hugh

Bra Here is the murderer; and Reason's man You have the warrant sirs I iy hands on him Attach the slave and lead him bound to death

Death I de erv'd I'll die for this offence

Hugh No by my faith Master Brabo you have the better heart at least you should have I nm sure you have more iron and steel than I have do you lay hands on him I promise you I dare not

Bra Constables forward forward officers I will not thrust my finger in the fire Lay hands on him I say why step you back? I mean to be the hindmost least that any Should run awny and Laye the rist in peril Stand forward are you not asham'd to fear?

Y Art Nay, never strive, behold, I yield myself I must commend your resolution,

That, being so many, and so weapon'd,

Dare not adventure on a man unarm'd

Now, lead me to what prison you think best

Yet, use me well, I am a gentleman

Hugh Truly, Master Aithur, we will use you as well as heart can think, the justices sit to-day, and my master is chief you shall command me

Bra What, hath he yielded? if he had withstood us, This curtelaxe of mine had cleft his head, Resist he durst not, when he once spy'd me Come, lead him hence how lik'st thou this, sweet witch? This fellow's death will make our mistress rich

Mis Splay I say, I care not who's dead or alive,
So, by their lives or deaths, we two may thrive

Hugh Come, bear him away

A Room in Justice Reason's House

Enter Justice Reason, Old Master Arthur, and Old Master Lusam

Justice Old Master Arthur, and Master Lusam, so it is that I have heard both your complaints, but understood neither, for, you know, Legerc et non intelligere negligere est

O Art I come for favour, as a father should,

Pitying the fall and ruin of his sun

O Lus I come for justice as a father should

That hath by violent murder lost his daughter

Justice You come for favour and you come for justice Justice with favour is not partial

And using that I hope to please you both

O Art Good Master Justice think upon my sou

O Lus Good Master Justice think upon my daughter Justice Why so I do I think upon them both

But can do neither of you good

For he that lives must die and she that s dead Cannot be revived

O Art Lusam thou seek at to rob me of my son My only son

O Lus He robb d me of my daughter my only daughter Justice And robbers are flat felons by the law

O Art Lusam I say thou art a blood sucker

A tyraat a remorseless eaambal Old as I am I'll prove it on thy bones

O Lus Am I a blood sucher or canmbal?

Am I a tyrant that do thirst for blood?

O Art Aye if thou seek at the rum of my son Thou art a tyrant and a blood sucker

O Lus Aye if I seek the rum of thy son I am indeed

O Art Nay more thou art n dotard And in the right of my secused son

I challenge thee the field Meet me I say To-morrow morning beside Islandton

And bring thy sword and buckler if thou dar st

O Lus Meet thee with my sword and buckler?

There's my glove
I'll meet thee, to revenge my daughter's death
Call'st thou me dotard? Though these threescore years
I never handled weapon but a knife,
To cut my meat, yet will I meet thee there
God's precious! call me dotard?

O Art I have cause,
Just cause, to call thee dotard, have I not?

O Lus Nay, that's another matter, have you cause? Then God forbid that I should take exceptions, 'To be call'd dotard of one that hath cause

Justice. My masters, you must leave this quarrelling, for quarrellers are never at peace, and men of peace, while they are at quiet, are never quarrelling—so you, whilst you fall into brawls, you cannot chuse but jar—Here comes your son accused, and his wife the accuser, stand forth both—Hugh, be ready with your pen and ink to take their examinations and confessions

Enter Mistress Mary, Brabo, Young Master Arthur, Mistress Splay, Hugh, and Officers

Y Art It shall not need, I do confess the deed, Of which this woman here accuse the me, I poison'd my first wife, and, for that deed, I yield me to the mercy of the law

O Lus Villain! thou mean'st my only daughter, And in her death depriv'dst me of all joys

Y Ant I mean her I do confess the deed, And, though my body taste the force of law, Like an offender, on my knee, I beg

Your angry oul will pardon me her death O Lus Nav if he kneeling do confess the deed No reason but I should forgue her death Justice But so the law must not be satisfied Blood must have blood ond men must have death I think that cannot be dispensed withial Mis Ma If all the world else would formye the deed Let would I carnestly pursue the law 3 Art I had o wife would not have us d me so The wealth of Europe could not here her tonene To be offensive to my patient ears But in exchangiog her I did prefer A devil before a saint night before day Hell before heaven and dross before tried gold Never was bargain with such domage sold Bra If you want witness to confirm the deed I heard him speak it and that to his free Before this presence I will justify I will not part hence till I see him swing Mis Splay I heard him too pity but he should die And like a murderer, he sent to hell To poison her and make her helly swell

Whose shameless life deserves o shameful grave Y Art Death's bitter pangs are not so full of grief As this unkindness every word thou speak st Is a sharp dager thrust quite through my lieart As hitle I deserve this at thy hands
As my kind patient wif deserved of me slave

Mis Ma Why stay you then? give judgment on the

I was her torment, God hath made thee mine,
Then, wherefore at just plagues should I repine?

Justice Where did'st thou buy this poison? for such drugs

Are felony for any man to sell

Y At I had the poison of Aminadab,
But, innocent man, he was not accessary
To my wife's death, I clear him of the deed

Justice No matter, fetch him, fetch him, bring him
To answer to this matter at the bar
Hugh, take these officers and apprehend him.

Bra I'll aid him too, the schoolmaster, I see,
Perhaps may hang with him for company

Ans This is the day of Arthur's examination
And trial for the murder of his wife,
Let's hear how Justice Reason will proceed,
In censuring of his strict punishment
Ful. Anselm, content, let's thrust in 'mong the thiong

Enter Aminadab and the Officers

Amin O, Domine' what mean these knaves, To lead me thus with bills and glaves? O, what example would it be, To all my pupils for to see, To tread their steps all after me, If, for some fault, I hanged be, Somewhat surely I shall mar, If you bring me to the bar

But peace betake thee to thy wits
For yonder Justice Reason asts
Justice Sir Dab Sir Dab here's one accuseth you
To give him poison being ill employ d
Speak how in this case you can clear yourself
Ann Hei mili! what should I say? the poison given I deny

He took it perforce from my hands and Domine why not? I got it of a gentleman he most freely gave it.

Ask he knew me my means was only to have it.

Y. Art. Tis true. I took it from this man perforce.

And snatch d it from his hand by rude constraint.

Which proves him in this act not culpable.

Which proves him in this act not culpable

Justice Aye hut who sold the poison unto him?

That must be likewise known speak schoolmaster

Amin A man verbosus that was a fine generosus

He was a great guller his name I take to be Fuller
See where he stands that unto my hands convey d a pow

And like a knave sent her to her grave obscurely to shroud her

Justice Lay hands on him are you a poison seller?

Brian him before us sirrah what say you?

Ful I sold no poison but I gave him one

To kill his rats

Justice Ha ha! I smell a rat

You sold him poison then to kill his rats?

The word to kill argues a murd rous mind

And you are brow lit in compass of the murder

So set him by, we will not hear him speak That Arthur, Fuller, and the schoolmaster, Shall by the judges be examined

Ans Sir, if my friend may not speak for himself, Yet let me his proceedings justify

Justice What's he that will a murder justify?
Lay hands on him, lay hands on him, I say,
For justifiers are all accessaries,
And accessaries have deserv'd to die.
Away with him! we will not hear him speak,
They all shall to the High Commissioners

Enter Mistress Arthur

Mis Art Nay, stay them, stay them yet a little while, I bring a warrant to the contrary,

And I will please all parties presently

Y At I think my wife's ghost haunts me to my death,

Wretch that I was, to shorten her hfe's breath!

O Art Whom do I see, my son's wife?

O Lus What, my daughter?

Justice Is it not Mistress Arthur that we see,

That long since buried we suppos'd to be?

Mis Ait This man's condemn'd for pois'ning of his wife, His poison'd wife yet lives, and I am she, And, therefore, justly I release his bands. This man, for suff'ring him these drugs to take, Is likewise bound, release him for my sake. This gentleman that first the poison gave, And this his friend, to be releas'd I crave.

Murder there cannot be where none is kill d Her blood is say d whom you suppos d was spill 1 Father in law I give you here your son The act is to do which you suppo d was done And father now joy in your daughter's life Whom heaven hath still kept to be Arthan's wife

O Art O welcome welcome daughter now I see God by his power both preserved thee

O Lus And his my wench whom I supposed was dead.
My joy revises and my sad wee is fied.

I Art I know not what I am nor where I om
My soul's transported to an extasy
For hope and joy confound my memory

Mis Ma What do I see? lives Arthurs wife again?

Bra What secret force did in her nature lurk, That in her soul the poison would not work?

Mis Splay How can it be the poison took no force? She lives with that which would hove kill da horse!

Mis Art Noy shun me not be not ashom'd at oll To heaven not me for grace and pardon fall Look on me Athur blush not at my wrongs

Y Art Still fear and hope my grief and wee prolongs
But tell me by what power thou didst surrive?
With my own hands I temper'd that vile draught
That sent thee breathless to thy graudsire a grave
If that were poison I received of him
Amin That ego neeted but this dram

Receiv'd I of this gentleman The colour was to kill my rats But 'twas my own life to dispatch

Ful Is it even so? then this ambiguous doubt,

No man can better than myself decide,

That compound powder was of poppy made and mandrakes,

Of purpose to east one into a sleep,

To ease the deadly pain of him, whose leg

Should be saw'd off, that powder gave I to the school master

Amm And that same powder, even that idem, You took from me, the same per fidem

Y Art And that same powder I commix'd with wine, Our godly knot of wedlock to untwine

O Art But, daughter, who did take thee from thy grave?
O Lus Discourse it, daughter

Ans Nay, that labour save,

Pardon me, Master Arthur, I will now
Confess the former frailty of my love
Your modest wife with words I tempted oft,
But neither ill I could report of you,
Nor any good I could forge for myself,
Would win her to attend to my request,
Nay, after death, I lov'd her in so much,
That to the vault where she was buried,
My constant love did lead me through the dark,
There ready to have ta'en my last farewell
The parting kiss I gave her I felt warm,
Briefly I bare her to my mother's house,
Where she hath since hv'd the most chaste and true,
That since the world's creation eye did view

Y Art My first wife, stand you here, my second there,

And in the midst myself he that will chu e A good wife from a lad come learn of me That have tried both in wealth and misery A good wife will I e careful of her fame Her husband s credit and her own good name In I such art thou I had nife will re pect Her pride her lust and her good name neglect And such art thou \ cood wife will be still Industrious apt to do her husband s will; But a bad wife cross spiteful and mad har Never keen home but always te a god hur; And such art thou A good wife will concerl Her husband a dangers and nothing reveal That may procure him harm and such art thou But a bad wife corrupts chaste wedlock a you On this hand victue and on this hand sin : This who would strive to lose or this to win? Here lives perpetual joy here burning woe Now husbands choose on which hand you will go Seek virtuous wives all husl and will be blest Fair wives are good but virtuous wives are be t They that my fortunes will peruse shall find No beauty a like the beauty of the mind

THE RALL

This excellent old Comedy was licensed to be acted on the 16th of November 1609 and the representation appears from the MSS of Sir Henry Herbert the Master of the Revels to have given great offence In the play of Tle Ball says he written by Shirley and acted by the Queen's Players there were divers personated so lively both of Lords and others of the Court that I took it ill and would have forbidden the Play but that Biston [Chris topher Beeston] promised many things which I found fault withal should be left out and that he would not suffer it to be done by the Poet any more who deserves to be numished and the first that offends in this kind of Poets or Players shall be sure of public punishment From an allusion to this Play in the following passage in Shirley's Lady of Pleasure it appears not unlikely that the admonition of the Master of the Revels induced the poets to leave out some of the more obnexious parts in the pub lication of it.

According to Sir Henry Herbert, in the puring above quoted, The Ball was written by Shirley, and from internal evidence we should say, that if not the whole yet the greater part was written by him. There is more nicety and discrimination in the characters than Chapman was capable of, and the humour is chiefly of that kind in which Shirley delights and exects

Fater SIR MARMADUAY TRAVERS and MR BOSTOCK

Bos WHITHER so fast Sir Marmaduke? a wor! Mar My honorable blood ' would I could stay To give thee twenty I am now engag d To meet a noble gentleman

Box Or rather

A gentlewoman let her alone and go With me

Mar Whither?

Bos I'll shew thee a lady of fire

Mar A lady of the lake were not so dangerous Bos I mean a spirit in few words because

I love thee Ill be open I am going

To see my mistress

Mar Ill dispense with my Occasion to see a handsome lady, I know you'll chuse a rare one

Bos She is a creature

Worth admiration, such a beauty, wit,

And an estate besides—thou canst not chuse,

But know her name, the Lady Lucina

Mar Is she your mistress?

Bos Mine! whose but mine?

Am I not nobly boin? does not my blood

Deserve her?

Mar To tell you truth, I was now going thithei, Though I pretended an excuse, and with

A compliment from one that is your rival Bos Does she love any body else?

Mar I know not.

But she has half a score, upon my knowledge,

Are suitors for her favour

Bos Name but one.

And if he cannot shew as many coats-

Mar He thinks he has good cards for her, and likes His game well

Bos Be an understanding knight, And take my meaning, if he cannot shew As much in heraldry—

Mar I do not know how rich he is in fields, But he is a gentleman

Bos Is he a branch of the nobility?

How many lords can he call cousin? else

He must be taught to know he has presum'd

To stand in competition with me

THE BALL

Mar You will not kill him?

Bos You shall pardon me
I have that within me must not be provok d

There be some living now that have been kill d

Mar Some living that have been kill d l

Bos I mean some living that have seen examples

Not to confront nobility and I

Am sensible of my honour Mar His name :

bir Amhrose

Bos Lamount a knight of yesterday

And he shall die to morrow name another

Mar Not so fast sir you must take some breath

Bos I care no more for killing half a dozen Knights of the lower house I mean that are not Descended from nobility than I do

To kick any footman an Sir Ambrose were hight of the Sun king Oberon should not save him Nor his queen Mab

Enter SIR ANBRO E LAMOUNT,

Mar Unluckily he s here sir Bos Sir Ambrose

How does thy knighthood? ha!

Amb My nymph of honour well I joy to see thee Bos Sir Marmadulle tells me thou art suitor to Lady Lucina

Amb I have ambition

To be her servant

Bos Hast? thou'rt a brave knight, and I commend Thy judgement

Amb Sir Marinaduke himself leans that way too
Bos Why didst coneeal it? Come, the more the merrier.
But I could never see you there

Mar I hope,

Sir, we may live

Bos I'll tell you, gentlemen,
Cupid has given us all one livery,
I serve that lady too, you understand me
But who shall carry her, the fates determine,
I could be knighted too

Amb That would be no addition to Your blood

Bos I think it would not, so my lord told me, Thou know'st my lord, not the earl, my other Cousin, there's a spark his predecessors. Have match'd into the blood, you understand. He put me upon this lady, I proclaim. No hopes, pray let's together, gentlemen, If she be wise I say no more, she shall not Cost me a sigh, nor shall her love engage me. To draw a sword, I have yow'd that

Mar You did but jest before

Amb 'Twere pity that one drop

Of your heroic blood should fall to th' ground

Who knows but all your cousin lords may die

Mar As I believe them not immortal, sir

Amb Then you are gulf of honour, swallow all,

May marry some queen yourself, and get princes

To furnish the barren parts of Christendom

Enter Solowor

Sol Sir Marmadukel in private my lady would

Speak with you

[ande to Sir Marmaduke

And Tis her servant what a the n atter?

Bos I hope he is not sent for

Sol But come alone I shall be troubled

With their inquiries but I'll answer em

Vith their inquiries but I'll answer em

Amb Solomou!

Sol My lady would speak with you sir

Amb Me?

Sol Not ton loud I was troubled with Sir Marmaduke
Mar This is good news [aude

Bos I do not like this whispering

Sol [to Sir Amb] Forget not the time and to crime alone
Amb This is excellent [aside

Lales him aside

Bos Solomon dost not know me?

Sol My business is to you sir these hept me off my lady I ucina Has a great mind to speak with you

Mar No no I have nn cause you smile Sir Ambrose

Amb Who, 13-The Colonel

Luter the Colosia

Mar But of our file, another of her sintors

Amb Noble Colonel

Col My honoured knights, and men of lusty kindred

Bos Good morrow

Col Morrow to all gentlemen. I'll tell von Who is return'd

Amb From whence?

Col A friend of ours that went to travel

Mar Who, who?

Col I saw him within these three minutes, and know not how I lost him again, he's not far off d'ye keep a catalogue of your debts?

Bos -What debts?

Col Such dulness in your memory! there was About six months ago a gentleman. That was persuaded to sell all his land, And to put the money out most wisely, To have five for one at his return from Venice. The shotten herring is hard by

Amb Jack Freshwater 1 I'll not see him yet.

Bos Must we pay him?

Col It will be for your honour, marry, we, Without much stain, may happily compound, And pay him nothing

Enter FRESHWATER, MONSIEUR LI BRISKL, and GUDGEON Here comes the thing!

With what formality he treads and talks

And manageth a toothpick like a statesman

Amb. How he s transformed:

Amb How he s transform d l

Bos I'll not bid him welcome home

Amb Nor I

Mar What's the other rat that's with him?

Col D ye not know him tis the court dancing weasel

Mar A dancer and so gay l

Col A mere French footman sir does he not look Like a thing come off o th saltcellar?

Mar A dancer?

Enter LADY ROSAMOND, and LADY HONORIA

Ros Why do you so commend him? Hon Does he not Deserve it? Name a gentleman in the kingdoin, So affable, so moving in his language, So pleasant, witty, indeed every thing A lady can desire

Ros Sure thou dost love him, I'll tell his lordship, when I see him again, How zealous you are in his commendation Hon If I be not mistaken, I have heard Your tongue reach higher in his praises, inadam,

* Bethiem Gabor, the famous Prince of Transylvania, being proclaimed King of Hungary, was opposed by the Emperor, and obliged to conclude a peace ın 1624

Howe er you now seem cold but if you tell him My opimon as you shall do him no pleasure You can do me no injury I know His lordship has the constitution Of other courtiers—they can endure To be commended

Nos But I prythee tell me
Is t not love whence this proceeds, I have
I must confess discours d of his good parts
Desir'd his company

Hon And had it?

Ros Yes and had it

Hon All night

Ros You are not I hope jealous

If I should say all night I need not blush

It was but at a hall but what of this?

Hon. E en what you will

Hos I hope you have no patent
To dance alone with him if he have privilege

To his another lady she may say
He does salute her and return a curtesey
To shew her breeding but I ll now be plainer

Although you love this lord it may be po sible He may dispose his thoughts another way

Hon He may o

Ros Who can help it? he has eyes
To look on more than one and understands
Perhaps to guide and place his love upon
The most deverying object

Hon Most deserving

This language is not level with that friendship You have profess'd, this touches a comparison Ros. Why do you think all excellence is throug'd Within your beauty!

Hon You are nngry, lady,
How much does this concern you to be thus Officious in his cause, if you be not Engag'd by more than ordinary affection,
I must interpret this no kind respect
To me

Ros Angry! ha, ha!

Hon You then transgress against civility
Ros Good madain, why? because

I think and tell you that another lady
May be as handsome in some man's opinion,
Admit I lor'd him too, may not I hold

Proportion with you, on some entreaty?

Later LORD RAINI BOW

Lord R They're loud, I'll not be seen yet Ros What is it that exalts you above all Comparison? my father was as good A gentleman, and my mother has as great A spirit

Hon Then you love him too?

Ros 'Twill appear

No greater miracle in ine, I take it

Yet difference will be, perhaps I may

Affect him with a better consequence

Hon Your consequence perhaps may be denied too Why there are no such wonders in your eye Which other compo itions do not boast of My lord no doubt hath in his travils clapp d As modest cheeks and kiss d as melting lips

Ros And yet mine are not pale

Hon It may be they blush for the teeth behind them Ros I have read

No sonnets on the succtness of your breath

Hon 'Tis not perfum d

Ros But I have beard your tongue evalted much

Hon Not above your forchead

When you have brush d away the hairy penterush
And made it visible

Lord R I Il now interrupt em

They il fall by the cars else presently [he comes forward

Hon My lord

Lord R What in contention ladies?

Ros Oh my lord you re welcome

Lord R Express it in discovery of that Made you so carnest I am confident

You were not practising a dialogue

Fo entertain me

Hon Yet it did concern you

Ros Do not you blush? fie madam

Penter hi pri ted pent heu hi th ngual ed di It i probabi th th i te ded to write pe f / meani g pe thouse th h gl g oof d porches fh e bel gth ally the thed with ru hea; ith gh lha erse th w d seelbef Lord R Nay, an' you come to blush once, and sie, madain, I'll know the secret, by this kiss I will,

And this

The lisses them both

Hon You were kiss'd first, discover now

At your discretion

Ros My lord, we were in jest

Hon It might have turn'd to carnest, if your lordship Had not interpos'd

Lord R Come, out with it

Ros We had a difference

Lord R Well said

Ros About a man in the world, you lind best name him

Hon You have the better gift at telling secrets

Lord R Yet again, come I'll help it out, there is

A gentleman in the world, some call a lord

Ros Did your lordship overliear us?

Lord R Nay, nay, you must stand to 't—one whom you Love, it will appear no greater miracle. In you, I take it, one, no doubt, that hath Travell'd, and clapp'd as modest cheeks, and kiss'd. As melting hips, thus far I'm right, but what Name this most happy man doth answer to, Is not within my circle.

Hon Yet you know him

Ros Not to return your lordship longer in the dark, Confident you'll not accuse my modesty For giving you a truth, you shall not travel Beyond yourself to find his name, but do not Triumph, my lord

Lord R Am I so fortunate?

Then love I do forgue thee and will cherish The flame I did suspect would ruin me You two divide my love only yon two Be gentle in your empure heavenly ladies? No enemy abroad can threaten you Be careful then that you maintain at home No emil west.

No civil wars

Hon How d ye mean my lord?

Lord R You are pleas d to smile upon me gentle lady
And I have took it in my heart more than Ima inary bles inas with what pleasure
Could I behold this beauty and consume
My understanding to know nothing else

My memory to preserve no other figure

Ros My lord I am not worth your flattery

Lord R I flatter you? Venus herself he judge
To whom you are so like in all that s fair

Twere sin hut to be modest

Ros How my lord?

Lord R Do not mistake me twere A sin but to be modest in your praises. Here s a hand nature hew me such another A brow a cheek a lip and every thing. Happy am I that Cupid's blind. Ros W by happy?

Lord R If he could see he would forsake!

 $Lord\ R$ If he could see he would forsake his mistress to be my rival and for thy embraces Be banish d heaven

Hon My lord Ill take my leave

I rd R If you did know how great a part of me

Will wither in your absence, you would have
More charity, one accent of unkind
Language from you doth would me more than all
The malice of my destines, oh, dear madain,
You say you'll take your leave of your poor servant,
Say, rather, you will dwell for ever here,
And let me stay and gaze upon
Your heavenly form

Hon I can be patient

To hear your lordship mock me, these are but

A coarse reward for my good thoughts

Lord R This'tis to use plant dealing, and betray the inside Of our hearts to women, did you think well of me So late, and am I forfeited already

Am I a Christian?

Hon Yes, I hope, my lord

Lord R Make me not miserable then, dear madain, With your suspicion, I dissemble with you' But you know too well what command your beauty Has upon me

Hon Give me leave,
My lord, to wonder you can love me,
With such a flame you have express'd, yet she
Your mistress

Lord R You are both my mistresses Ros I like not this so well

 $\operatorname{Lord} R$ There is no way but one to make me happy

Hon I wish, my lord, I had the art to effect

What you desire

Ros Or I

Lord R It is within Your powers

t our powers

Hon Speak it my lord

That I m not able to determine which My heart so equal unto both would chuse

My suit is to your virtues to agree
Between yourselves whose creature I shall be

You can judge better of your worths thao I My allegrance shall be ready if you can

Conclude which shall have the supremacy Take pity on your servant gentle ladies

And reconcile a heart too much divided

So with the promise of my obedience

To her that shall be fairest wisest sweetest Of you two when I next present a lover I take distracted leave

Hon Why this is worse than all the rest Ros He s gone

And has referr d himself to us

Ask counsel

Ros And some time I would be loth To yield

Hon And I Cupid instruct us both

ACT II SCENE I

Enter Barker, Freshwater, and Gudgeon

Bai And what made you undertake this voyage, Sweet Signior Freshwater?

Fres An affection

I had to be acquainted with some countries

Gud Give him good words

Bar And you return fraught home with the rich devices,

Fashions of steeples, and the situations

Of gallowses, and wit, no doubt, a bushel

What price are oats in Venice?.

Fres Signior,

I kept no horses there, my man and I-

Bar Were asses

Fres How, signior?

Gud Give him good words, a pox take him

Bar Had not you land once?

Fres I had some duty acres

Gud I am his witness

Fres Which I reduced into a narrow compass,

Some call it selling

Gud He would sell bargains of a child

Fres And 'twas a thriving policy

Bar As how?

Fres It was but two hundred pound per annum, su,

A lean revenue

Bar And did you sell it all?

Fres I did not leave an aere rod or perch;
That had been no discretion when I was selling
I would sell to purpose; do you see this roll?
I have good security for my money sir
Not an egg here but has five objectes in t
I did most politically disburse my atms
To have five for one at my return from Venice

And now I thank my stars I am at home

Bar And so by consequence in throemouths your estate

Will be five times as much or quintipled

Fee Yes signior quintipled

I will not purchase yet I mean to use This trick seven years together first I'll still put out and quintuply as you call to

And when I can in my exchequer tell

Two or three millions. I will fall a purchasing

Bar hingdoms I warrant Free I have a mind to buy

Constantinople from the Turk and give it

The emperor

Bar What think you of Jerusalem? If you would purchase that and bring it nearer The Christian pilgrims would be much oblig d to you

When did you wash your socks? Free I wear none signior

Bar Then tis your breath to your lodging and perfume

You li tell the sweeter bes to them that will Lose so much time to ask about your travel

You will not sell your debts?

Fres Sell 'em' no, signior

Bar Have you as much left in ready cash as will Keep you and this old troul a fortnight longer? Die, and forgive the world ! thou may'st be buried, And have the church-cloth, if you can put in Security the parish shall be put To no more charge, dost thou hope to have a penny Of thy own money back? is this an age Of five for one? die ere the town take notice! There is a hideous woman carries ballads. And has a singing in her head, take heed And hang thyself, thou may'st not hear the time You remember Corvat *

Fres Honest Tom Odcombe

Bar We'll have more verses o' thy travels, coxcomb, Books shall be sold in bushels in Cheapside, And come in like the peascods, wain loads full Of thee, and thy man Apple John, that looks As he had been a se'nnight in the straw A ripening for the market, farewell, russeting 1 Thou art not worth my spleen, do not forget My counsel, hang thyself, and thou go'st off Without a sessions

[exit

Fres Fine! I'm glad he's gone Gudgeon, what dost thou think?

Gud I think you're well rid of a railing madcap

^{*} Tom Coryat of Odcombe, called the Leg stretcher, a man who aspired to the reputation of a wit and a traveller with equal want of success, as may be seen by any one who will take the trouble to consult his " Crudities"

Free Nay may he il not spare a lord
But were not I best call in my monies Gudgeon?
My estate will not hold out I must be more Familiar with my gentlemen

Fater LORD RAISEROW

Lord R Jack Treshwater! welcome from Venice Free I thank your honour Lord R Was it not Frank Barker that parted from you? Free Yes my lord Lord R What's the matter?

Free There is a sum my lord Lord R Where is it signior?

Free There was a sum my lord deliver d From your poor servant Freshwater

Lord R I remember

But I have business now come home to me The money a safe you were to give me five For one at your return

Free I five? Your lordship has forgot the einquepace
Lord R Something it is but when I am at leisure
We will discourse of that and of your travel
Farewell signior [exit

Fres 1st come to this? if lords play fast and loose
What shall poor knights and gentlemen?
Hum tis he

Enter COLONEL.

Col A pox upon him! what makes he in my way? Fres Noble colonel Col Que dites vous, monsieur ?

Fies Que dites vous!

Col Out, Je ne parle pas Anglois "

Free There were five English pieces

Col Je ne parle pas Anglois, me speak no word English.

Votre serviteur

Teatt

Fres Adieu five pieces,

Gudgeon gape, is't not he?

They will not use me o'this fashion

Did he not speak to me i'the morning?

Gud Yes, sir

Fres I tlunk so

Gud But then you would not know him in Italian, And now he will not know you in French

Fres Call you this selling of land, and putting out money To multiply estate?

Gud To quintuply five for one, large interest

Fres Five for one ! 'tis ten to one if I get my principal

Gud Your roll is not at the bottom yet, try the rest

Fres I have sigmor, farewell

Enter Scutilla and Solomon

Scu Didst speak with the colonel?

Sol I met him opportunely after all the rest,

* The printer has made strange words out of the I reach introduced in different parts of the dialogue, but, it is presumed, the author intended that the Colonel should speak it correctly

And told him bow much it would concern
His livelihood to make haste

Scu He must not be seen yet you know where To attend for him give him access by The garden to my chamber and bring Me nimbly knowledge when he is there Sol I shall forsooth

Le Fris Oh, he dance finely, begar, he deserve the ball of de world fine, fine gentleman, your oder men dance, lop, lop with de lame leg, as they want crushes, begar, and look for argent in the ground, psha

[they dance a new country dance

Ha! ha! fort bon

Ros Now, madam, we take our leave

Luc I'll recompense this kind visit does your coach stay?

Hon Yes, madam,

Your ladyship will be too much troubled

Luc I owe more service

Scu Monsieur, you'll begone too

Le Fi is I have more lady, my scholars

Seu Is that the way of your instrument?

Le Frix A la mode de Frince fi' fi! adieu

Madame votre verniteur

Adieu demi Monsieur † [to Scutilla --exeunt all but

Scutilla

Erter Solo ion and Colonel

Scu Sir you are welcome
Col I thank you lady Scu The time s too narrow to discourse at large
But I intend you a service
You have deserved it
In your own nobleness to one I call in kinsman Whose life without your charity had been Forfeit to his general's unger twas not Without his cause you after quit your regiment
Col He was my friend forget it
Scu You were sent for
By the Lady Lucna

Col Whose command I want
Scu Twas my desire to prepare you for
The entertainment be but pleas d to obscure
Yourself dehind these hangings in few minutes
I hear her you may trust me
Col Without dispute I obey you lady

Enter LADY LUCINA

Luc Now, Scutilla, we are ripe and leady
To entertain my gamesters, my man said
They promis'd all to come, I was afraid
These ladies in their kind departure would not Bequeath me opportunity, and the inirth
Doth in the imagination so tickle me,
I would not willingly liave lost it for a jewel
Of some value

Scu Then your purchase holds

Luc If they hold their affections, and keep touch,
We'll have some sport

Enter SOLOMON

Sol Sir Marmaduke Travers

Luc Away, Scutilla, and

Laugh not loud between our acts, we'll meet

Again like music, and make our selves merry

Sou I wait near you.

[exit Solomon]

Enter SIR MARMADUKE

Luc Sir Marmaduke, I thought I should have had Your visit without a summons

Mar Lady, you gave
One feather to the wings I had before,
Can there be at last a service to employ
Your creature?

Luc. Something hath pleaded for you in your absence
Mar. Oh let me dwell upon your hand, my stars
Have then remembered me again

Luc How do the fens ?

Goes the draining forward and your iron mills?

Mar Draining and iron mills? I know not madam

Luc Come you conceal your industry and care

To thrive you need not he so close to me.

Mar By this hand lady—have I my irony mills?

Luc I mm nbus d else nay I do love

One that has wind mills in his head

Mar How madam?

Lue Projects and proclamations did not you Travel to 'aemouth to learn how to east Brass buttons? nay I like it it is an age For men to look about them. Shall I trust My estate to one that has no thrift a fellow But with one face? my husband shall be a Janus He cannot look too many ways and is Your patent for making vinegar confirm d? What a face you put upon t nay ne er dissemble Come. I know all you ill thank that frend of yours That satisfied my enquiry of your worth With such a welcome character but why Do I betray myself so fast? beshrew.

His commendations

Mar How is this? some body
That meant me well and knew her inpetite
To wealth hath told this of me I'll make use on t well madam I desir'd these things more private?
Till something worth a mine which I nm now
Promoving had been perfect to salute you
But I perceive you hold intelligence

In my affairs, which I interpret love, And I'll requite it—will you be content, Be a Countess for the present

Luc I shall want

No honour in your love

Mar When shall we marry?

Luc Something must be prepar'd

Mar A heened, and say no more

How blest am I ! do not blush,

I will not kiss your lip, till I have brought it

Trav

Luc Ha, ha, Scutilla?

Scu Be secret still

Tto the Colonel

Luc Can'st thou not laugh?

Sou Yes, madain, you have kept your word,

The knight's transported, gone

To prepare things for the wedding

Luc How did'st thou like the iron mills?

Seu And the brass buttons—rarch, have you devices To jeer the rest?

Luc All the regiment of them, or I'll break my bowstrings

Scu Sir Ambrose Lamount

Luc Away, and let the swallow enter

Enter Sin Aminosi and Solomon

Luc Why, sirrah, I did command you give access to none But Sir Ambrose Lamount, Whom you know I sent for

Audaeious groom 1

Sol It is Sir Ambrose, madam

Crit Solomon

2)

Luc It is Sir Ambrose Coxcomb 1 it is not Cry mercy noble sir I took you muffled For one that every day solicits me To hestow my little dog upon him hut you re welcome I thick I sent for you

Amb It is my happiness

To wait your service lady

Luc I hear say you have vow'd to die a batchelor

I hope it is not true sir

Amb I die a hatchelor Luc And that you'll turn religious knight

Amb I turn religious km, ht ! who has ahus d me?

Luc 1 would only know the truth at were great pity For my own part I ever wish d you well

Although 10 modesty I have been silent

Pray what s o clock ?

Amb How's this!

Luc I had a dream last night me thought I saw you Daoce so exceedingly rarely that I fell In love

Amb In love with me?

Luc With your legs sir

Amb My leg is at your service to come over

Luc I wonder d at my self but I consider d That many have been caught with handsome faces

So my love grew Amb Upwards

Luc What followed to my dream

I have forgot

Am! Leave that to fioish waking

Luc Since the morning
I find some alteration, you know
I have told you twenty times, I would not love you,
But whether 'twere your wisdom, or your fate,
You would not be satisfied, now, I know not,
If something were procur'd, what I should answer

Amb A licence? say no more

Luc Would my estate were doubled

Amb For my sake

Luc You have not purchas'd since you fell in love?

Amb Not much land

Luc Revels have been some charge to you, you were ever

A friend to ladies, pity, but he should rise By one, has fallen with so many, had you not A head once?

Amb Ahead? I have one still

Luc Of hair, I mean

Favours have glean'd too much, pray, paidon me, If it were mine, they should go look their bracelets,* Or stay till the next crop, but, I blush, sir, To hold you in this discourse, you will perhaps Construe me in a wrong sense, but, you may use Your own discretion till you know me better, Which is my soul's ambition

Amb I am blest

^{*} They should go look their bracelets—that is, that they should thin, or, is is before expressed, glean their bracelets. To look is still used in the North of England, in the sense of 'to thin or weed young wheat,' &c

Col Cunning gipsy I she II use me thus too

Amb Lady Ikhowyour mind when I see you next [essit Luc You'll see me again ha his ha Scutilla? Seu Here madam almost dead with stifling my laughter Why he s gone for a heense you did enjoin him no Silence

Luc I would have email meet and brag o their several Hopes they will not else be sensible and quit me o their Tedious visitation—Who's next? I would the Colonel were come I long to have a bont with him

Enter SOLONON

Sol Mr Bostock madam

Luc Retire and give the jay admittance [exit Solomon

Enter Bo Tock

Bos Madam I kiss your fair hand Luc Oh Mr Bostock

Bos I must confess dear lady

Bos The humblest of your servants

Luc 'Twill not become your birth and blood to stoop To such a title

I carry in my veins more precious honour
Than other men blood of a deeper crimson
But you shall call me any thing
Luc Not I sir
It would not become me to change your title
Although I must confess I could desire

You were less honorable

Bos Why, I pr'ythee,

Is't a fault to spring from the nobility?

There be some men have sold well favour'd lordships,

To be ill-favour'd noblemen, and though

I wear no title of the state, I can

Adorn a lady

Luc That is my misfortune,

I would you could not, sir

Bos Are you the worse

For that? consider, lady

Luc I have considered,

And I could wish with all my heart you were

Not half so noble, nay, indeed, no gentleman

Bos How, lady?

Luc Nay, if you give me leave to speak my thoughts,

I would you were a fellow of two degrees

Beneath a footman, one that had no kindred,

But knights o'the post, may, worse, pardon me, sn,

In the humour I am in, I wish, and heartily,

You were a son o'the people rather than-

Bos Good madam, give me your reason

Luc Beeause I love you

Bos Few women wish so ill to whom they love

Luc They do not love like me then

Bos Say you so?

Luc My wealth's a beggar, nay the title of

A lady which my husband left, is a shadow

Compar'd to what you bring to eunoble me,

And all the children you will get, but I,

Out of my love desire you such a one That I might add to you that you raight he Created by my wealth made great by me Then should my love appear but as you are I must receive addition from you

Bos No body hears why hark you lady I coul!

Luc Honorable' why you cannot be so base
As I would bave you that the world might so
My marriage gate you somewhat

Bos Say you so?

Under the ro e if that will do you a pleasure.
The lords do calling cousin but I nm

Luc What?

Bos Suspected

Iuc How?

Bos Not to be lawful I came in at the wicket

Jue Can you prove it?

Bos Say no more

Luc Then I prefer you before all my stators Sir Ambrose Lamount and Sir Marmaduke

Travers are all mountchanks

Bos What say you to the Colonel?

Enter LORD RAINFBOW and BARKER

Bar So, so, you've a precious time on't

Loid R Who can help it, Frank, if ladies will

Be wild, repentance tame 'em' for my part,

I court not them, till they provoke me to't

Bar And do they both affect you?

Loid R So they say,

And did justify it to my face

Bar And you did praise their modesty?

Loid R I confess I prais'd them

Both, when I saw no remedy

Bar You did and they believ'd? Lord R Religiously

Bar Do not

Do not believe it my young lord they ll make Fools of a thousand such they do not love you

bols of a thousand such they do not love you Lord R Why an t shall please your wisdom?

Bar They are women

That's a reason and may satisfy you They cannot love a man

Lord R What then?

Bar Themselves

And all little enough they have a trick

To conjure with their eyes and perhaps raise

A masculine spirit but lay none

Lord R Good Cato

Be not over wise now what s the reason

That women are not sainted in your calendar?

You have no frosty constitution

Bar Would you were half so honest Lord R Why a woman

May love thee one day

Bar Yes when I make legs And faces like such fellows ns you are

Enter Monsieur Le Friske

Lord R Monsieur Le Friske

Le Fris Serviteur

Lord R Nay Frank thou shalt not go

Bar Ill come again when you have done your jig

Le Fris Ah 1 monsieur

Lord R Come, you shall set down, this fellow will make thee laugh

Bar I shall laugh at you both, an' I stay

Let dR Hark you, monsieur, this gentleman has a great mind to learn to dance

Le Fris He command my service Please your lordship begin, tat he may See your profit, allez—ha!

Lord R How like you this, Frank?

But Well enough for the dog-days, but have You no other duning for the winter, a man May freeze and walk thus

Le Fris It be all your grace, monsieur, your Dance be horseplay, begar, for de stable, not De chamber, your ground passage, ha! Never hurt de back, monsieur, nor trouble De leg mush, ha, plant il, you learn, Monsieur?

Lord R For mrth's sake, an' thou lovest me

Le Fus Begar, I teach you, presently, dance with all de grace of de body for your good and my profit

Bar Pardon me, my lord

Le Fris Oh not, pardonnez moi

Lord R Do but observe his method

Bar I shall never endure it, por upon lim

Le Fris 'Tis but dis in de beginning, one, two, tree, four, five, the emquepace, allez, monsieur, stand upright an begar

Lord R Let him set you in t'other posture Le Fris My broder, my lord, know well, for de litle kit de fiddle and me for de posture of de hody begar de king has no too sush subjects hat dere be one foote two foote hive you tree foote? hegar you have more den I have den

Bar I shall break hi fiddle

Lord R Thou art so humorous

Le Fris One been two ha you go too fast you be at Doser hegar and me be at Greenwish de toder leg psha Bar A pox upon your legs l'il no more

Le Fis Pourquos?

Lord R Ha ha la I would some ladies were here to laugh

At thee now you will not be so rude to meddle with The monsieur in my lodging

Bar I ll kick him to death and bury him in a base viol— Jackalent I

Le Fris Jackalent' hegar you be Jackenape if I had my weapon you durst no affront me I be as good gentle man in for all my fiddle as you call me a Jack a de lent'

Lord R Rail upon him monsieur I ll secure thee ha

Le Frie Because your leg have de poe or someting dat make em no veil and frisk you make a fool of a monseur My lord use me like gentleman an I care no rush for you be desperate kill me and me complaine to de king and teach new dance galliard to de gibbet you be hang d in English fashion

Bar Go you're an impertment lord and I will be re veno'd [exit

Lord R Ha ha! good Diogenes Come monsieur You and I will not part yet Le Fiss My lord, if you had not been here, me would have broken his head with my fiddle

Lord R You might sooner have broke your fiddle, but strike up

Le Fris Allez, ah, bon

Enter Bostock

Bos I spy Sn Marmaduke coming after me This way I'll take to avoid his tedious questions, He'll interrupt me, and I have not finish'd Things fit for my design

Enter SIR AMBROSI

Amb "Tis Mi Bostoek, little does he think What I am going upon, I fear I shall not Contain my joys

Bos Good fortune to Sn Ambrose

Amb Sn, you must pardon me, I cannot wait Upon you now, I have business of much consequence

Bos I thought to have made the same excuse to you, For at this present I am so engag'd

Amb We shall meet shortly

Both Ha, ha, ha!

Bos Poor gentleman, how is he beguil'd Amb Your nose is wip'd, hum, 'tis Sir Maimaduke,

Enter SIR MARMADUKE and COLONEL

I must salute him.

Bos The colonel? there s na going back

Mar What misfortune s this? but its no matter

Noble sir how is t?

Amb As you see sir

Col As I could wish noble Mr Bostock

Bos \ \ our humble servant colonel

Col Nay nay a word

Mar I shall not forbear jeering these poor things They shall be mirth

Col What! oll met so happily? and how my Sparks of honour?

Amb Things so tickle me

I shall break out

Col When saw you our mistress lady Lucino?

Amb M; suit is cold there Mr Bostock carries

The lady clean before him

Bos No no no it is Sir Marmaduke
'Mar I glean my smiles after Sir Ambrose

Col None of you see her to-day? I may as soon marry the moon and get Children on her I see her not this three days This very strange I was to present my service This morning

Mar You ll march away with all

Col I cannot tell but there s small sign of victory and yet methinks you should not be neglected If the fens go forward and your iron mills

Mar Has she betray d me?

Col Some are industrious

And have the excellent skill to cast brass buttons

Mar Colonel 1 softly

Col How will you sell your vinegar a pint? The natent's something sauce

Amb The colonel jeers him

Bos Excellent! ha, ha 1

Col Had not you a head once,

Of hair I mean, favours have glean'd too much, If ladies will have bracelets, let'em stay Till the next cron

Amb Hum, the very language she us'd to me

Bos Does he jeer him too, nay, nay, pr'ythre spare him, ha! ha!

Col You may do much, and yet I could desire You were less honorable, for though you have Blood of a deeper crimson, the good lady Ont of her love could wish you were a thing Beneath a footman, and that you had no kindred But knights o'the post

Bos Good colonel!

Col Nay, pardon me,

In the humour I am in, I wish, and heartily, You were a son o'the people

Bos Colonel 1

How the devil came he by this?

Col Under the rose there was a gentleman Came in at the wicket these are tales of which The Greeks have store, fair hopes, gentlemen!

Mar How came you by this intelligence?

Col Nay, I'll no whispering, what I say to one Will concern every man, she has made

You coxcombs

Amb It does nppear

Col And more than does appear yet I had my share

Bos That s some comfort I was afraid

tol But you shall pardon me I ll conceal

The particulars of her bountiful abuses

To me let it suffice I know we are all

Jeer d most abominably I stood behind

m - 1 ---- 1

The hangings when she sign d your several passes And had my own at last worse than the constable s

That this is true you shall have more than oath;

Ill join you so revenge and if you will oot

1 will do t alone

Mar She is a devil

Amb Dainn her then till we think on something else Let's all go hack and rail upon her

Bos Agreed n pox upon her !

Mar We cannot be too hitter she sa hell cat

Amb D ye hear? listen to me our shames are equal let if we all discharge at once upon her

We shall but make confusion and perhaps

Give her more cause to laugh Het us chuse one

To curse her for us all

Col Tis the best way and if you love me gentlemen

Engage me I deserve this favour for my

Discovery Ill swear her into hell

Mar Troth I have no good vein I m content

Hos Gentlemen noble colorel as you respect

A wounded branch of the nobility

44 ine by i

Make it my office, she abus'd me most, and if The devil do not furnish me with language, I'll say he has no malice

Col If they consent

Mar Amb With all our hearts

Bos I thank you, gentlemen

Col But let us all together I'll not be barr'd Now and then to interpose an oath,

As I shall find occasion

Bos You'll relieve me
When I take breath, then you may help, or you,
Or any to confound her

Col Let's away

Bos Never was witch so tortur'd

SCENE III

Enter I'm shwater, Gudgios, and Solomos

Sol Noble Mr Freshwater, welcome from travel

Fres Where be the ladies?

Sol In the next room, sir,

My lady Rosamond is sitting for her picture

I presume you will be welcome

Fres An English painter?

Sol Yes, sir

Fres Pr'ythee, let me see lum [he gives Freshwater access to the chamber and returns

Sol This way, honest Gudgeon, How are matters abroad? a touch of Thy travel what news?

Gud First let me understand the state of things

Sol We have little alteration since thou went at The same news are in fashion Only gentlemen are fain to rainble and stumble For their flesh since the breach of the bank side

Gud Is my aunt defunct?

Sol Yet the viragos have not lost their spirit some of Them have challened the field every day where Gentlemen have met them oh the dog days bit

Shrewdly twas a villainous dead racation

Gud Is Paul's alive still?

Sol Yes yes a little sick o the stone she voids some Every day but she is naw in physic

And may in time recover

Gud The Exchange stands?

Sol Longer than a church

There is no fear while the inerchants have but faith
A little of thy travels for the time is precious what Things have you seen or done since you left England?

Gud I have not lessure to discourse of particulars but

My master and I have run France through and through Sol Through and through bow is that man? Gud Why once forward and once backward that is through and through

Sol Twas but a cowardly part to run a kingdom through backward

46 THE BALL

Gud Not with our horses, Solomon, not with our horses

Enter FRESHWATER and LADY ROSAMOND

Fres. Madam, I did not think your ladyship Had so little judgment

Ros As how, signior?

Fres As to let an Englishman diaw

Your pieture, and such rare monsieurs in town

Ros Why not English?

Fres Oh, by no means, madam,

They have not active pencils

Ros Think you so?

Fies You must encourage strangers while you live, It is the character of our nation.

We are famous for dejecting our own countrymen

Ros Is that a principle?

Fies Who teaches you to dance?

Ros A Frenchman, signior

Fres Why, so, 'tis necessary,

Trust while you live the Frenchman with your legs, Your faces with the Dutch, if you mislike Your face, I mean if it be not sufficiently Painted, let me commend upon my credit A precious workman to your ladyship

Ros What is he?

Fres Not an Englishman, I warrant you, One that can please the ladics every way, You shall not sit with him all day for shadows, He has regalias, and can present you with

Suckets of fourteen pence a pound canary Prunellas Venice glasses Parmasan Sugars Bologaia sausages all from Antwerp But he will make ollapodridos most incomparably

Ros I have heard of him a a oble lady Told me the other day that sitting for Her picture she was stifled with a strange Perfume of horns

Fres A butcher told me of em—very likely
Ros When I have need
Of this rare artist I will trouble you
For my directions leaving this discourse
How thrives your eatalogue of debtors signion?
Fres All have paid me but—

Ros You shall not name me in the list of any
That are behind be ide my debt a purse
For clearing the account factors him a purse with money in it

Fres You are just madam
And boundful though I came hither with Simple intention to present my service
It shall be crost Gudgeon remember too
Her ladyship s name

Ros My cousin has the Same provision for you

Enter BARKER and LADY HONORIA

Gud [to Freshwater]—Sirl master Barker
Fres Madam I II take my leave; I II find another
Time to attend my lady there's no light

I cannot abide this fellow

Feart with Gud

Ċ,

Hon Madam, master Barker hath some design Which he pretends concerns us both

Ros He's welcome, what is it?

Bar My lord commends him to ye

Ros Which lord, sir?

Bar The lord, the fine, the wanton, dancing lord, The lord that plays upon the gittern, and sings, Leaps upon tables, and does pretty things, Would have himself commended

Ros So, sir

Bar He loves you both, he told me so, And laughs behind a visard at your finilty He cannot love that way you do imagine, And ladies of the game are now no muscles

Hon Although he use to rail thus, yet we have Some argument to suspect his lordship's tongue Has been too liberal

Ros I find it too, and blush within to think How much we are deceived, I may be even With this May-lord

Feart

Hon But does his lordship think We were taken with his person?

Bar You would not, an' you knew as much as I Hon How, sir?

Bar I have been acquainted with his body, Have known his baths and physic

Hon Is't possible? I am sorry now at heart I had a good thought on him, he shall see't, For I will love some other in revenge,

[east

And presently if any gentleman Have but the grace to smile and court me up to t

Bar Hum!

Hon A bubble of nobility I a giddy

Fantastic lord! I want none of his titles

Now in my imagination he appears

Ill favour'd and not any part about him

Worth half a commendation would he were here

Bar You'd make more of him

Hon That I might examine And do my judgment right between you two now ! How much he would come short | you have an eye Worth forty of his nose of another making I saw your teeth e en now compar'd to which His are of the complexion of his comb I mean his box and will in time be yellower And ask more making clean you have a show Of something on your upper hip a witch Has a philosopher's beard to him his chin Has just as many hounds as hairs that ever My eves distinguish d vet you have a body And not unpromising in his slashes one May see through him and for his legs they both Would but make stuffing for one handsome stocking They're a lord s I will be sworn I dote upon him ! I could wish somewhat but I m sorry sir To trouble you so much all happy thoughts Possess vou

Bar How is this? if I have wit

50 THE BALL

I have profess'd a cynic openly, This language inelts, I'll visit her again

Re-enter Honoria

Hon Sir, I have a small request to you
Bar Lady, command
Hon If you think I have power
Or will to deserve from you any courtesy,
Pray, learn to dance

Bar To dance?

Hon At my entreaty, sir, to dance

It was the first thing took me with his lordship

You know not what may follow, fare you well

Bar What pretends* this, to dance? there's something

I've reveng'd myself already upon my loid, Yet deeper with my lady is the sweeter Something must be resolv'd

Cart

Enter LADY LUCINA and SCUTILLA

Luc Enough, enough, of conscience, let's reserve Part of the mirth to another time, I shall Meet some other hot worships at the ball, Unless their apprehension prompt them Earlier, to know their folly in pursuing me

Enter SOLOMON

Sol Madam, the gentlemen, that were here this morning

In single visits ore come all together
And pray to speak with you

Luc They re met olready give them access
Scu I wonder what they il soy fexit Solomon

Enter BOSTOCK SIR A IRROST COLONEL and SIR MARMADURE

Col Be confident she shall endure it

Iuc So so
How dye gentlemen? you re very welcome

Amb Tis no matter for that we do not come to be Welcome neither will we be welcome; speak Mr Bostock Bos We come to mortify you

Luc You will use no violence

Bos But of our tongues; and in the names of these Abused gentlemen and myself I spit

Defiance Stand further off and be attentive Weep or do worse repentance wet thy linen

And leave no vein for the doctor!

Iuc They re mad

Scu There is no danger madam let us hear them If they scold we two shall be hard enough for them An they were twenty

Bos Thou basilisk !

Luc At first sight ?

Bos Whose eyes shoot fire and poison

Maheious as a witch and much more cunning ;
Thou that dost ride men

Luc I ride men !

Bos Worse than the night mare let thy tongue be

And take our seourges patiently, thou hast
In thy own self all the ingredients
Of wiekedness in thy sex, able to firmsh
Hell, if it were insufficiently provided
With falsehood, a she fiend of thy own making;
Circe, that charm'd men into swine, was not
So much a Jew as thou art, thou hast made Us asses, dost thou hear?

Amb He speaks for us all

Bos But it is better we be all made such, Than any one of us be monster'd worse, To be an ox, thy husband

Scu Luc Ha, ha, ha!

Bos Dost thou laugh, croeodile?

Col That was well said

Bos Spirit of flesh and blood, I'll conjure thee, And let the devil lay thee on thy back, I care not

Mar Admirable Bostock

Col That spirit of flesh and blood was well infore'd

Bos You thought us ammals, insensible

Of all your jugglings, did you, Proserpine?

Amb Aye, come to that

Bos And that we lov'd, lov'd with a pox, your plusnomy, Know, we but tried thee, beldam, and thou art Thyself a son of the earth

Amb How 1 she a son?

Bos 'Twas a mistake, but she knows my meaning, I begin to be a weary, gentlemen, I'll breathe awhile

Col Tis time and that you may Not want encouragement take that [gares him a box on the car

Bor Gentlemen ! colonel! what die mean?

Col You shall know pre ently; dare but lift thy voice.
To fright this lady or but ask thy pardon

My sword shall rip thy body for thy heart and nail it on her threshold; or if you

The proudest offer but in looks to justify
The baseness of this wretch your souls shall answer t

Mar How's this?

Ool O impudence unheard! Pardon madam
My tedious silence the affront grew up
So fast I durst not trust my understanding
That any gentleman could attempt so much
Dishonour to a lady of your goodness
Was this your project to make me appear
Guilty of that I hate beyond all secretege?
Was it for this you pray d my company?
You tadpoles! Its your presence charms my sword
Or they should quickly pay their forfeit hives
No altar could protect them

Amb We are hetray d

Mar Was it not his plot to have us rail?

Col Say shall I yet be active?

Luc By no means

This is no place for blood nor shall any† cause. Engage to such a danger Col Live to be

Your own vexations then till you be mad, And then remove yourselves with your own garters! You shall not go before I know from whose Brain this proceeded, you are the mirth Was ever envil lady so abus'd In her own house b' ingrateful horse-leeches? Could your corrupted natures find no way But thus to recompense her noble favours, Her courteous entertainments? would any Heathens done like to you? admit she was So just to say she could see nothing in you Worthy her dearer thoughts, as, to say truth, How could a creature of her wit and judgment Not see how poor and miserable things You are at best? must you [be] impudent? In such a loud, and peremptory manner, Disturb the quiet of her thoughts and dwelling? Gentlemen 1 rather lunds, scarce fit to mix, Unless you mend your manners, with her drudges

Luc This shews a nobleness, does't not, Seutilla?

Bos Why, sit, did not you tell us?

Col What did I tell you?

Bos Nothing

Col Begone, lest I forget myself

Bos I have a token to remember you

A palsy upon your fingers, noble colonel

Mar Was this his stratagem! we must begone [execut Sir Mar maduke, Bostock, and Sir Ambrose

Luc Sn, I must thank ve, and desire your pardon

For what has past to your particular

Col You we more than satisfied my service in The acknowledgment disdain cannot provoke Me to be so insolent

Luc Again I thank you

Col I can forget your last neglect if you Think me not too unworthy to expect Some favour from you

Luc How d ye mean?

Col Why

As a servant should that is ambitious To call you mistres till the happier title

Of wife crown his desires

Luc I must confess

This has won much upon me but two words To such a bargain you re a gentleman

I m confident would adventure for me

Col As far as a poor life could speak my service

Luo That's fair and far enough I make not any

Exception to your person

Col Body enough I hope to please a lady

Luc But-

Col To my fortune

Luc To that the least I have estate for both Col Though it hold no comparison with yours

It keeps me like a gentlemaa

Luc I have a scruple

Col You honour me in this

There s hope if I can take away that care

You may be mine

Luc Sn, can you put me in seemity That you have been honest?

Col Honest, how d'ye mean?

Luc Been honest of your body you gentlemen Out of the wars, live lazy, and feed high, Drink the rich grape, and, in canary, may Do strange things, when the wine has wash'd away Discretion

Col What is your meaning, lady?

Luc. I do not urge you for the time to come, Pray understand, have you been honest hitherto? And yet, because you shall not trouble friends. To be compurgators, I'll be satisfied, If you will take your own oath that you are

Col Honest of my body?

Luc Yes, sir, it will become me to be careful Of my health, I'll take your own assurance, If you can clear your body by an oath, I'll marry none but you, before this gentlewoman

Col Your reason why you use me thus?

Luc I wonder you will ask, do not I hear How desperate some have been, what pain, what physic?

Col This is a tale of a tub, lady

Luc You rid no match without a shirt, to shew The complexion of your body, I have done, sin When you resolve to swear you're honest, I Vow to be yours, your wife, I am not hasty, Think on't, and tell me, when we meet again Anon, to-night, to-moriow, when you please,

So farewell noble colonel come Scutilla

[exeunt Lucina and Scutilla

Col 1s t come to this? I m jeer'd again is t possible
To be honest at these years? a man of my Complexion and acquaintance? was ever
Gentleman put to this oath before in this fashion?
If I have the grace now to forswear myself
Something may be done and yet is doubtful
She Il have more tricks if widows he this coltish
The devil will have a task that goes a wooing

ACT IV SCENE I

Enter Loao Rainesow and Bostock

Hos buch an affront my lord! I was asham d on t A mere conspiracy to betray our faines
But had you seen how poorly they behav d
Themselves such craven knights a puir of drone bees!
I the midst of my vexation if I could Forbear to laugh I have no blood in me
They were so far from striking that they stood
Lake mages things without his and motion
Fear could not make so much as their tongue tremble
Left all to me

Lord R So so what then did you?

Bos The lady laugh d too and the colonel
Increas d his noise to see how she derided
The poor knights

Lord R Leave their character, and proceed To what you did

Bos You shall pardon me, my lord,
I am not willing to report myself,
They and the lady, and the colonel
Can witness I came on

Lord R But how came you off, cousin? that must commend you

Bos I have my limbs, my lord, no sign of loss Of blood you see, but this was fortune, how The colonel came off's uncertain

Lord R Do not you know?

Bos No, I left him, I think 'tis time

Lord R You did not kill him?

Bos Upon my faith, my lord, I meant it not, But wounds fall out sometimes when the sword's in These are poor things to brag of, I have sav'd Myself, you see

Lord R If it be so, I'll call you cousin still, my satimst

Enter BARKER

Hark ' You shall beat this fellow

Bos Shall I, my lord, without cause?

Lord R He shall give you cause presently, how now, Gum'd taffeta!

Bar I pay for what I wear,
My satin lord, your wardrobe does not keep Me waim, I do not run o'the ticket with
The mercer's wife, and lecher out my debts
At country houses

Lord R There's something else you do not Bar I do not not to flatter such as you are Whose bodies are so rotten they Il scarce keep Their souls from breaking out I write no odes Upon your mistress the commend her postures And tumbling in a coach towards Paddington Whither you hurry her to see the pheasants And try what operation the eggs have At your return I am not taken with Your mighty nonsense glean d from heathcuish plays Which leave a curse upon the author for em Though I have studied to redeem you from The infection of such books which martyr sense Worse than in almanach.

Lord R Excellent sature:

But lash not on stop here or I shall kick

Your learned worship

Bar But do oot I advise you do not Lord R Why do not?

Bar It will fall heavy on somebody if your lordship hick me I shall not spare your courin there

Lord R On that condition what do you think of that?

Bar What do you think? [to Bostock]
Bos Excellently well followed by my troth la
He il pitch the bar well I warrant he does

So follow his kick

Bar Let it go round
Bos Good right as my leg again

[kicks Bostocl

Lord R Your leg! 'twas he that kick'd you
Bos D'ye think I do not feel it?
Lord R Why d'ye not use your toes then?
Bos What, for a merry touch,
A trick, a turn upon the toe? d'ye hear, sir,

You're good company, but, if thou lovest me?—

Bar Love you? why, d'ye hear, sir,

I, I,—

What a pox should any man see in you, Once to think of you! love a squirt! Shall I tell thee what thou art good for?

Bos Aye

Bar For nothing

Bos Good again, my lord, observe him, for nothing

Bar Yes, thou wilt stop a breach in a mud wall,
Or serve for a Priapus in the garden to Fright away crows, and keep the corn, bean shatter,
Thou wilt

Bos Ha, ha, ha!

Bar Or thou wilt serve, at shrove-tide, to have thy legs Broken with penny truncheons in the street, 'Tis pity any cock should stand the pelting, And such a capon unprefer'd

Bos Ha, ha, ha !

Bar Cry mercy, you're a kinsman to the lord,
A gentleman of high and mighty blood

Lord R But cold enough, will not all this provoke him?

Bar Dost hear? for all this I will undertake

To thrash a better man out of a wench

That travels with her briter milk to market
Between two dorsers * any day of the week
My twice sod tail of green fish I will do t
Or lose my inheritance Tell me, and do not stammer
When wert thou endgel d last * what woman beat thee?
Bos Excellent Barker f

62 THI HALI

A visit on the ladies which you wot of,
They have their wits still, and resolve to keep them,
They will not hang themselves for a young lord,
Nor grow into consumption; other men
Have eyes, and nose, and hips, and handsome legs too,
So fare you well, my lord, I left your kick
With your cousin to buy otto

Lord R Very well

But hark you, cousin Bostock—you have a mind And modest constitution, I expected You would have lifted up your leg

Bos To kick him?

Why, an' you would have given a thousand pound, I could not do't for laughing, beside, He was your friend, my lord

Lord R Did you spare lum
For that consideration?

Bos Howsoever,

What honour had it been for me to quarrel,
Or wit, indeed? If every man should take
All the abuses that are meant, great men
Would be laugh'd at, some fools must have their jests,
Had he been any man of blood or valour,
One that profess'd the sword, such as the Colonel,
Less provocation would have made me active

Enter Sir Ambrose and Sir Maryaduki

Lord R The eagles take no flies, is that it? how now Sir Ambrose, and my honour'd friend Sir Marmaduke? You are strangers

Mar Your lordship s pardon Mr Bustock
Box Now shall I be put to it this talking will undo me
Lord R Prythee tell me is the Colonel alive still?
Amb Whie my lord? yes yes he s abive

Bor Did your lordship think absolutely he was dead?

Lord R But he is shrewdly wounded?

Amb No my lord

He is very well but twas your kinsman a fortune

Bos Prythee ne er speak on t

Lord R What?

Mar To have ablou a box on the car

Lord R How?

Mar With his fist and an indifferent round one Bos Yes yes he did strike me I could have told you that;

But wherefore did he strike? ask them that

Mar If you would know my lord he was our orator To rail upon the lady for abusing us

Which I confess he did with lung and spirit Whea* in the conclusion the Colonel

Struck him to the ground

Bor He did so tis a truth

Lord R And did you take it?

Bos Take at he gave at me my lord; I asked not

But tis not yet reveng'd

Amb Tis truth we suffer'd

A little but the place protected him

18 At A In the quarte.

Bos It was no place, indeed

Mar Now, since you had the greatest burthen in

The affront,

Bos The blow?

Mar Right, we would know whether your resolution Be first to question him, for our cause appears Subordinate, and may take breath till you Have call'd him to account

Bos I proclaim nothing, And make no doubt the Colonel will give me Satisfaction like a gentleman

Amb We are answer'd, and take our leave, my lord Lord R We shall meet at the ball anon, gentlemen Man Your lordship's servants now to our design

[exeunt

Bos My lord, I take my leave too

Lord R Not yet, eousin, you and I have not done

Bos What you please, cousin

Lord R You have eozen'd me too much

Bos I, my good lord?

Lord R Thou most unheard of coward!

How dare you boast relation to me?

Be so impudent as to name, or think upon ine,

Thou stain to honour! Honour! thou 'rt beneath

All the degrees of baseness—quit thy father,

Thy suppos'd one, and with sufficient testimony

Some serving-man leap'd thy mother or some juggler

That conjures with old bones, some woman's tailor,

When he brought home her petticoat, and took measure

Of her loose body, or I'll cullice thee

With a bottom

Bos Good my lord!

Lord R Be so baffl d

In presence of your mistress 1 its enough To make the blood of all thou knowest suspected And III have satisfaction

Bos My ford 1

Lord R For using of my name in ordinaries
I the list of others whom you make your privilege
To domineer and win appliance comertines
With tapiters and threadbare tobiceo merchants
That worship your gold lace and ignorance
Stand bare and bend their hams when you belch out
My lord and to ther cousin in a hawdy house
Whom with a noise you curee by Jack and Tom
For failing you at Tisk-street or the Steel yard

Bos My very good ford Lord R Will you not draw?

Lord R Will you not draw?

Box Not against your homour but you shall see

Lord R And vex my eyes to look on such a land rat;
Were all these shames forgotten how shall I

Be safe in honour with that noble lady
To whom I sinfully commended thee;
Though twere not much, enough to make her think
I am as base as thou art and the Colonel

And all that have but heard thee call me cou in

Fit cultic th soith bott m that is I it pout d thee with a bottom r ball f th end. C lits resulter is a gravy made f om meat po nded i morts.

66 FIII BALL

What cure for this, you malt-worm! oh, my soul, How it does blush to know thee, bragging puppy! D've hear me thunder and lightning what Nobility my predecessors boasted, Or any man from honour's stock descended? How many marquesses and earls are number'd In their great family? what coats they quarter? How many battles our forefathers fought? 'Tis poor, and not becoming perfect gentry To build their glones at their fathers' cost, But at their own expense of blood or virtue, To raise them himg monuments, our birth Is not our own act, honour upon trust Our ill deeds forfeit, and the wealthy sums Purchas'd by others' fame or sweat, will be Our stain, for we inherit nothing truly But what our actions make us worthy of, And are you not a precious gentleman? Thou art not worth my steel redeem this love Some generous way of undertaking, or Thou shalt be given up to boys, and ballads, The seorn of footmen, a disgrace more black Than bastard, go to the Colonel Bos I will, my lord

Lord R But now, I think of't, 'twill be necessary. That first you right my honour with the lady. You shall carry a letter, you will do't?

Bos I'll carry any thing

Lord R Expect it presently

Bos Such another conjuring will make me

Feart

Beheve I am illegitimate indeed This came from keeping company with the blades From wom I learnt to roar and run away I know tis a base thing to be a coward But ce'ry man a oot born to be a Hercules Some must be beat that others may be valuant

Finter Rusanion and Honoria whisperin Sir Marmioure and Sir Nibro e followin

Ros Let it be so they will else be troublesome
Mar This caooot I hope displease you lady tis
No new affection I protest although This be the first occasion I took
To expre sit

[to Rosa

[to Rosamond

Ros You did ill in the expression
Ulthough your bashfulness would not permit you
To speak in your own cause you might have sent your meaning I can inake a shift to read
A scurry hand but I shall tell you sir
Mar Prythee do

Mar Prythee do
Hon Is t possible your heart hath been tormented
In loves flame and I the cause? [to Sir Ambrose
Amb Your beauty hath the power

To melt a Septian a so on those divine Beams would make soft the earth when rugged winter ffath seal d the crannes up with frost your eye
Will make the frigid region temperate
Should you but smile upon t account it then

No wonder if it turn my breast to ashes

Ros I see you are in love by your mention,*

And, 'cause I pity a gentleman should lose

His passion, I'll acquaint you with a secret

[she whispers to Sir Marmalal i

Mar The lady Honoria?

Roe What misfortine 'twas

You did not first apply yourself to her

That can reward your love, and both a heart

Spacious to entert un you, she does love you

Upon my knowledge, strangely, and so

Commends you in your absence

Mar Say you so, lady?
Pardon, I besceeh you, the affection
I profest to your ladyship, 'twis but
A compliment, I am sorry, I profest

Ros Oh, 'tis excus'd, sir, but I must tell you, Perhaps you will not find her not so tractable, Upon the apprehension she was slighted, But to prescribe you confidence were to Suspect your art, and hold discretion

Hon "Tis as I tell you, sir no lady in

The world can speak more praises of your body

She knows not yet your mind [to Sir Ambrose

Amb Is't possible?

Hon And yet because she saw vonr compliments Directed so unhappily to me,
I know not how you'll find her on the sudden.

^{*} A line seems to be wanting here

But its not half an hour since you possest The first place in her thoughts Amb Shall I presume

You will excuse the lore I did present Your ladyship? it was not from my heart

I hope you will conceive so

Hon 1 shight error

Amb I am usham d of t Hon 'Tis sufficient

That you recant no more neglect

[Sir Ambrose addresses Rosamond

Ros You are pleasant Amb Be you so too Ill justify thou shalt

Have cause

Ros To wonder at you what a your meaning sir? Amb Sweet lady

What thoughts make sad your brow ' I have observ d Your eyes shoot clearer light

Ros You are deceiv d

I am not melancholy

Amb Be for ever banish d

The imagination of what can happen To cloud so rare n benuty t you re in love

Ros In love ! who told you so? Amb But that s no wonder

We all may love but you have only power To conquer where you place affection

And triumph o er your wishes

Hon [To Sir Marmaduke] I love you! you re strangely sır mıstaken

Put your devices on some other lady

I've been so far from any affection to you That I have laboured, I confess, t'unsettle The opinion of my lady Rosamond, Who, I confess, loves you, and that extremely Mai How! she love me? then I have made fine work Hon What eunning she is mistress of, to hide Her strange affections, or what power she has, She does [not] fly into your arms, I know not Ros [To Sir Ambrose] Are you so dull? Why, this was but to try your constancy, I've heard her swear you are the prop'rest kuight, The very Adonis, why, she has got your pieture, And made it the only saint within liei closet I blush at your credulty Amb Is't e'en so? I have undone myself with her already, Pardon me, gentle madam, I must leave you Ros With all my heart

Enter Monsieur Le Friske

[aside to Rosamond

Monsieur Le Friske

Hon We are rehev'd,

Le Fris Tres humble serviteur, madame, me sweat with de hast to wait upon your ladyships, I pray, give me de leve dispatch presently, for I must figames to be done

Ros Gentlemen, let your passions breathe awhile, A little music may correct the error, And you may find yourselves

Le Fins Allez

Amb With all my heart, Su Marmaduke, let's help

To exercise the ladies

Mar A good motion

Le Fris And begar noting in the world mor profet your body den de motion \(\) la mode de France

Mar I am for any frisk

Le Frus Ha! de frisk you jump upon my name and begar you have my nature to de right hey and all de world is but frisk

Hon A country dance then

Le Fris Ah monsieur madame! alle. [they dance Fort bon tres excellent begar! so I crave your patience madame gentlemen you be at de ball ma fo; you see dat was never in dis world

Ros What monsieur?

Le Fris What do you think dat is? me tell you begar you see me play de part of de Cupid ou see me play de part of de Cupid

Hon A French Cupid?

Le Fris Begar French Cupid why? dere is no love like de French love dat is Cupid love is hot and de French is hot Ros How comes it to pass that you are to play Cupid monsieur?

Le Fris My lord give me cominand me have device and de masque for de ladies and me no trust little jacknape to play young Cupid but myself

Hon Cupid is a child you have a beard monsteur

Le Fris Me care not de baire for dat begar de little god may have de little heard Venus his moder have de mole and Cupid her shild may have de black mussell

Hon But monsieur we read Cupid was fair and

You are black, how will that agree?

Le Fis Cupid is fair, and monsieur is black, why, monsieur is black den, and Cupid is fair, what is dat? a fair lady love de servant of de black complexion de bon air, the colour is not de mush, Vulcau was de black-smith, and Cupid may be de black gentleman, his son legitimate

Amb 'Tis the way to make Cupid, the boy, no bastaid Le Fits But do you no publish this invention, me meet you at de ball, arm'd with quiver and de bow

Hon You will not shoot us, I hope you'll spare our hearts

Le Fris Begar, me slut you if me can, and your arts shall bleed one, two, tree gallon, adien, madame, serviteur, gentlemen, tres humble [serviteur]

Amb Adieu, monsieur! Now, inadain, with your favour, I must renew my suit

Hon You'd better buy a new one,

Nay, then we shall be troubled

[cut

Amb You'll withdraw,

I'll follow you

Feart

Mar Come, come, I know you love me

Ros You may enlarge your folly, my dear knight,

But I have pardoned you for love already

Caut

Mar This shall not serve your turn, I came lather Not to be jeer'd, and one of you shall love me feat

SCENE III

Enter Bostock, Lady Lucina, and Scutilla Luc O impudence dates he return?

٠

Scu lt scems so

Bos Most gracious madam my cousin your lord
Rainebow *
Commends himself in black and white [gives her a letter

Luc To me?

Bos D ve think tis from myself?

Scu You might have done tin black and blue

Bos Scutilla how does thy poor soul? thou

Hast no husband nor children to commend me to Sou The poor soul s well I hope your body is Recover'd does not your left cheek burn still?

We have so talk d of you

Luc reads — I am sorry any gentleman that has relation to me hould be so forgetful of your honour and his own but though he have forferted opinion let me continue innocent in your thoughts. I have sent you a small jewel to expiate my offence for commending him. I expect your ladyship at the ball where, you shall make many happy to kiss your hand and in their number the true admirer of your virtues.

RAINEDOW

My lord is honorable

Bos A slight jewel madam

[he presents a set of diamonds

Of the present of the twe full wing occase in which the arm of the document his called Lord Localle. His generally to die call set Lod bit where in the preceding one of his called Lord Dau bow. The ditty fith double-answerd lordshup us questionable. The same sort of the two most of the first see for two where Six Ambres also formed the resulted of Lord and S. Steph.

Luc I am his servant

Bos Nay, faith! my loid is right, I have not met The Colonel since you know when

Scu You have more reason to remember

Bos I would be so bold to ask you a question

Luc In the mean time give me leave, we are none But friends I know you're valiant

Bos No, no, you do not know't, but I know myself

Scu That's more

Luc But will you answer me? why did not you strike him again?

Seu That might have eaus'd blood

Bos You're 1'the right

Luc You did not fear him?

Bos But blood is not alike, terms were not even,

If I had killed him there had been an end

Luc Of him

Bos Right, madam, but, if he had wounded me, He might have kill'd, heaven knows, how many

Seu Strange 1

Bos D'ye not conceive it? so many drops of mine, So many gentlemen, nay, more, who knows Which of these might have been a knight, a lord

Luc Perhaps a prince

Bos Princes came from the blood,

And should I hazard such a severation

Against a single life? 'tis not I fear

To fight with him by these hilts, but what wise gainester Will venture a hundred pounds to a flaw'd sixpence?

Sou Madam the Colonel

THE BULL Bos An he were ten Colonels Ill not endure his com

nauv Sweet lady you and I Il retire

Scu An you were less honorable

Ros. He should not seek me then

Scu He should rather hardly find you I m your Fexeunt Scutilla and Bostocl servant

Ente COLONEL

Luc I was wishing for you sir -Your judgment of the e diamonds

Col The stones are pretty

Luc They were a lord s sent me for a token

You cannot chuse but know him the lord Ramebow

Col So so so I am like to speed Luc Is not he a pretty gentleman?

Col And are you sure he s honest?

Luc As lords go now a days that are in fashion

But cry you mercy you have put me in mind I did propound a husiness to you sir

Col And I came prepar'd to answer you

Luc Tis very well I ll call one to be a witness

Col That was not I remember in our covenant You shall not need

Luc Ill fetch you a book to swear by

Col Let at he Venus and Adones then

Or Ovid s wanton Elegics Aristotle s Problems Guy of Warwick or Sir Bevis Or if there be a play book you love better I'll take my oath upon your epilogue

Luc You're very merry, well, swear how you please Col In good time,

You do expect now I should swear I'm honest?

Luc Yes, sir, and 'tis no hard condition,

If you reflect upon my promise

Col What?

Luc To marry you, which aet must make you lord Of me and my estate, a round possession,

Some men have gape to hell for a loss matter

Some men have gone to hell for a less matter

Col But I will not be damn'd for twenty thousand Such as you are, had every one a million, And I the authority of a parliament To marry with ye all, I would not buy This flesh, now I have sworn

Luc I think so, Colonel

Bless me' twenty thousand wives ' 'twould ne'er Come to my turn, and you'd not live to give The tithe benevolence

Col They would find pages, fools, or gentlemen ushers Luc Then, upon the matter,

You being not willing, sir, to take your oath, I may be confident you are not honest

Col Why, look upon me, lady, and consider With some discretion, what part about me Does look so tame you should suspect me honest, How old d'ye think I am?

Luc I guess at thirty

Col Some in the world doubted me not so much, At thirteen I was ever plump and forward,

My dry nurse swore at seven I kiss d like one
Of five and twenty setting that aside
What s my profession?

Inc \soldier

Col bo — examine a whole army and find
One soldier that hates a handsome woman!
We cannot march without our law and linggage
And as t possible when we come where women a pride
And all temptation to wantonness aboonds
We should be our activity?

I ue You seldiers are brave fellous Col When we have our pay

We row no chastity till we marry lady. The out of fashion indeed with gentlemen. To be honest and in age to there its sufficient. We can provide to take our pleasures to. Without rofection a sound body as. A treasure I can tell you yet if that. Would satisfy you. I should make no scriple. To swear but otherwise you must pardon us. As we must pardon you.

Luc Us sir !

Col Yes you; as if you ladies had not your vagaries And martial discipline as well as we Your outworks and redoubts your court of guard Your sentries and perdues wilkes retreats

The present rra cment fith peech diff is from the q arto, in which I conceile it i incorrectly priced

Parties, and stratagems, women are all honest,
Yes, yes, exceeding honest, let me ask you
One question, I'll not put you to your oath,
I do allow you Hyde Park and Spring Garden
You have a recreation called the ball,
A device transported hither by some ladies
That affect tennis, what d'ye play a set?
There's a foul racket kept under the line,
Strange words are bandied, and strange revels, madam

Luc The world imagines so Col Nay, you're all talk'd of

Luc But if men had more wit and honesty,
They would let fall their stings on something else,
This is discours'd, but when corantos* fail,
Or news at ordinaries, when the phlegmatic Dutch
Have ta'en no fisher boats, or our coal ships land
Safe at Newcastle, you're fine gentlemen
But, to conclude of that we met for, your honesty,
Not justified by an oath, as I expected,
Is now suspended, will you swear yet?

Col Why, I thought you had been a Christian widow, Have I not told you enough, you may meet one Will forfeit his conscience, and please you better, Some silk-worm of the city, or the court, There be enough will swear away their soul For your estate, but I have no such purpose The wars will last, I hope

^{*} A coranto is a quick dance

Iuc So o Scutilla !

Enter Scurusa

You were present when I promised the Colonel
To be his wife upon condition
He could recure my opinion by his oath
That he was honest I am bound in honour
Not to go back you've done it I am yours sir
Be you a withe 3 to this olemn contract
Col Are you in carrie I had? I have not sworn

Inc. You have given better truth

He that can make this con evence of an early

Assures his honesty

Col In mind

fue What s past
I question not if for the time to come
Your love be virtuous to me

Col Most religious
Or let me live the soldiers dishonour
And die the scorn of gentlemen I have not brace enough in my heart to entertain thee pace enough in my heart to entertain the Luc. Is not this better than swearing?

Col I confess it

I ue Now I may call you husband Col No title can more honour me

Luc If't please you I II shew you then my children

Col Howl your children?

fue I have six that call me mother

Col Hast faith?

Luc The elder may want softness to acknowledge you

SO riii ii ii ii

But some are young enough, and may be counsell'd To ask your blessing, does this trouble you?

Col Trouble me? no, but it is the first news, lady, Of any children

Luc Nay, they are not like

To be a burthen to us, they must trust

To their own portions left them by their father

Col Where?

Luc But of my estate I cannot keep Any thing from them, and I know you are So honest, you'd not wish me wrong the orphans,
'Tis but six thousand pound in money, Colonel,
Among them all, beside some trifling plate
And jewels worth a thousand more

Col No more?

Luc My jointuie will be firm to us, two hundred Per annum

Col Is it so? and that will keep
A country house, some half-a-dozen cows,
We shall have cheese and butter-milk, one horse
Will serve me and your man to ride to markets

Luc Can'st be content to live i'the country, Colonel?

Col And watch the pease, look to the hay, and talk

Of oats and stubble, I have been brought up to't,

And, for a need, can thrash

Luc That will save somewhat

Col I'the year, beside my skill in farrowing pigs O'tis a wholesome thing to hold the plough, And wade up to the calf i'the dirty furious! Worse than sleeping in a trench or quagmire,

You have not heard me whistle vet

Luc No indeed

Col Why there sit she does counterfeit Well lady

Be you in jest or carnest this is my

Resolution Ill marry you on you'd forty children And not a foot of land to your jointure heaven

Will provide for us an we do our endersours

Where he the children? come how many boys?

Luc As many or you can get sir

Cal How?

Luc No more

Since you re so noble know. I tried your patience And now I am confirm d. my estate is yours Without the weight of children or of debts. Love me and I repent not.

Col bay st thou so?

I would we had a priest here fue There remains to take away one scruple

Col Another simerack?

Luc I have none the your doubt ser And ere we marry you shall be convined Some make has corrupted your opinion

Of that we call the ball

Col Your dancing business

Luc I will entreat your company to-might Where your own eyes shall leed you to accuse

Or vindicate our fames

Col With all my heart

Seu Madam Mr Bostock

Expects within

Lue You shall be reconciled to him

Col With Bostock? willingly, then to the ball,

Which, for your sake, I dare not now suspect,

Where union of hearts such empire brings,

Subjects, methinks, are crowned as well as kings [cieunt

ACT V SCENE I

Enter Li Irishr, and Sirvants with perfumes

Le Fris Bon, fort bon, here a little, dere a little more My lord hire dis house of the city merchent, begar, it smell musty, and he will have all sweet for de ladies perfume, perfume every corner presently, for dere is purpose to make all smoke anon, begar

Enter LADY ROSAMOND, HONORIA, and I RESHWATER

Tres humble serviteur, madame!

Hon Where is my lord?

Le Fris He wait on you presently, -Monsieur de Fieshwater

Fres Mousieur Le Friske, these ladies were pleas'd To command my attendance luther

Le Fris Welcome to de ball, par ma for, you pardon, monsieur, I have much trouble in my little head, I can no stay to complement, a votre service! [exit

Fies In all my travels, I have not seen a more

Convenient structure

Ros Now you talk of your travels signior till iny

Come you shall do us a special favour to Discourse what passages you have seen abroad Hon Were you ever alroad before signion? Fres I hardly ever was at home and yet all countries to the wise man are his own Did you never travel ladies?

Ros We are no ladies errant tis enough
For uch as you that look for state employment
Fres Yet there be ladies have your languages
And married to great mea prove the better statesmen

Ros We have beard talk of many countries
Fres And you may hear talk but give me the man

That has measured them talk a but talk

Hon Have you seen a fairer city than London'

Free London is nothing—

Ros How nothing?
Fres To what it will be a hundred years hence
Ros I have heard much talk of Paris
Hon You have been there I in sure

Ente LORD RAINEBOW

Fres I tell you madam I took shapping at Gravesend and had no sooner past The Cantons and Grisons making some stay In the Valteline but I came to Paris a pretty Hamlet and much in the situation like Dunstable Tis in the province of Alcontara some three leagues

Distant from Seville, from whence we have our oranges

Lord R Is the fellow mad?

Ros I have heard Seville is in Spain

Fics You may hear many things,

The people are envil that hive in Spain, or there May be one town like another, but if Seville Boundary France. I was never at Saulle in my life.

Be not in France, I was never at Seville in my life

Hon Proceed, sn

Free Do not I know Paris? it was built by the youngest

Of king Priam, and was call'd by his name, yet some Call it Litetia, because the gentlewomen there Play so well upon the lute

Lord R What a rascal is this!

Fres Here I observ'd many remarkable buildings, as the University, which some eall the Louvre, where the Students made very much of me, and carried me To the Bear-garden, where I saw a play on the Bank-side, a very pretty coinedy, eall'd Match me In London

Ros Is't possible?

Fics But there be no such comedians as we have here, Yet the women are the best actors, they play Their own parts, a thing much desir'd in England By some ladies, nins o'court gentlemen, and others, But that, by the way

Hon See, sir

Fres I had stand longer there, but I was offended with a Villamous scent of omons, which the wind brought from St. Omers

Ros Omons would make you sleep well

Free But the secot is not to be endur d I smelt

Of em when I came to Roose and hardly scap d the Inquisition for't

Hon Were you at Rome too signior?

Free 'Tis in my way to Venice I il tell you madam I was very

Loth to leave their country

Ros Which country?

Fres Where was I last?

Hon In France

Free Right for I had a very good son where mine

Was a notable good fellow and a cardinal

Ros How a cardinal? O impudence!

Free Oh the catches we sang t and his wife a pretty

And one that warms a bed one o the best in Lurope

Hon Did you ever hear the like?

Ros I did before suspect him

Free But mae host -

Hon The cardinal?

Fres Ri_bht—had a shrewd pate and his ears were omething

Of the longest for one upon the oath of a w-

Walloon that ---- from Spain to the Low Countries and the other from Lapland into Germany

Ros Say you so?

Fres A parlous head and yet loving to his guest As mine host Bankes as red in the gills and as merry 86 III HALL

A , but anger him, and he sets all Christendom Together by the cars Well, shortly after I left France, and sailing along the Alps, I came to Lombardy, where I left my cloak, for it was very Hot travelling, and went a pilgrimage to Rome, Where I saw the tombs, and a play in Poinpey's Theatre, here I was kindly entertain'd by an anchorite, In whose chamber I lay, and drank ender

Lord R Nav, now he is desperate

Hon Do not interrupt him

From hence

I went to Naples, a soft kind of people, and cloth'd In silk, from thence I went to Florence, from whence we Have the art of working custaids, which we call Florentines, Milan, a rich state of Haberdashers, Piedmont, where I had excellent veinson. And Padua, famous for the pads, or easy saddles, Which our physicians ride upon, and first brought from Thence when they commenc'd doctor

Ros Very good

Free I saw little in Mantin beside dancing upon the topes,

Only their strong beer, better than any I

Ever diank at the Trimpet, but Venice, of all

The Champaign countries, do not mistake, they are the Valiantest gentlemen under the sun

Ros Is that it?

Fies O the Catazaneis* we turn d there!

^{*} Probably a mis print for Corte_anas

Hon Who was with you?

Fres Two or three magnificos grandees of the state We tuckled them in the very R alto by the same Token two or three English spies told us they had lain Lieger three months in steal away the Pistzo and ship It for Covent Garden a pretty fabric and building Upon the —— hut I was compell d to make Short stay here by reasin of the Duke s concubine Fell in love with me gave me a ring af his out of A solid diamond which afterwards I lost washing my Hands in the salt water.

Hon You should have fish d for't and had as good luck as

She that found her wedding ring in the Haddock s belly

Free No there was no staying I took post horse presently

For Genoa and from thence to Madrid and so to The Netherlands

Ros And how sped you among the Dutch?

Free Why we were drunk every day together they get

Laving by 1t

Hon By drinking?

Free And making hargains in their tippling.
The Jews are innocent may the devil himself.
Is hut a dunce to them of whose trade they are.
Hon. What a that?

Free They fish they fish still who can help it? they Have nots enough and may catch the Province

In time, their let the kingdoms look about them, They can't be idle, and they have one advantage Of all the world, they'll have no conscience to trouble Them I heard it whisper'd they want butter, they have A design to charm the Indies, and remove their Dairy, but that, as a secret, shall go un further I caught a surfeit of boar in Holland, upon my Recovery I went to Flushing, where I met with a handsome From, with whom I went to Middleborough, by the And left her drunk at Rotterdam, there I took Shipping again for France, from thence to Dover, From Dover to Gravesend, from Gravesend to Queen-Hithe, and from thence to what I am come to Lord R And, noble signior, you are very welcome Fres I hope he did not over-hear me Lord R I am unich honour'd, ladies, in your presence Fres Absence had been a sin, my lord, where you Were pleas'd to myste

Enter Monshon Li Iriskr

Le Fris Fie, sie, my lord, give me one eare

[he whispers with Lord Ramebour

Lord R Interrupt me no more, good monsieur

Fres Monsieur Le Friske, a word, a word, I beseech you,

No excusez mor [cart Freshwater and Le Friske Lord R Have you thought, ladies, of your absent servant?

Within whose heart the civil war of love—
Ros May end in a soft peace

Lord R Excellent lady!

Hon We had armies too my lord of wounded thoughts Lord R And are you agreed to which I must devote

My loving service? and which is wisest fairest?

Is it concluded yet?

Hon You did propound

A hard province and we could not

Determine as you expected but if

Your flame he not extinct we have devis d

Another way

Lord R You make my amhition happy

And indeed I was thinking twas impo sible

That two such heauties should give place to either

And I am still that humble votary

To hoth your loves

Ros Then this we have made lots

That what we cannot fate may soon divide

And we are fix d to obey our destiny

There are but two one and your wishes guide you

Lord R And will you atisfy my chance?

Hon We should

Be else unjust

Lord R What method shall we use?

Ros Your hat my lord

If you vouchsafe the favour

Hon Dare you expose your head to the air so long?

Lord R Most willingly put in

Ros There is fortune

Hon That draw which quickly tells how much I love you

Lord R So, so, now let me see, I commend your device, Since I am incanable of both,

This is a way indeed, but your favour

Ros Let's have fair play, my lord

Lord R What fool is he,

That, having the choice of mistresses, will be Confin'd to one, and rob himself? I nin yet

The favorite of both, this is no policy,

I could make shift with both a-bed

Ros You are merry

Lord R In troth, and so I nm, and in the mind I am in, will give myself no eause to the contrary D'ye see? I'll draw you both

Hon How! both?

Lord R You cannot otherwise be reconciled, I'll be content to marry one, and do Service to the other's petticoat, I must tell you, I am not without precedent

Hon There you triumph

Lord R Within the name of Venus har a blank By this light 1 nothing, neither name nor mark

Both Ha, ha, ha!

Lord R This is a riddle yet

Ros 'Tis quickly solv'd

Your lordship was too confident,

We never were at such a loss, my lord, As, with the hazard of our wit or honour.

To court you with so desperate affection

Hon By our example know, some ladies may Commend, may, love a gentleman, and yet

Be safe in their own thoughts and ce as far A modesty and honour will allow us We are still servants to your lordship

Lord R Say so? why look you ladies that you may perceive

How I can be temperate too first I thank you Heartily and to recompense your wat Prescot another lottery you shall not Suspect I have a thought that will betray your innocence to scandal let me entreat you take your chance too this for you madain And this is left your fortune do me honour To wear these pair of jewels for my sake So with a confidence of your happy pardon To what is past hereafter I shall pay To your true virtues better service than So unnecessary trials Ros And to show

We are not coy my lord we'll wear your jewels

Lord R. And be their ornament

A nox of quarrelling l

Col I kiss your hand, sir

Bos Kiss my hand, kiss my noble ladics here

Col Why is music silent all this while?

Has it no voice to bid these ladies welcome?

[a golden ball descends

Lnter Venus, Cupid, and Diana

Ven Come, boy, now draw thy powerful bow,
Here are ladies' hearts enow
To be transfix'd, this meeting is To ruffle ladies, and to kiss
These are my orgies, from each eye
A thousand wanton glances fly,
Lords and ladies of the game,
Each breast be full of my own flame
Why shoots not Cupid? these are all
Met in honour of my ball,
Which Paris gave to Ida hill,
I'll maintain these revels still
Why stays Cupid all this while?
Dia Venus doth herself beginle
Ven Diana here? go back again

Break, or rebound in my own face, Mother, fly hence, or you will be, If you'll stay, made as chaste as she

Ven Can her magick charm them so? Then 'tis time that Venns go,
To seek her own more choice delight
Against my will, enjoy this night

Dia Capid, if you mean to stay,
Throw your licentions shufts away,
Then you are Love, then be embrac'd,
Love is welcome while he's chaste
Now some other strain, to show
What pleasures to this night we owe

TO THE READER

Ir hath been no custom in me of all other men courteous reader to commit my Plays to the press the reason though some may attribute to my own insufficiency -I had rather subscribe in that to their severe consure than by seeking to avoid the imputation of weakness to incur greater sus picion of honesty for though some have used a double sale of their lahours first to the stage and after to the press for my own part I here proclaim myself ever faith ful in the first and never guilty of the last yet since some of my Plays have unknown to me and without any of my direction accidentally come into the printer's hands and therefore so corrupt and mangled copied only by the ear that I have been as unable to know them as ashamed to challenge them this therefore I was the willinger to fur mish out in his native habit first being by consent because the rest have been so wronged in heing published in such savage and ragged ornaments. Accept it courteous gentlemen and prove as favorable readers as we have found you gracious auditors

THE RAPE OF LUCRECE

Is a sort of dramtic monster in the construction of which every rule of propriety is violated and all grace and symmetry are set at definee. The author one would suppose must have produced it when in a state of inchriety in which a man of genius may frequently amidst strange and foolish thing give birth to poetical and impassioned conceptions. The di infied characters of Roman story are in this play really infected with the modness which Brutus only assumes. But with an exuberance of buffornery and conceits are mingled a considerable portion of poetry and some powerful scenes. Upon the whole this singular composition with all its absurdaties contains so much that is really excellent that it is well worthy of forming a part of this collection.

Of The Rape of Lucreer five editions have been published viz—first edition in 1603—second in 1609—third date unknown—fourth in 1630—and fifth in 1630 Copies of the first and second editions are exceedingly scarce and no copy of the third is we believe known to exist. In the present reprint the fifth edition which contains several additional songs omitted in the others has been chiefly followed but from the first which we have had the opportunity of consulting we have be a canabled to supply two lines which are wanting in the two last editions and to make one or two other emendations. To the fourth and fifth editions are appended two songs which were 'added by the stranger that lately acted Valerius his part " but they are so utterly contemptible, that they are now omitted

The text is not so corrupt as in some of the old quartos, but there is searcely a page in which the metre did not require a re-arrangement of some of the lines

ADDI NDA

Eiler TARQUIN THE PROUB TULLEA and ATTENDANTS

Jul Withinkay we must have private conference
With our dear husband [Attendants withdraw
Tar What would st thou write?
Tul Be what I sun not make thee greater far
Than thou can st aim to be
Tar Why I am Tarquin
Tul And I Tulin what of that?
What dearges more in Tarpoin a name.

Tul And I Tullia what of that? What diapasons more in Tarquin s name. Than in a subject s? or what s Tullia. More in the sound than to become the name Of a poor maid or waiting gentlewoman? I am a princess hoth by birth and thoughts. Yet all s but Tullia there's no resonance.

In a base style my title bears no breadth, Nos hath it any state oh me, I'm siek!

Tar Sick, lady?

Tul Sick at heart

Tur Why, my sweet Tulha?

Tul To be a queen I long, long, and am sick With ardeney my hot appetite's a fire, 'Till my swoln fever be delivered Of that great title—queen, my heart's all royal, Not to be eireumserib'd in servile bounds. While there's a king that rules the peers of Rome, Tarquin makes legs, and Tullia curtsies low, Bows at each nod, and must not near the state Without obeisance, oh! I hate this awe, My proud heart eannot brook it

Tar Hear me, wife !

Tul I am no wife of Taiquin's, if not king Oh! had Jove made me man, I would have mounted Above the base tribunals of the earth, Up to the clouds, for pompous sovereignty Thou ait a man, O bear my loyal mind, Mount heaven, and see if Tullia lag behind! There is no earth in me, I am all file Were Tarquin so, then should we both aspire

Tar Oh, Tullia, though my body taste of dulness, My soul is wing'd to soai as high as thine, But note what flags our wings forty-five years The king, thy father, hath protected Rome

Tul That makes for us the people covet change, E'en the best things in time grow tedious for Twould seem unnatoral in thee my Tullia The reverend king the father to depuse Tul \ Linedom a quest makes sons and fathers foes Tar And but by Service full we cannot clim! The I alm that my tangent us is his blood Tul Let a lare our I rows then in that erims n flood; We must be foll and decadicas who aspires Mounts by the lives of fathers sons and sires 7 ir An I so must I ; since for a kin-dom s love Thou can st despise a father for a crown Tar juin shall mount Servius le turni led do vn For he usurps my state an I first depos d My father in my swathed lafance For which he shall be countant to this en! I ve sounded all the peers and senators : in! though unknown to thee my Tullia They all emi race my faction; and so they Lore change of state a new king to ober

The New is my Tarquin worthy Tullis a mace since in my arms. I thus a kine embrace for Th. kine should meet this day by which in With all the senate an Lestate of Rome;

His place will I assume and there; melalm. Mour decrees in royal Tarquin a name. [fourish.]

The king this day in the high Capitoi?
I'm! Attend?

Tar We intend this day to see the Capitol You knew our father, good Lucietius?

Luc I did, my lord

Tar Was not I his son?

The queen, my mother, was of 10yal thoughts And pure heart, as unblemish'd innocence

Luc What asks my lord?

Tar Sons should succeed their fathers, but anon You shall hear more, high time that we were gone

[flourish, exeunt all but Collatine and Valerius

Col There's moral sure in this, Valenius Here's model, yea, and matter too to breed Strange meditations in the provident brains Of our grave fathers, some strange project lives. This day in cradle that's but newly born

Val No doubt, Collatine, no doubt, here's a giddy and drunken world it reels, it hath got the staggers, the commonwealth is sick of an ague, of which nothing can cure her but some violent and sudden affrightment

Col The wife of Tarquin would be a queen, nay, of my life, she is with child till she be so

Val And longs to be brought to bed of a kingdom, I divine, we shall see some seuffling to-day in the Capitol

Col If there be any difference among the princes, and senate, whose faction will Valerius follow?

Val Oh, Collatine, I am a true citizen, and in this I will best shew myself to be one, to take part with the strongest If Servius o'ereome, I am liegeman to Servius, and if Tarquin subdue, I am for vivat Tarquinius!

Bru How powerful am I you Roman deities that am able to trouble her that troubles n whole empire? fools exempted and women admitted! laugh Democritus! but have you nothing to say to mad men? Tar Madmen have here no place

Bru Then out of doors with Tarquin' what's he that may sit in a calm valley, and will chuse to repose on a tempestuous mountain, but a madman? that may live in tranquillous pleasures, and will seek out a kingdom's cares, but a madman? who would seek innovation in a commonwealth in public, or be over-rul'd by a curs'd wife in private, but a fool of a madman? Give ine thy hand, Tarquin, shall we two be dismiss'd together from the Capitol?

Tar Restrain his folly!

Tul Drive the frantic hence!

Aru Nay, Brutus

Sex Good Brutus

Biu Nay, soft, soft, good blood of the Tarquins, let's have a few cold words first, and I am gone in an instant I claim the privilege of the nobility of Rome, and, by that privilege, my seat in the Capitol I am a Lord by birth, my place is as free in the Capitol as, Horatius, thine, or thine, Lucretius, thine Sextus, Arins thine, or any here I am a Lord, an' you banish all the Lord fools from the presence, you'll have few to wait upon the king but gentlemen [they lay hands upon him] Nay, I am easily persuaded, then, hands off' since you will not have my company, you shall have my room

[aside] My room, indeed, for what I seem to be, Biutus is not, but born great Rome to free The state is full of dropsy, and swollen big With windy vapours, which my sword must pierce, To puige th' infected blood, bred by the pride Of these infected bloods [aloud] Nay, now I go,

Behold hvanish since tis Tarquin's mind
One small fool goes but great fools leaves behind [carl

Juc 'Tis pity one so gen rously deris d Should be depris d his best enduements thus And want the true directions of the oul

Tar Now are we king indeed 1 our awe is builded Upon this royal ba.e. the slaughtered body Of a dead king we by his ruin rise To a monarchal throne

It! We have our longing

My father's death gives use a second life

Much better than the first my birth was errole

But this new lireath of reven is large and free

Welcome my second life of soverepoty.

Luc I have a daughter but I hope of metal Sulject to better temperature should my I ucreer Be of this pride the chands should sarrifee Her blood unto the gods that dwell below The abortise brat should not out live my splein But Lucrece is my daughter this my queen

Ful Tear off the crown that yet empales the temples Of our usurping father quickly lords And in the face of his yet bleeding wound Let us receive our honours.

Tar The same breath

Gives our state life that was the usurper a death Ital Here then by heaven a hand we invest ourselves Music whose loftiest tones grace princes grown d Unto our noble coronation sound

[flouris]

VALERIUS advances with Horatius and Schoola

Tar Whom doth Valerius to our state present?

Val Two valuant Romans, thus, Horatius Cocles, This gentleman call'd Mutius Scævola, Who, whilst King Servius wore the diadem, Upheld his sway and princedom by their loves But he being fall'n, since all the peers of Rome Applaud King Tarquin in his sovereignty, They with like suffrage greet your coronation

Hor This hand, allied unto the Roman crown, Whom never fear dejected, or cast low, Lays his victorious sword at Tarquin's feet, And prostrates with that sword, allegiance King Servius' life we lov'd, but, he expir'd, Great Tarquin's life is in our hearts desir'd

See Who, whilst he rules with justice and integrity, Shall with our dreadless hands our hearts command, Even with the best employments of our lives, Since fortune lifts thee, we submit to fate, Ourselves are vassals to the Roman state

Tar Your rooms were empty in our train of friends, Which we rejoice to see so well supplied Receive our grace, live in our clement favours, In whose submission our young glory grows To his ripe height—fall in our friendly train, And strengthen with your loves our infant reign

Hor We live for Tarquin

Scæ And to thee alone, whilst justice keeps thy sword and thou thy throne

Tan Then are you ours, and now conduct us straight In triumph through the populous streets of Rome, To the king's palace our imagestic seat,

Luc Tis the body

Of your decea ed father madam! queen!

Iul No matter let his mangled hody lie

And with his base confederates strew the streets

That in disgrace of his it urped pride
We over his trunk may in our chariot ride
For mounted like n queen twould do me good

To wish my coach naves in my father s blood

Luc Here s o good child
Tar Remove it we command

And beer his carcase to the funeral pile

Where ofter this dejection let it have His solemn and due obsequies Fair Tullia

Thy hate to him grows from thy love to us Thou showest thyself in this unnatural strife

An unkind daughter but a loving wife But on unto our palace this blest day A king s encrease grows by a king s decay

[exeunt all but Brutus

Bru Murder the kingl a high and capital trea on Those giants that wind war against the gads For which the oerwhelmed mountains hurld by Jove Fo seatter them and give them timeless graves Was not more cruel than this butcher;
This slaughter made by Tarquin but the queen!

A woman, fie 1 fie 1 did not this she-parrierde Add to her father's wounds? and when his body Lay all besmear'd and stain'd in the blood royal, Did not this monster, this infernal hag, Make her unwilling charioteer drive on, And with his shod wheels erush her father's hones? Break his eraz'd seull, and dash his sparkled brains Upon the pavements, whilst she held the reins? The affrighted sun at this abhoried object, Put on a mask of blood, and yet she blush'd not Jove, art thou just? hast thou reward for piety, And for offence no vengeance? or cans't punish Felons, and pardon traitors? chastise murderers, And wink at parricides? if thou be worthy, As well we know thou art, to fill the throne Of all eternity, then with that hand That flings the trifulk thunder, let the pride Of these our irreligious inonarchisers Be crown'd in blood This makes poor Brutus mad, To see sin frolic, and the virtuous sad

Enter Sextus and Aruns

Anu Soft! here's Brutus, let us acquaint him with the news

Sev Content —now, cousin Brutus

Biu Who, I, your kinsman? though I be of the blood of the Tarquins, yet no cousin, gentle prince.

Aru And why so, Brutus, scorn you our alliance?

Bru No, I was cousin to the Tarquins, when they were subjects, but dare claim no kindred as they are sovereigns

Brutus is not so mad though he be merry but he both wit

Aru Why do you lord thus lose your hours and not ther profess war nor domestic profit? The first might begit you love the other riches

Bru Because I would live have I not answered you — cause I would live fools and mad men ore no rubs in the way of usurpers; the firmament can brook but one sun and for my part I must not sline. I had rather live an obscure black than oppear n fair white to be shot of the end of all is I would live. Had Servius been a shrul the wind had not shook him or a mad man hed not perished. I covet no more wit nor employment thon os much as will keep life and soul together. I would but him.

Aru You ore saturcal cousin Brutus but to the pur pose the king dreamt a strange and ominous dream last night and to be resolved of the event my brother Sextus and I must to the Oracle

Sex And because we would be well occompanied we have got leave of the king that you Brutus shall associate us for our purpose is to make a merry journey on t

Bru So you'd carry me along with you to be your fool and make you merry

Sex Not our fool but-

Bru To make you merry I shall may I will make you merry or tickle you till you hugh I The Oracle I I II go to be resolv'd of some doubts private to myself may Princes I am so much endear'd both to your loves and companies that you shall not liate the power to be rid of me What limits have we for our journes?

Sea Five days, no more

 B_{IU} I shall fit me to your preparations but one thing more, goes Collatine along?

Sew Collatine is troubl'd with the common disease of all new married men, he's sick of the wife his excuse is, for sooth, that Luciece will not let him go, but you, having neither wife nor wit to hold you, I hope will not disappoint us

Bru Had I both, yet should you prevail with me above either

Aru We shall expect you

Bru Horatius Cocles and Mutius Scævola are not engag'd in this expedition?

Aru No, they attend the King - faiewell

Bru Lucietius stays at home too, and Valerius?

Sex The palace cannot spare them

Bru None but we three?

Sex We three

Bru We three, well, five days' hence

Sex You have the time, farewell

At that which pas sonate weeping cannot mend?

Hor Nay can his thought shape ought? ut melanchely
To see the e dang rous passages of state
How is he temper d noble Collatine?

Took is a temper a none container

Col Strangels he is all song he e ditty all;
Note that Valerius hath given up the court
And wan d himself from the king a consistory
In which his sweet harmonious tongue graw harsh;
Whether it be that he is discontent
Yet would not so appear before the king
Or whether in applause of these new edicts
Which so distrate the people or what cause
I know not but now he is all musical
Unto the council-chamber he goes singing

And whilst the king his wilful edicts makes,
In which none's tongue is powerful save the king's,
He's in a corner relishing strange airs
Conclusively, he's from a toward hopeful gentleman,
Transhap'd to a mere ballader, none knowing
Whence should proceed this transmutation

Song-VALERIUS

Let humour change and spare not,
Since Tarquin's proud, I care not,
His fair words so bewitch'd my delight,
That I doted on his sight
Now he is chang'd, cruch thoughts embracing.
And my deserts disgraeing

Hor Upon my life, he's either mad or love-siek Oh, can Valerius, but so late a statesman, Of whom the public weal deserv'd so well, Tune out his age in songs and canzonets,

Whose roice should thunder counsel in the cars
Of Tarquin and proud Tullia? Think Valerius
What that proud woman Tullia is twill put thee

Luc To hear him sing draws rivers from mine eves

See It pleaseth me, for since the court is harsh,

And looks askance on soldiers, let's be merry,

Court ladies, sing, drink, dance, and every man

Get him a mistress, coach it in the country,

And taste the sweets of it, what thinks Valerius

Of Seevola's last counsel?

Song-VALURIUS

Why since we soldiers cannot prove,
And grief it is to us therefore,
Let every man get him a love,
To trim her well, and fight no more
That we may taste of lovers' bliss,
Be merry and blithe, embrace and kiss,
That ladies may say, some more of this
That ladies may say, some more of this

Since court and city both grow proud, And safety you delight to hear, We in the country will us shroud
Wi cre lives to please both eye and ear
The nightungale mass may just jug
The little lamb leaps after 1 is dug

The freest citizens, without attaint,
Airaign, or judgment, we to exile doom
The poorei are our drudges, rich our prey,
And such as dare not strive our rule obey

Tul Kings are as gods, and divine sceptres bear, The gods command, for mortal tribute, fear, But, royal lord, we that despise their love, Must seek some means how to maintain this awe

Tan By forcign leagues, and by our strength abroad Shall we that are decreed above our people, Whom heaven hath made our vassals, reign with them?
No, kings, above the rest tribunal'd high,
Should with no meaner than with kings ally
For this, we to Mamilius Tusculan,
The Latin king, have given in mairiage
Our royal daughter now his people's ours,
The neighbour princes are subdu'd by arms
And whom we could not conquer by constraint,
Them we have sought to win by courtesy,
Kings that are proud, yet would secure their own,
By love abroad shall purchase fear at home

Tul We are secure, and yet our greatest strength Is in our children, how dare treason look Us in the face having issue? Barren princes Breed danger in their singularity, Having none to succeed, their claim dies in them

Tar Tullia's wise and apprehensive, were our princely sons,

Sextus and Aruns, back returned safe,

Tul Then to thy knee we will descend thus low

Sex Nay, now it shall not need how great's my heart!

Anu In Tarquin's crown thou now hast lost thy part

Sex No kissing now, Tarquin, great queen, adieu

Aruns, on earth we have no foe but you

Tar What means this their unnatural enmity?

Tul Hate, born from love

Tar Resolve us then, how did the gods accept Our sacrifice, how are they pleas'd with us?

How loog will they appland our sovereignty?

Bru Shall I tell the Ling?

Tar Do cousin with the process of your journey

Bru I will—We went from hither when we went from hence nrived thither when we landed there made an end of our prayers when we had done our orisons when thus quoth Phæbus— Tarquin shall be happy whilst he is blest govern while he reigns wake when he sleeps not sleep when he wakes not quaff when he drinks feed when he attempt when his mouth opens live till he die nod die when he can he no longer—So Phæbus commends him to vou

Tar Mnd Brutus still! Son Aruns what say you?
Aru That the great gods to whom the potent king
Of this large empire sacrified by us
Applied your reign commend your sovereignty

And hy n general synod grant to Thrquin Long days fair hopes majestic government

Bru Adding withal that to depose the late king which in others had been high treason in Tarquin was honour what in Brutus had been usurpation to Farquin was law ful succession and for Tulha though it be parriede for a child to kill her futher in Tulha it was charity by death to rid him of all his calamities. Phobus himself said she was a good child and shall not I say as he says to tread upon her father's skull.

Sparkle his brains upon her chariot wheel And wear the sacred uncture of his hlood Upon her servile shoe? but more than this After his death deny him the due claim Of all mortality a funeral An earthen sepulchre, this, this, quoth the oracle, Save Tullia, none would do

Tul Brutus, no more, least with the eyes of wrath and incens'd fury,

We look into thy humour—were not madness And folly to thy words a privilege, Even in thy last reproof of our proceedings Thou had'st pronounc'd thy death

Bru If Tullia will send Brutus abroad for news, and after, at his return, not endure the telling of it, let Tullia either get closer ears, or get for Brutus a stricter tongue

Tul How, sir?

Bru God be wi' ye!

Prince Sextus by the enemies of Rome

Was nobly us d and made their general Twice hath he met his father in the field And foil d him by the warlike Gainnes and But how hath he rewarded that hrave nation That in his great disgrace supported him Ill tell you Madam he since the la t battle Sent to his father n clo e messenger To be received to grace, within demanding What he should do with the a his enemies? Great Turquin from his son receives this news Being walking in his garden when the messenger Importund him for answer the proud hing Lops with his wand the heads of poppier off And says no more with this uncertain answer The me senger to Sextus back returns Who questions of his father's words looks gesture He tells him what the haughty speechless king Did to the heads of poppies which bold Sextus Straight apprehends cuts off the great men s heads And having left the Gabines without govern Flies to his father and this day is welcom d For this his truiterous service by the king

See: Courtesy strangely requited 1 this none but the son of Tarquin would have enterpris d

With all due olemn honors to the court

Val I hke it I inpliand it this will come to somewhat in the end when heaven has cast up his account some of them will be call d to a hard reckoning. For my part I dreamt last meht I went a fishing. Song -VALERIUS

Though the weather jangles
With our hooks and our angles,
Our nots be shaken and no fish taken,
Though fresh cod and whiting,
Are not this day biting,
Gurnet, nor conger, to satisfy hunger,
Yet look to our draught
Hale the main bowling,
The seas have left their rolling,
The waves their huffing, the winds their puffing,

Up to the top-mast, boy,
And bring us news of joy,
Here's no demurring, no fish is stirring,

Yet something we have caught

Col Leave all to heaven

Enter CLOWN

Clown My lords, the best plumporredge in all Roine cools for your honors, dinner is piping hot upon the table, and if you make not the more haste, you are like to have but cold cheer the cook hath done his part, and there's not a dish on the dresser but he has made it smoke for you if you have good stomachs, and come not in while the meat is hot, you'll make hunger and cold meet together

Col My man's a rhetorician I can tell you, And his conceit is fluent Enter, lords, You must be Lucrece' guests, and she is scant In nothing, for such princes must not want

Seweunt all but Valerius and Clown

Clown My Lord Valerius I have even a sunt to your honour I ha not the power to part from you without a relish a note a tone, we must set an air between us

Val Thy meaning?

Clown Nothing but this -

John for the king la been in many ballads John for the king down dino John for the king has eaten many sallads

John for the king has caten many sallad-John for the kins sines her ho

Val Thou would at have a song would at thou not?

Clown And be everlastingly bound to your honour I am now forsaking the world and the devil and somewhat leaning towards the flesh if you could but teach me how to choose a weach fit for my stature and complexion I should rest yours in all good offices

Fal I II do that for thee —what s thy name? Closen My name sir is Pompey

Val Well then attend

SOL - LALFRIUS

Pompey 1 will show thee the way to know
A danty dypper wooch
First see her all bare let her skin be rare
And be touch d with no part of the French
Let her looks be clear and her brows severe
Her eye brows thin and fine
But if she be a punk and love to be drunk
Then keep her st Il from the wine
Let her stature be mean and her body clean
Thou can st not choose but like her
But see she has good clothes with a fur Roman nose
For that a tile sign of a striker

Let her let be small, but not used to spracel,
Her tongue not too loud now cooles, *
Let her arms he strong, and her finers long,
But not used to dive in a poster
Let her body he long, and her back he strong,
With a soft hip that entire les,
With an ivers breast, and her har well drest
Without gold lace or specific Let her foot he small, the value of within,
Her apparel not too a suds
And one that hath not been in may house of sin,
Nor place that both been hands

Clown But God's me, I am trifling here with you, and dinner cools of the table, and I am eall'd to my attendance. Oh, my sweet Lord Valerius!

Later Tarquis, Porsissa, Tellia, Sextos, and Aluss

Tar Next King Porsenna, whom we tender dearly, Welcome, voning Sextus, thou hast to our voke Suppress'd the neck of a proud nation,
The warlike Gabines, enemies to Romi
Sea It was my duty, royal Emperor.

The duty of a subject and a son,
We, at our mother's intercession likewise,
Are now aton'd with Aruns,
Whom we here receive into our bosom

Tul This is done like a kind brother and a natural son

Aru We interchange a royal heart with Sextus and graft us in your love

Tor. Now hang Powenza welcome once more to Tar.

Tar Now king Porsenna welcome once more to Tar

Por We are proud of your alliance Rome is ours And we are Rome s this our religious league Shall be carv d firm in characters of brass And live for ever to succeeding times

Tar It shall Porsenna now this league s establish d
We will proceed in our determind wars
To brine the neighbour nations under us
Our purpose is to make young Sextus general
Of all out army who hath proved his fortune
And found them full of favour we'll begin
With strong Ardea have you given in charge
To as einble all our captains and take muster of our strong army?

Aru That business is di patch d

Sex We have likewise sent for all our best commanders To take charge according to their ment. Lord Valerius Lord Brutus. Cocles. Mutius Sexwola. And Collating to make due preparation for uch a gallant

Tar This day you shall set forward Sextus on And let us see your army march along Before this king and us that we may view The puissance of our host prepard already To lay high rear'd Ardea waste and low

Sex I shall my liege
Tul Aruns associate him

1erre

Aru A mal with my brother in his honors Texcunt Aruns and Sertus

Tar Poisenna shall behold the strength of Rome. And body of the camp, under the charge Of two brave princes, to lay hostile siege Against the strongest city that withstands The all-commanding Tarquin

Por 'Tis an object to please Porsenna's eye [soft march Tul The host is now upon their march You from this place may see The pride of all the Roman cluvalry

SLATUS, ARUNS, BRUTUS, COLLATINI, VALIRIUS, SCANOIA, Horatius, with Soidii Rs, drums and colours, march over the stage, and congee to the King and Quien

Por This sight's more pleasing to Porsenna's eye, Than all our ri h Attaha's pompous feasts, Or sumptuous revels we are born a soldier, And in our nonage suck'd the milk of war Should any strange fate lower upon this army, Or that the merciless gulf of confusion Should swallow them, we at our proper charge, And from our native confines you supply Of men and arms to make these numbers full

Tar You are our royal brother, and in you Tarquin is powerful and maintains his awe

Tul The like Porsenna may command of Rome

Por But we have, in your fresh varieties, Feasted too much, and kept ourself too long From our own seat, our prosperous return

^{*} Porsenna was king of Filiuria

Hath been expected by nur lurds and peers

Tar The business of nur wars thus forwarded
We have hest leisure for your entertainment
Which now shall uant in due solemnity

Por It hath been beyond both expectation And ment hut in sight of heaven I swear If ever royal Tarquin shall demand U e of our love tis ready stor'd for you Even in our kingly breast

Tar The like we vow to king Porsenna we will yet

Enlarge your royal welcome with varieties
Such as Rome yields that done before we part
Of two remote dominions make one heart
Set forward then our sons wage war ahroad
To make us peace at home we are in ourself
Without supportance we all fatedefy
Aidless and in ourself we stand thus high

Sev Grammercies ' Valerius, came this high German health as double us his double ruff. I'd pledge it

Bru Were it Lubeck, or double double beer, their own natural liquor, I'd pledge it, were it as deep as his ruff let the health go round about the board, as his band goes round about his neek. I min no more afraid of this Dutch fashion, than I should be of the heathenish invention

Col I must entreat you spare me, for my brain brooks not the fumes of wine, then vaporous strength offends me much

Hor I would have none spare me, for I'll spare none Collatine will pledge no health unless it be to his Lucrece

Sev What's Lucrece but a woman? and what are women But tortures and disturbance unto men? If they be foul they're odious, and if fair, They're like rich vessels full of poisonous drugs, Or like black serpents arm'd with golden scales

For my own part they shall not trouble me

Biu Sextus, sit fast, for I proclaim inyself a woman's champion, and shall unhorse thee else

Val For my own part I'm a married man, and I'll speak to my wife to thank thee, Brutus

Anu I have a wife too, and I think the most virtuous lady in the world

Sex I cannot say but that I have n good wrife too and I love her but if she were in heaven heshrew me if I would wish her so much burt as to desire her company upon earth again yet upon my hinour though she be not very fair she is exceeding lionest

Bru Nay the less beauty the less temptation to despoil her honesty

See I should be angry with him that should make question of her honour

Bru And I ongry with thee if thou should st not main tain her honour

Aru If you compare the virtues of your wives let me sten in for mine

Col I should wrong my Lucrece not to stand for her Sex Ha ha all captains

And stand upon the honesty of your wives
Is t possible think you that women of young spirit
And full age of fluent wit that can both sing and dance
Read write such as feed well and taste choice cates
That straight dissolve to purity in blood
That keep the veins full and inflame the appetite
Making the spirit able string and prone
Can such as these their husbands being away
Employ d in foreign sieges or elsewhere
Deny such as importune them at home?
Tell me that flax will not be touch d with fire
Nor they be won to what they most desire?

Bru Shall I end this controversy in a word?

Sex Do good Brutus

Bru I hold some haly but same apt to sin

Some tractable, but some that none can win, Such as are virtuous, gold nor wealth can move, Some vicious of themselves are prone to love Some grapes are sweet, and in the garden grow, Others, unprun'd, turn wild, neglected so The purest ore contains both gold and dross, The one all gain, the other nought but loss The one disgrace, reproach, and scandal taints, The others angels and sweet featur'd saints

Col Such is my virtuous Lucreee

Anu Yet she for virtue not comparable to the wife of Aruns?

Scæ And why may not mine be rank'd with the most

Hor I would put in for a lot, but a thousand to one I shall draw but a blank

Val I should not shew I lov'd my wife, not to take her part in her absence I hold her inferior to none

Aru Save mine

Val No, not to her

Biu Oh, this were a brave controversy for a jury of women to arbitrate !

Col I'll hazard all my fortunes on the virtues Of divine Luciece—shall we try them thus? It is now dead of night, let's mount our steeds, Within this two hours we may reach to Rome, And to our houses, all come unprepar'd, And unexpected by our high prais'd wives, She of them all that we find best employ'd, Devoted, and most housewife-exercis'd,

Let her he held most virtuous and her husband Win by the wager a rich horse and armour

Aru A hand on that

Val Here a a helping hand to that hargain

Hor But shall we to horse without circumstance?

Scæ Scævola will be mounted with the first

See Then mount cheval Brutus this night take you the charge of the army I ll see the trial of this wager twould do me good to see some of them find their waves in the arms of their lovers they are so confident in their virtues. Brutus we ll interchaoge good night! be thou but as provident over the arms as we if our horses fail not expeditious in our journey to horse to horse.

SCLNE V

Enter Lucrece and her t oo Maids

Luc But one hour more sod you shall all to rest
Now that your lord is absent from this house
And that the master's eye is from his charge
We must be careful and with providence
Guide his domestic business we have now
Given o er all feasting and left revelling
Which ill hecomes the house whose lord is absent
We banish all excess till his return
Infear of whom my soul doth daily mourn

lst Maid Madam so please you to repose yourself Within your chamber leave us to our tasks We will not loiter though you take your rest Luc Not so, you shall not overwatch yourselves Longer than I wake with you, for it fits
Good housewives, when their husbands are from home,
To eye their servants' labours, and in care
And the true manage of his household state,
Earliest to rise, and to be up most late
Since all his business he commits to me,
I'll be his faithful steward till the eamp
Dissolve, and he return—thus wives should do,
In absence of their lords be husbands too

2nd Maid Madam, the lord Turnus his man was thrice for you here, to have entreated you home to supper he says, his lord takes it unkindly he could not have your company

Luc To please a loving hisband, I'll offend
The love and patience of my dearest friend
Methinks his purpose was unreasonable,
To draw me in my hisband's absence forth
To feast and banquet 'twould have ill become me,
To have left the charge of such a spacious house
Without both lord and mistress
I am opinion'd thus wives should not stray
Out of their doors, their husbands being away
Lord Tuinus, excuse me

1st Maid Pray, madam, set me right into my work

Luc Being abroad, I may forget the charge
Impos'd me by my lord, or be compell'd

See If I make not mine learn to live by the prick of her needle for this, I'm no Roman

Col Sweet wife, salute these lords, thy continence hath won thy husband a Barbary horse and a rich coat of arms

Luc O pardon me, the joy to see my lord, Took from me all respect of their degrees. The richest entertainment lives with its, According to the hour and the provision. Of a poor wife in the absence of her husband, We prostrate to you, howsoever mean, We thus excuse't, Lord Collatine's away. We neither feast, dance, quaff, riot, nor play.

Sew If one woman, among so many bad, may be found good, if a white wench may prove a black swan, it is Lucrece, her beauty hath relation to her virtue, and her virtue correspondent to her beauty, and in both she is matchless

Col Lords, will you yield the wager?

Aru Stay, the wager was as well which of our wives was fairest too, it stretch'd as well to their beauty as to their continence, who shall judge that?

Hor That can none of us, because we are all parties, let Prince Sextus determine it who hath been with us, and been an eye witness of their beauties 1 il Agreed

Sce I am pleas d with the ceosure of Prince Sextus
Aru So are we all

Ser I wonder the prince would have none of us stay in his chamber and help him to bed

Clown What an ass art thou to wonder! there may be many causes thou know'st the prince is a soldier, and soldiers many time want shift who can say whether he have a clean shirt on or an? fir any thing that we know he hath us d staves aere or hath ta en a medicine to kill the itch what s that to us? we did nur duty to profier ourselves

Ser And what should we enter farther into his thoughts? come shall s to bed? I m as drawsy as a dormouse and my head is as heavy as though I had a night-cap of lead on

Clown And my eyes begin in glue themselves together I was till supper was done ultingether for your repast and now after supper I am nuly far your repose I think for the two virtues of eating and sleeping there's never a Roman spirit under the cope of heaven can put me down

Enter MIRABLE

Mir For shaine! what n conjuring and catter wawling keep you here that my lady cannot sleep you shall have her call by and by and send you all to bed with a witness Cloten Sweet Mistress Mirable we are going.

Mir You are too loud come every man dispose him to his rest and I II to mine

Ser Out with your torches

Clown Come then and every man sneak inth his kennel

SCENE IV

Enter Sextus with his sword drawn, and a taper lighted Sex: Night be as secret as thou art close as close As thou art black and dark! I than animous queen Of tenebrous silence make this fatal hour As true to rupe as thou hast made it kind To murder, and haish mischief! Cynthia, mask thy cheek, And all you sparkling elemental fires, Choak up your beauties in prodigious fogs, Or be extinct in some thick vaporous clouds, Lest ve behold my practice ' I am bound Upon a black adventure, on a deed That must wound virtue, and make beauty bleed Pause, Sextus, and before thou run'st thyself Into this violent danger, weigh thy sin Thou art yet free, belov'd, grae'd in the camp, Of great opinion and undoubted hope, Rome's darling in the universal grace, Both of the field, and senate, where these fortunes Do make thee great in both * back! yet thy fame Is free from hazard, and thy style from shame O fate! thou hast usurp'd such power o'er man, That where thou plead'st thy will, no mortal can On then black mischief, hurry me the way! Myself I must destroy, her life betray The hatet of king and subject, the displeasure Of prince and people, the revenge of noble, And contempt of base, the meurr'd vengeance Of my wrong'd kinsman Collatine, the treason Against divin'st Lucrece, all these total curses Foreseen, not fear'd, upon one Sextus meet, To make my days harsh, so this night be sweet

^{*} In the quartos, this and the preceding line stand thus
"Poth of the field and senate, were these fortunes
To make thee great in both," &c

^{† 1}b -State

No jar of clock no omnous hateful howl
Of any starting hound no horse-cough hreath d from the

Of any drowsy groom wakes this charm d silence And starts this general slumber forward still

Lucrece discovered in her hed

To make thy lust live all thy virtues kill

Here here hehold; hencath these curtains hes That hright enchantress that hath daz d my eyes

Oh who hut Sextus could commit such waste

On one so fair so kind so truly chaste?

Or ble a ravisher thus rudely stand

To offend this face this brow this hip this hand?

Or at such fatal hours these revels keep

With thought once to defile thy innocent sleep?

Save in this breast such thoughts could find no place Or pay with trea on her hospitable grace

But I nm lust burnt all bent on what a bad

That which should calm good thought makes Tarquin

Madam | Lucrece |

Luc Whose that? oh me 1 beshrew you

Sex Sweet tis I

Sex Make room

Luc My hushand Collatine?

Sex Thy husband s at the camp

Luc Here is no place for any man save him

Sex Crant me that grace

Luc What are you?

Sea Tarquin and thy friend, and must enjoy thee

Luc Heaven such sins defend!

Sew Why do you tremble, lady? ecase this fear, I am alone, there's no suspicious ear

That can betray this deed nay, start not, sweet

Luc Dream I, on am I full awake? oh no!

I know I dream to see Prince Sextus so

Sweet lord, awake me, rid me from this terior

I know you for a prince, a gentleman,

Royal and honest, one that loves my lord,

And would not wrack a woman's chastity

For Rome's imperial diadem oh then

Pardon this dream! for being awake, I know

Prince Sextus, Rome's great hope, would not for shame

Havock his own worth, or despoil my fame

Sew I'm bent on both, my thoughts are all on fire, Choose thee, thou must embrace death, or desire Yet do I love thee, wilt thou accept it?

Luc No

Sex If not thy love, thou must enjoy thy foe Where fair means cannot, force shall make my way, By Jove, I must enjoy thee

Luc Sweet lord, stay

Sew I'm all impatience, violence, and rage, And save thy bed, nought can this fire assuage Wilt love me?

Luc No, I cannot

Sex Tell me why?

Luc Hate me, and in that hate first let me die

Scx By Jove, I'll force thee

Luc By.a god you swear
To do a devil deed sweet lord forbear
By the same Jove I swear that made this soul
Never to yield unto an act so foul
Heln' help'

Sex These pillows first shall stop thy hreath
If thou hut shrickest hark! how I ll frame thy death

Luc For death I care not so I keep unstain d The uncraz d honour I have yet maintain d

Sex Thou canst keep neither for if thou but squeal, st Or let st the least harsh noise jar in my ear I II hroach theo on my steel that done straight murder One of thy basest grooms and lay you hoth Grasp d arm in arm on thy adulterate bed Then call in witness of that mechall* sin So shalt thou die thy death be scandalous Thy name he odious thy suspected hody Deny d all funeral rites and loving Collatine Shall hate thee even in death then save all this And to thy fortunes add another friend Give thy fears comfort and these torments end

Luc I II die first and yet hear me as you re noble
If all your goodness and best generous thoughts
Be not exil d your heart pity oh pity
The virtues of a woman! mar not that Cannot be made again this once defil d
Not all the ocean waves can purify
Or wash my stain away you seek to soil

That which the radiant splendor of the sun Cannot make bright again, behold my tears, Oh think them pearl'd drops, distilled from the heart Of soul-chaste Lucrece, think them orators, To plead the cause of absent Collatine, your friend and

Sex Tush, I am obdure

Luc Then make my name foul, keep my body pure Oh, prince of princes, do but weigh your sin Think how much I shall lose, how small you win I lose the honour of my name and blood, Loss Rome's imperial erown cannot make good You wan the world's shame and all good men's hate, Oh! would you pleasure buy at such dear rate? Nor can you term it pleasure, for what is sweet, Where force and hate, jar and contention meet? Weigh but for what 'tis that you urge me still, To gain a woman's love against her will? You'll but repent such wrong done a chaste wife, And think that labour's not worth all your strife, Curse your hot lust, and say you've wrong'd your friends, But all the world eannot make me amends I took you for a friend, wrong not my trust, But let these ehaste tears quench your fiery lust

Sex No, those moist tears contending with my fire, Quench not my heat but make it climb much higher, I'll drag thee hence

Luc Oh!

Sex If thou raise these cries, lodg'd in thy slaughter'd Aims some base groom dies

And Rome that hath admir'd thy name so long Shall blot thy death with scandal from my tongue

Luc Jove guard my innocence!

SCENE V

Pater a Serving Man

Ser What so clock trow? my lord bad me be early ready with my gelding for he would ride betimes in the morning now had I rather be up an hour before my time than a minute after for my lord will be so infinite angry if I but oversleep myself a moment that I had better be out of my life than in his displeasure but soft some of my lord Collatines men he in the next chamber I care not if I call them up for it grows towards day what! Pompey Pompey?

Clown [within] Who is that call ?

Enter CLOWN

Ser Tis I

Clown Whos that' my lord Sextus his man' wh t a pox make you up before day'

Ser I would have the key of the gate to come at my lord s horse in the stable

Closes I would my lord Sextus and you were both in the hay loft for Pompey can take none of his natural rest a mong you here's een ostler rise and give my horse mother peck of hay

Ser Nay good Pompey help me to the key of the stable

Clown Well, Pompey was born to do Rome good in being so kind to the young prince's gelding, but if for my kindness in giving him peas and oats he should kick me, I should scarce say, God a mercy horse' but come, I'll go with thee to the stable

SCENE VI

Enter Sextus and Lucrece um eady

Sew Nay, weep not, sweet, what's done is past recall Call not thy name in question—by this sorrow, Which is yet without blemish, what hath past Is hid from the world's eye, and only private 'Twint us, fair Lucreee' pull not on my head The wrath of Rome, if I have done thee wrong, Love was the cause, thy fame is without blot, And thou in Sextus hast a true friend got Nay, sweet, look up, thou only hast my heart I must be gone, Lucrece, a kiss, and part

Luc Oh! [she flings from him and exit

Sew No? peevish dame, farewell, then 'be the bruiter Of thy own shame, which Tarquin would conceal, I am arm'd 'gainst all can come, let mischief frown, With all his terror, arm'd with ominous fate, To all their spleens a welcome I'll afford, With this bold heart, strong hand, and my good sword

SCENE VII

Enter Brutus, Valerius, Horatius, Aruns, Scevola, and Collatine

Biu What, so early, Valerius, and your voice not up yet? thou wast wont to be my lark and raise me with thy early notes

Val I was never so hard set yet my lord but I had ever a fit of murth for my friend

Bru Prythee let's hear it then while we may for I divine thy music and my madness are both hort liv d we shall have somewhat else to do ere long we hope Va lerius

Hor Jove send it!

Song -- LALERIUS

Pack clouds away and welcome day
With in hi we banish sorrow
Sweet air blow soft mount lark aloft
To gue my lore good morrow
Wings from the wind to please her mind
Notes from the lark I II borrow
Bird prune thy wing nightingale sing
To gue my lore good morrow
To give my lore good morrow
Notes from them all I II borrow

Wake from thy nest robin red breast Sing birds in every furrow And from each bill let music shrill Give my fair love good morrow Blackbird and thrush in every bush Stare Innier und cock spurrow You pretty elses amonest yourselves Sing my fair love good morrow To give my love good morrow Sing birds in every furrow Bin Methinks, our wars go not well forwards, Horatius, we have greater enemies to bustle with than the Ardeans, if we durst but front them.

Hor Would it were come to fronting!

Bru Then we married men should have the advantage of the bachelors, Horatius, especially such as have reveling wives, those that can caper in the city, while their husbands are in the camp. Collatine, why are you so sad? the thought of this should not trouble you, having a Lucrece to your bedfellow.

' Col My lord, I know no cause of discontent, yet cannot I be merry

See Come, come, make him merry, let's have a song in praise of his Lucreec

Val Content

Song-VALERIUS

On two white columns arch'd she stands, Some snow would think them sure, Some chrystal, others lillies stript, But none of those so pure

This beauty when I contemplate,
What riches I behold,
'Tis 100f'd within with virtuous thoughts,
Without 'tis thatch'd with gold

Two doors there are to enter at,
The one I'll not enquire,
Because conceal'd, the other seen,
Whose sight inflames desire

Whether tle rorch be coral clear Or with uch crimson lin d Or ro e lewes lasting all the verr It is not yet divin d

Her eyes not made of purest glass Or chrystal but transpareth The life of diamonds they surpas Their very sight ensnageth

That which without we rough cast call To stand gainst wind and weather For it's rare beauty equals all

That I have nam d together

For were it not by modest art hept from the sight of skies It would strike dim the sun itself And due the gazers eyes

The case so rich how may we prai e The jewel lodg d within To draw their praise I were unwise

To wrong them, it were sin Aru I should be frolick if my brother were but return d to the camp

Hor And in good time behold prince Sextus

Enter Sexcus

All Health to our general

Sex Thank you

Bru Will you survey your forces and give order for a present assault? your soldiers long to be tugging with the Ardeans

Sex No

Col Have you seen Lucretia, my lord, how faces she?

Sear Well, I'll to my tent

Anu Why, how now, what's the matter, brother?

[event Seatus and Aruns

Bru Thank von, no Well, I'll to my tent get thee to thy tent, and coward go with thee, if thou hast no more spirit to a speedy encounter

Val Shall I go after him, and know the cause of his discontent?

Scæ Or I, my lord?

Bin Neither, to pursue a fool in his humour is the next way to make him more humorous, I'll not be guilty of his folly, thank you, no, before I wish him health again, when he is sick of the sullens, may I die, not like a Roman, but like a runagate

Scæ Perhaps he's not well

Bru Well then let him be ill

Val Nay if he be dying as I could wish he were, I'll ring out his funeral peal, and this it is

Song -VALFRIUS

Come, list and hark,

The bell doth toll

For some but new Departing coul

And was not that

Some omnions fowl,

The bat, the night
Crow or sereech-owl?

Fo these I hear
I he wild wolf how!
In this black night
That seems to scow!
All these my black
Book shall enroll
For hark shill still I'he bell doth tol!
For some but now
Denvirtue sou!

See Excellent Valerius hut is not that Collatine sman?

Enter CLOWN

Val The news with this hasty post thorn Did nobody see my lord Collatine? oh! my lady commends her to you here's a letter

Col Give it me

Closen Figure 1 think I have spurred my horse such a question that he is scarce able to wig or wag his tail for in answer but my lady had me spare for no horseflesh and I think I have made him run his race

Bru Cousin Collatine the news at Rome?

Col Nothing but what you all may well partake read here my lord

Brutus reads the letter

Dear lord if ever thou wilt see thy Lucrece Choose of the friends which thou affectest best And all important busioe a set apart Repair to Rome commend me to lord Brutus

Valerius, Mutius, and Horatius Say I entreat their presence, where my father Lucretius shall attend them, farewell, sweet, Th' affairs are great, then do not fail to meet

 $B_{I}u$ I'll thither as I hive

Col I, though I die

See To Rome with expeditions wings we'll fly

Hor The news, the news, if it have any shape Of sadness, if some producy have chanc'd, That may beget revenge, I'll cease to chafe, Vex, martyr, grieve, tortine, torment myself, And time my humour to strange strains of mirth, My soul divines some happiness, speak, speak I know thou hast some news that will create me Merry and musical, for I would laugh, Be new trans-shap'd, I pr'y thee sing, Valerius, That I may are with thee

Song-Vai Fnius

I'd think myself as proud in shackles,
As doth the ship in all her tackles.
The wise man boasts no more his brains,
Than I'd exilt in gyres and chains.
As creditors would use their debtors,
So could I toss and shake my fetters,
But not confess, my thoughts should be.
In durance fast as those kept me.
And could, when spite their hearts environs,
Then dance to th' music of my nons.

Val Now tell us what's the project of thy message?

Clown My loads, the princely Sextus has been at home, but what he hath done there I may partly mistrust but cannot alto, ether resolve you besides my lady swore me that whitsoever I suspected I should say nothing

Val If thou wilt not say thy mind I pr'ythee sing thy mind and then thou may st save thine oath

Clown Indeed I was not sworn to that I may either laugh out my news or sing em and so I may save mine outh to my lady

Hor How's all at Rome that with such sad presage Disturbed Collatine and noble Brutus

Are hurry d from the camp with Scavola?

And we with expedition monest the rest

Are charg'd to Rome's speak what did Sextus there With thy fair mistress?

d table and a class covered with black

LUCRECC and her MAID

Luc Virable

Maid Mailam

Luc Is not my father old Lucretins come yet?

Maid Not yet

Luc Nor any from the camp?

Maid Neither madam

Luc Go begone and leave me to the truest grief of heart That ever enter'd any matron's breast Oh!

Maid Why weep you lady? alas! why do you stain four modest cheeks with these offensive tears?

Luc Nothing may nothing oh you powerful gods
That should have angels guardants on your throne

To protect innocence and chastity 1 oh why

Suffer you such inhuman mas acre

Of harmless virtue? wherefore take you charge Of sinless souls to see them wounded thus

With rape and violence? or give white innocence Armour of proof gainst sin or by oppression full virtue quite and guerdon base transgression

Is it my fate above all other women?

Or is my sin more hemous than the rest. That amon st thousands millions infinites I, only I, should to this shame be boin, To be a stain to women, nature's scorn? oh!

Maid What ails you, inadain? truth, you make me weep To see you shed salt tears—what hath oppress'd you? Why is your chamber hung with mourning black? Your habit sable, and your eyes thus swoln With ominous tears, alas! what troubles you?

Luc I am not sad, thou didst deceive thyself, I did not weep, there's nothing troubles me But wherefore dost thou blush?

Maid Madam, not I

Luc Indeed thou didst,

And in that blush my guilt thou did'st betray,

How cam'st thou by the notice of my sin?

Maid What sin?

Luc My blot, my scandal, and my shame
O Tarquin! thou my honoun did'st betray,
Disgrace, no time, no age, can wipe away, oh!

Maid Sweet lady, cheer yourself, I'll fetch my viol,

And see if I can sing you fast asleep

A little rest would wear away this passion

Luc Do what thou wilt, I can command no more, Being no more a woman, I am now

Devote to death and an inhabitant

Of th' other world these eyes must ever weep Till fate hath clos'd them with eternal sleep

Enter BRUTUS, COLLATINE, HORATIUS, SCEVOLA, VALIRIUS, one way, and OLD Lucretius another way

O Luc Brutus !

Biu Lucretius !

Luc Father!

Col Lucrece!

Bru Howcheer you madam? how is t with you cousin? Why is your eye deject and drown d in sorrow? Why is this funeral black and ornaments

Of widow hood, resolve me cousin Lucrece

Hor How fare you lady?

O Luc What the matter girl?

Col Why how is t with you Lucrece? tell me sweet Why dost thou hide thy face and with thy hand Darken those eyes that were my suns of joy To make my pleasures flourish in the spring?

Luc Oh me1

I al Whence are these sighs and tears?

See How grows this passion?

Bru Speak lady you are hemm d in with your friends Girt in a pale of safety and environ d And circl d in a fortress of your kindred Let not those drops fall fruitless to the ground

Nor let your sighs add to the senseless wind

Speak! who hath wrong d you? Luc Ere I speak my woe

Swear you'll revenge poor Lucrece on her foe

Bru Be his head arch d with gold!

Hor Be his hand arm d with an imperial sceptre!

O Luc Be he great as Tarquin thron d in an imperial seat!

Bru Be he no more than mortal he shall feel The vengeful edge of this victorious steel Luc Then seat you, lords, whilst I express my wrong 'Father, dear linsband, and my kinsmen lords, Hear me, I am dislicative and disgrac'd,

My reputation mangled, my ienown
Disparag'd, but my body, oh my body '

Col What, Lucreee?

Luc Stan'd, polluted, and defil'd
Strange steps are found in my adulterate bed,
And though my thoughts be white as innocence,
Yet is my body soil'd with hist-burn'd sin,
And by a stranger I am stranpeted,
Ravish'd, enfore'd, and am no more to rank
Among the Roman matrons

Bru Yet cheer you, lady, and restrain these tears, If you were forc'd, the sin concerns not you, A woman's born but with a woman's strength Who was the raysher?

Hor Aye, name him, lady!
Our love to you shall only thus appear
In the revenge that we will take on him

Luc I hope so, lords, 'twas Sextns, the king's son All How? Sextus Tarquin'

Luc That unprincely prince,
Who, guest-wise, enter'd with my hisband's ring
This ring, O Collatine! this ring you sent,
Is cause of all my woe, your discontent
I feasted him, then lodg'd him, and bestow'd
My choicest welcome, but in the dead of night
My traitorous guest came arm'd unto my bed,
Frighted my silent sleep, threaten'd, and pray'd

For entertaiument I despised both
Which bearing his sharp pointed seimitar
Flie tyrint hent against my naked breast
Ala 1 I beggd my death but note his tyranny
He hrought with him a torment worse than death
For having murder'd me he swore to kill
One of my basest grooms and lodge him dead
In my dead arms then call in testimony
Of my adultery to make me hated
Even in my death of hushand father friends
Of Rome and all the world
This this O princes' rarish d and kill d me of once

I qut thy guilt for what could Lucreee do More than a woman? had at thou dy d polluted By this base scandal thou had at wrong d thy faine And hinder'd us of a most just revenge

All What shall we do lords?
Bru Lay your resolute hands

Col let comfort lady

Upon the sword of Brutus vow and swear
\(\) you hope meed for merit from the gods
\(\) Or fear reward for sin from devils helow
\(\) As you are Romans and esteem your fame
\(\) More than your lives all humorous tops set off
\(\) Of madding singing smibing and what else
\(\) Revive your native valours be yourselves
\(\) And join with Brutus in the just revenge
\(\) Of this chaste ravish d ludy swear \(\)

All We do

Inc Then with your humours here my grief ends too

My stain I thus wipe off, call in my sighs,
And in the hope of this revenge, forbear
Even to my death to full one passionate tear.
Yet, lords, that you may crown my innocence
With your best thoughts, that you may henceforth I now
We are the same in he irt, we seem in show
And though I quit my soul of all such sin,

The lords whisper

I'll not debat my body punishment Let all the world learn of a Roman dame, To prize her life less than her honor'd fame. [stabs herself

O Luc Increce!

Col Wife!

Bru Lady 1

See She hath slain herself!

Val Oh see yet, lords, if there be hope of life

Bru She's dead! then turn your funeral tears to bre And indignation, let us now redeem
Our mis-spent time, and overtake our sloth
With hostile expedition, this, great lords,
This bloody knife, on which her chaste blood flow'd,
Shall not from Brutus, till some strange revenge

Fall on the heads of Tarquins

Hor Now's the time to call their pride to count Brutus, lead on, we'll follow thee to their confusion

Val By Jove, we will, the sprightful vouth of Rome, Trick'd up in plumed harness, shall attend The march of Brutus, whom we here create Our general against the Tarquius

Sca Be it so

You Collatine and good Lucretius
With eyes yet drown d in tears bear that chaste hody
Into the market place — that horid object
Shall kindle them with a most just revenge
Hor. To see the father and the husbaud mourn
O er this chaste dame—that have so will deser d
Of Rome and them—then to infer the pride.
The wrongs—and the perpetual tyranny
Of all the Tarquins—Servius Tullius—death
And his unnatural usage by that monster
Tullia—the queen—all these—shall well eoneur

In a combind revenge

Bru Lucrece thy death well mourn in glittering nims

And plumed casques bear that reverend load

Unto the Forum where our force shall meet

To set upon the palace and expel

This vip rous brood from Rome I know the people Will gladly embrace our fortunes Sezevola Go you and muster powers in Brutus name

Valerius you assist him in tantly and to the mazed people freely speak

The cause of this concourse

Val We go {exeunt Valerius and Secretal
Bru And you dear lords [to Collatine and Lucretius] whose speechless grief is boundless

Turn all your tears with ours to wrath and rige The hearts of all the Tarquins shill weep blood Upon the funeral hearse with whose chaste body Honour your arms and to the assembled people Disclose her innocent wounds Grami reies, lords,

[a great shout, and a flourish with drums and trumpets
That universal shout tells me their words
Are gracious with the people, and their troops
Are ready embattl'd and expect but us
To lead them on, Jove give our fortunes speed!
We'll murder murder, and base rape shall bleed. [event

SCENL II

Alarum—Later in the night Languis and Luiin figure, jursued by Brutus, the Romans march with drum and colours. Poussena, Aruns, Sintus, Tarquin, and Tuiin, meet and joured them to them, Brutus and the Romans, with drum and soldiers they make a stand.

Bru Even thus far, tyrant, have we dogg'd the steps, Frighting the queen and thee with horrid steel

Tar Lodg'd in the safety of Porsenna's arms, Now, traitor Brutus, we dare front thy pride

Hor Porseuna, thou'rt unworthy of a sceptre, To shelter pride, lust, rape, and tyranny, In that proud prince and his confederate peers

Sew Traitors to heaven, to Tarquin, Rome, and us Treason to kings doth stretch even to the gods, And those high gods that take great Rome in charge, Shall punish your rebellion

Col O devil, Sextus! speak not thou of gods, Nor east those false and feigurd eyes to heaven, Whose rape the firms must torment in hell, Of Lucrece, Lucrece!

Sew Her chaste blood still crics

For vengeance to the ethernal destres

O Luc Oh twas a foul deed Sextus 1

I al And thy shame

Shall be eternal and outline her fame

Aru Sny Sextus lov d her was she not a woman?
Aye and perbaps was willing to he fored
Must you being private subjects dare to ring
War's loud alarum gainst your potent king?
Por Brutus therein thou dost forget thyself

And wrong'st the glory of thme ancestors

Staining thy blood with treason

Biu Tuscan know

The consul Brutus is their powerful foe

Hor Aye consul and the powerful hand of Rome Grasns his imperial sword the name of king

The tyrant Tarquins have made odious Unto this nation and the general knee

Of this our warlike people now low hends To royal Brutus where the king's name ends

Bru Now Sextus where s the oracle? when I kiss d My mother Earth it plainly did foretell

My noble virtues did thy sin exceed

Brutus should sway and lust burn d Turquin bleed Val Now shall the blood of Servius fall as heavy

As a huge mountain on your tyrant heads O erwhelming all your glory

Hor Tulia s guilt shall be by us reveng d that in her pride

In blood paternal her rough coach wheels dy d

Luc Your tyrannies,—

Sca Pride,

Col And my Luciece' fate,

Shall all be swallow'd in this hostile hate

Sew Oh! Romulus, thou, that first rear'd you walls, In sight of which we stand, in thy soft bosom Is hugg'd the nest in which the Tarquins build, Within the branches of thy lofty spires Tarquin shall perch, or where he once hath stood, His high built acry shall be drown'd in blood, Alarum then, Brutus! by heaven I vow, My sword shall prove thou ne'er wast mad till now

Bin Sextus, my madness with your lives expires, Thy sensual eyes are fix'd upon that wall Thou ne'er shalt enter, Rome confines you all

Por A charge then!

Tur Jove and Tarquin!

Hor But we cry a Brutus 1

Biu Luciece, fame, and victory!

SCENE III

Alarum, the Romans are beaten off
Enter Brutus, Horatius, Valurius, Schwola, Lucki tius, and Collatine

Biu Thou Jovial hand, hold up thy sceptre high, And let not justice be oppress'd with pride, O you, Penates, leave not Rome and us, Grasp'd in the purple hands of death and ruin, The Taiquins have the best

Hor Yet stand, my foot is fix'd upon this bridge,

Tiber thy arebed streams shall be chang d crimson With Roman blood before I budge from hence

Sea: Brutus retire for if thou enter Rome We are all lost stand not on valour now But save the people let's surine this day To try the fortunes of another field

I al Break down the bridge lest the pursuing enemy Enter with us and take the spoil of Rome

Hor Then break hehmd me for by heaven I'll grow And root my foot as deep as to the centre Before I leave this passage

Luc Come you re mad

Col The foe comes on and we in trifling here Hazard ourselves and people

Hor have them all

To make Rome stand Horatus here will fall

Bru We would not lose thee do not breast thyself Gainst thousands if thou front st them thou art ring d With inilion swords and darts and we behind Must break the bridge of Tiber to save Rome Before thee infinite gaze on thy face And menace death the raging streams of Tiber Are at thy back to swallow thee

Hor Retire!

To make Rome live tis death that I desire

Bru Then farewell dead Horatus? think in us The universal arm of potent Rome

Takes his last leave of thee in this embrace

[all embrace him

Hor Farenells

All | Farewell 1

Biu These arches all must down To interdict their passage through the town

Marum Later Tanquis, Ponsissa, and Aniss, with their piles and Tarketer.

All Enter, enter, enter !

[a noise of Inocling down the bridge within

Hor Soft, Farquin, see a bulwark to the bridge. You first must pass, the man that enters here. Must make his passage through Horatius' breast, See, with this target do I buckler Rome, And with this sword defy the puissant army. Of two great kings.

Por One man to face a host!
Charge, soldiers! Of full forty thousand Romans
There's but one daring hand against your host,
To keep you from the sack or spoil of Rome,
Charge, charge!

Aru Upon them, soldiers!

Talur um

Enter in several places, Sentus and Varianus above
Sev Oh! cowards, slaves, and vassals! what! not enter?
Was it for this you plac'd my regiment
Upon a hill, to be the sad spectator
Of such a general cowardice? Tarquin, Armis,
Porsenna, soldiers, pass Horatius quickly,
For they behind him will devolve the bridge,
And raging Tiber, that's impassable,
Your host must swim before you conquer Rome

Val Yet stand Horatius bear but one brunt more The arched bridge shall sink upon his piles And in his fall lift thy renown to heaven Sex Yet enter Val Dear Horatius yet stand And save a million by one powerful hand

[alarum and the falling of a bridge Aruns and all Charge charge charge! Sex Degenerate slaves! the bridge is fall in Rome s lost Val Horatius thou art stronger than their host

Thy strength is valour their s are idle braves Now save thiself and leap into the waves

Hor Porsenna Turquin now wade past your depths
And enter Rome 1 feel my body sink

Beneath my pondrous weight Rome is preserved And now farewell for he that follows me Must search the bottom of this raging stream Fame with thy golden wings renown my crest

And Tiber take me on thy silver breast

[he leaps into the ru er

Por He's leap doff from the bridge and drown d himself
Sex: You are deceived his spirit soars too high
To be chooked in with the base element
Of water lo' he swims arm das he is Whist all the army have discharged their arrows
Of which the shield upon his back sticks full

And hark! the shout of all the multitude Now welcomes him a land Horatius fame Hath check d our armies with a general shame But come to morrows fortune must restore This scandal, which I of the gods implore Por Then we must find another time, fair prince, To scourge these people, and revenge your wrongs For this night I'll betake me to my tent

Tay And we to ours, to morrow we'll renown On army with the spoil of this rich town

SCENE V

Linter Porsinna and Sichi fary

Por Our secretary

Sec My lord 1

Por Command lights and torches in our tents

Enter Soldiers with torches

And let a guard engirt our safety round, Whilst we debate of military business Come, sit, and let's consult

Enter Schvola, disguised

Seæ Horatius, fainous for defending Rome, But we have done nought worthy Scavola, Not of a Roman I, in this disguise, Have pass'd the army and the puissant guard Of king Porsenna this should be his tent. And in good time, now fate direct my strength Against a king, to free great Rome at length

Stabs the Secretary

Sec Oh! I am slam! ticason! ticason! Por Villain! what hast thou done?

Scæ Why, slain the king

Por What king ?

Por Porsenna hies to see thei tortur d
With plagues more dei lish than the pains of hell

Some Oh too rush Mutius hast thou miss d thy aim? And thou base hand that did st direct my pointerd

Against a peasant s breast behold thy error This I will punish. I will give thee freely Unto the fire, nor will I wear a limb

[puts I is hand into the fire

That with such rashness shall offend his lord

Por What will the madman do?

See Porsenna so Punish in hand thus for not killing thee

Three hundred noble lads besides myself
Have you d to all the gods that patron Rome

Thy ruin for supporting tyranny
And though I fail expect yet every hour

When some strange fate thy fortunes will devour

Por Stay Roman! we admire thy constancy

And scorn of fortune 1,0 return to Rome
We give thee hic 1 and 1 and 1 he hing Porsenna
Whose hic thou seek at 1 is in this honorable
Pass freely guard him to the wills of Rome
And were we not so much engag d to Tarquin
We would not lift a hand against that nation
That breeds such noble spirits

Sea Well Igo

And for revenge take life even of my foe [exit

Por Conduct him safely what three hundred gallants

Sworn to our death, and all resolv'd like him!
We must be provident, to-morrow's fortune
We'll prove for Tarquins, if they fail our hopes,
Peace shall be made with Rome, but first our secretary
Shall have his rites of funeral, then our shield
We must address next for to-morrow's field

SCENE VI

Enter Bruius, Honatius, Valirius, Collarist, and Lucritius, marching

Biu By thee we are consul, and still govern Rome, Which but for thee, had been despoil'd and ta'en, Made a confused heap of men and stones, Swimming in blood and slaughter, dear Horatius, Thy noble picture shall be carv'd in brass, And fix'd for thy perpetual memory. In our high Capitol

Hor Great consul, thanks!
But leaving this, let's march out of the city,
And once more bid them battle on the plains

Val This day my soul divines we shall hie free From all the furious Tarquins, but where's Scævola? We see not him to-day

Enter SCEVOLA

See Here, lords, behold me handless, as you see The cause,—I miss'd Porsenna in his tent,
And in his stead kill'd but his secretary
The 'mazed king, when he beheld me punish
My rash mistake, with loss of my right hand,

Unbegg d and almost scorn d he gave me life
Which I had then refus d but in desire
To venge fair Lucrece rape
Hor Dear Scævola
Thom hast exceeded us in our resolve

But will the Tarquins give us present battle?

See That may ye hear [soft alarum The skirmish is begun already twist the horse

Luc Then noble consul lead our main battle on !

Bru O Jove! this day balance our cause And let her innocent blood destroy

The heads of all the Tarquins 1 See this day

In her cause do we consecrate our lives And in defence of justice now march on

I hear their martial music be our shock

As terrible as are the meeting clouds
That break in thunder yet our hopes are fair

And this rough charge shall all our loss repair

[exeunt alarum battle within

Enter Porsenna and Anuns

Por Yet grow our lofty plumes unflagg d with blood And yet sweet pleasure wantons in the mr How goes the battle Aruns?

Aru Tis even balanc d
I interchang d with Brutus hand to hand
A dangerous encounter both are wounded
And had not the rude press divided us
One had dropp d down to earth

Por 'Twas bravely fought I saw the king, your father, free his person from a thousand Romans that begind his state, where flying arrows, thick as atoms, sung about his ears

Aru I hope a glorious day, come, Tuscan king, let's on them! [alarum

Enter Horatius and Vaitrius

Hor Aruns, stay, that sword that late did drink the consul's blood, must, with keen fang, tire upon my flesh, or this on thine

Aru It spar'd the consul's life
To end thy days in a more glorious strife
Val I stand against thee, Tuscan!

Por I for thee 1

Hor Where e'er I find a Tarquin, he's for me!

[alaium, fight, Aruns slain, Porsenna expulsed]

Alarum—Enter Tarquin with an arrow in his breast, Tullia with him, pursued by Collatine, Lucretius, and Schools

Tar Fair Tulha, leave me, save thy life by flight, Since mine is desperate, behold, I'm wounded Even to the death—there stays within my tent A winged jennet, mount his back and fly Live to revenge my death, since I must die

Tul Had I the heart to tread upon the bulk
Of my dead father, and to see him slaughter'd
Only for love of Tarquin and a crown,
And shall I fear death more than loss of both?
No, this is Tulha's fame, rather than fly
From Tarquin, 'mongst a thousand swords she'll die!

All Hew them to pieces hoth!

1ar My Luma save and o er my cartiff head those meteors wave

Col Let Tullia yield then!

Tul Yield me cuckold no
Mercy I scorn let me the danger know!

Scar Unon them then!

Val Let's hring them to their fate

And let them perish in the people s hate

Tul Fear not I'll back thee husband

Tar But for thee

Sweet were the hand that this charg'd soul could free

Lafe I despise let noble Sextus stand

Tavenge our death even till these vitals end Scorning my own the hife will I defend!

Tul And I ll sweet Tarquin to my power guard thine
Come on ye slaves and make this earth divine

Alarum Enter Brutus all bloods

Salarum Taraum and Tullia are slam

Bru Aruns this crimson favour for thy sake I II wear upon my forehead mask d with blood Till all the moisture in the Tarquins veins *Be spilt upon the earth—and leave thy body As dry as the parch d summer hurnt and scorch d With the canicular stars

Hor Aruns hes dead

By this bright sword that tower d above his head!

Col And see great consul

Where the pride of Rome lies sunk and fallen

Val Beside him lies the queen mangled and hewn Amongst the Roman soldiers

Hor Laft up their slaughter'd bodies, help to rear Them 'gainst this hill in view of all the eamp This sight will be a terror to the foe, And make them yield or fly

Bru But where's the ravisher,
Injurious Sextus, that we see not him?

[short alarum

Enter SEXTUS

Sew Through broken spears, erack'd swords, unbowel'd steeds,

Flaw'd armours, mangl'd limbs, and batter'd casques, Knee-deep in blood, I've piere'd the Roman host To be my father's reseue

Hor 'Tis too late,

His mounting pride's sunk in the people's hate

Sev My father, mother, brother ' fortune, now I do defy thee ' I expose myself

To hornd danger, safety I despise I dare the worst of penil, I am bound

On till this pile of flesh be all one wound

Val Begirt him, lords! this is the ravisher,

There's no revenge for Lucreee till he fall

Luc Cease, Sextus, then

Sew Sextus defies you all!

Yet, will you give me language ere I die?

Bru Say on

Sew 'Tis not for merey, for I seom that life That's given by any, and the more to add

To your immense unmeasurable hate I was the spur unto my father's pride
I was I that aw d the princes of the land
That made thee Brutus mad the e discontent
I ravish d the chaste Lucrece Sextus I
Thy daughter and thy wife Brutus thy cousin
Alli d indeed to all twas for my rape
Her constant hand ripp d up her innocent breast
I was Saxta did all this I

Twas Sextus did all this 1 Cal Which I'll revenue ! Hor Leave that to me. Luc Old as I am I ll dot! Sea I have one hand left vet Of strength enough to kill a rayisher Sex Come all at once ave all! Vet hear me Brutus, thou art honourable And my words tend to thee my father dy d By many hands what s he mon st you can challeage The least age smallest honour in his death? If I be kill d among this hostile throng The poorest snaky soldier well may claim As much renown in noble Sextus death As Brutus thou or thou Horstons I am to die aad more than die I cannot Rob not yourselves of honour in my death When the two mightiest spirits of Greece and Troy Tugg'd for the mast ry Hector and Achilles Had puissant Hector by Achilles hand Dy d in single monomachy Achilles Had been the worthy but being slain by odds

[Alarum -fight with single swords and being deadly wounded and panting for breath making a stroke at each other with their gaustlets they fall

Hor Both slain! Oh noble Brutus this thy fame
To after ages shall surrive thy body
Shall have a fair and gorgeous sepulchre
For whom the matrons shall in funeral black
Mourn twelve sad moons thou that first govern d Rome
And sway d the people by a consul s name
These bodies of the Torquins we il commit
Unto the funeral pile—you Collatine
Shall succeed Brutus in the consul s place
Whom with this laurel wreath we here create

[crowns hun with laurel Such is the people's voice accept it then?

Col We do and may our pow'r so just appear Rome may have peace both with our love and fear But soft! what march is this?

Flourish Enter Porsenna and Soldiers

Por The Tuscan king seeing the Tarquins slain Thus arm d and battl d offers peace to Rome To confirm which well give you present bostage If you deny well stand upon our guard And by the force of arms maintain our own

Val After so much effusion and large waste Of Roman blood the name of peace is welcome Since of the Tarquins none remain in Rome And Lucrece rape is now reveng d nt full 'Twere good to entertain Porsenna's league

Col Porsenna we embrace, whose royal presence

Shall grace the consul to the funeral pile

March on to Rome! Jove be our guard and guide!

That hath, in us, veng'd rape, and punish'd pride!
